LOCAL BRIEFS.

Items of Interest in and Around the City.

—The period of Christmas bazaars for raising church funds is approaching, and the Episcopal ladies request us to state that they are making elaborate preparations for theirs.

—Miss Mamie Best is at home again from her tour with the Catts party through Canada and back by Niagara Falls, New York and other points of pleasurable interest. Miss Best reports a most delightful time and with a most congenial party.

—The "Final Settlement" is the attraction at the Messenger Opera House on Wednesday evening of this week, and it comes highly recommended and should appeal to all theatre patrons on its plot and the merit of the company presenting.

—Readers of The Argus will peruse with unfeigned sorrow the report elsewhere in this issue, of the death of Rev. W. S. Rone, formerly presiding elder of this district and a resident of Goldsboro during that time, where he held the universal esteem and good will of the community.

—The Argus is glad to note that its popular young friend and talented townsman, Mr. Will S. Granger, has been licensed by the State board in his profession of optometry and he is now giving special attention to the eyes of school children, which is matter of importance with all parents.

—It was a real pleasure to the editor of The Argus to greet in this sanctum this morning Mr. J. E. Debnam, superintendent of public schools in Greene county and editor of the Snow Hill Standard-Leprie, one of the best edited weekly papers that comes to this office. Mr. Debnam spent the day here and returned home this afternoon.

—Mr. J. L. Barham was in Raleigh today and brings the gratifying news that he called on Col. I. F. Dortch and found him very much improved and cheerful, though very weak. He reports, also, that Mr. William Dortch, Colonel Dortch's son, who has been abroad as the representative of the American Tobacco Company, has arrived in Raleigh and is very well.

—The Argus cordially commends to the good people of Clarkton our esteemed young friend and countyman Mr. George H. Edwards, a Trinity College boy, formerly a teacher of the public schools of our county, but who has been elected principal of the Clarkton School. He is a teacher by nature and a gentleman, whose personality and association make for the uplift and refinement of all who come in contact with him. Clarkton is to be congratulated on securing his services.

—A few weeks ago the clothing store of M. N. Epstein was entered at night through a back door and robbed, exactly to what extent, however, was never found out. The city officers have been quietly working on the case, yet without chancing on a clew, but yesterday Mr. Epstein saw a negro, Major Winn, wearing a suit which he recognized as one taken from his establishment on the night of the theft. Upon being accosted, Major stated that he had bought the clothes from William Cox, who in turn claimed to have purchased them from Roscoe Smith. What tale Roscoe may tell in regard to the garments is yet to be learned, for after being followed to a house he evaded the police by escaping through a rear window. The other two negroes were held and this afternoon were put on trial to ascertain to what degree they may be implicated in the robbery.

CHAT ABOUT YOUR FRIENDS.

Miss Daisy Washington is at home again from a two-weeks trip to New York city.

Mrs. Walter Carter and little son and Mrs. Shade Wooten, of LaGrange, are in the city visiting Mrs. W. A. Wooten.

Messrs. Griff and Irvin Porter, who are located now in Norfolk, have been spending a few days here with their mother, Mrs. E. G. Porter.

Dr. and Mrs. T. Malcolm Bizzell arrived in the city this afternoon, and will be given a "wedding supper" and reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bizzell, this evening.

Mr. Kenneth Royall, a member of last year's graduating class from the Goldsboro High School, leaves today for Alexandria, Va., to enter the renowned Episcopal High School in that historic old city.

Messrs. Walter H. Barnes and son Lea are on a pleasure trip to New York and Atlantic City. Lea said, on leaving, that he would endeavor to chaperone his father and bring him back home in good shape, and we all feel sure that he will.

Mr. M. E. Robinson, Jr., left today for Orange, Va., where he goes to enter the far-famed Woodberry Academy for the current scholastic year. Emmet's army of young friends here will miss him greatly and we all wish him a prosperous, healthful and happy year in his studies.
