New York state reports an unusual number of typhoid cases this year.

The boss of forty years ago has nearly disappeared except in Pennsylvania.

J. J. Astor flew from New York headlines to encounter Jamaica's hurricane.

The country is afflicted at present with a car shortage and a shortage of turkeys.

If Mrs. Stetson had appeared in 1692 she might have been hung for practicing witchcraft.

Champ Clark thinks the psychological moment of the Democratic party is about to arrive.

In the Golden West all are in favor of equal suffrage, and no suffragettes are needed to enforce it.

Hamburg, Munich and Baden have taken steps to secure an international airship service next season.

The dukes are not alarmed. They know that no house of lords has ever been abolished in England.

J. J. Hill seems to think there is no waterpower trust, because he has never been asked to join one.

Alack and alas, all the directors in Mrs. Eddy's church are men. No woman has a voice in its control.

Eusapia Paladino is a name to conjure with. Her strong trick is levitation, and she should tackle the man in the White House.

Boss Cox of Cincinnati proposes to defeat Governor Harmon's hopes of re-election by pulling up Nick Longworth, who has never been able to stand alone.

Frederick W. Seward, son of Secretary of State Seward, who was stricken down on the night of Lincoln's assassination, still lives, hale and hearty, at the age of eighty.

CANADA GETTING ANXIOUS.

A particularly interesting phase of the Monroe Doctrine is that one raised by the New York Herald in a recent editorial treating of our present and prospective relations with Canada and the desire of some Canadians which has lately been expressed that their country should build and maintain a navy.

It appears that these, who seem to be not especially numerous, have in an effort to further their cause, conjured the spectre of a war between England and Germany and alleged that should these two peoples fight Germany might seize Canada.

The Herald appears to regard war between Germany and England as a remote contingency, but said, nevertheless, that the Jingo in both of those countries seem to be doing all they can to bring it about. The point especially interesting to the people of the United States, however, is that in the event of such war we should, in pursuance of our traditional policy, interior and aid the Canadians.

'The Herald said that the best bulwark Canada may have are the ninety millions of people on this side of their border, and that for them to build a navy would be ridiculous. There is no gatusaying that should any foreign power interfere with any people on this continent, thus violating the Monroe Doctrine, that power would find itself engaged shortly in a war with the United States.

There is one thing in which the people of this country of various political belief are agreed, and that is that the Monroe Doctrine is sound. To attempt to violate it would be regarded in this country as practically tantamount to an invasion of the United States.

The fact that several hundred thousand citizens of the United States are now living in Canada makes it certain that were the Monroe Doctrine violated and Canada be menaced by an aggressive power the people of this country would clamor for interference in her behalf.

SUICIDE STATISTICS.

This is a busy, prosperous country in which, despite its numerous trusts and monopolies there are opportunities for each individual, and yet recent figures collected in sixty-five American cities containing a population exceeding seventeen millions show that deaths by suicide are steadily increasing. That is to say, the rate is increasing. In 1908 there were 21.8 suicides per 100,000 of population, or about one more than occurred in the previous year.

The rate is increasing faster than the population, and the subject, therefore, demands special study. Statistics show that the list of suicides is by no means made up from those who are enduring physical suffering or who lack employment. The discouraged and the hopeless—the failures in life—do contribute to the aggregate, but so do persons of wealth and those who have committed no offense against the laws or society. Nor do those apparently afflicted with unbalanced minds largely swell the number of suicides. Men and women who have always acted sanely commit suicide.

The sociologists have no theory except that it is due to a diseased will, and that is just about no theory at all, for a diseased will must be a form of insanity, unless indeed it is claimed that the will is at times sound and at other times unsound.

MR. SECRETARY BALLINGER.

Mr. Glavis was dismissed from the government service—from the department over which Mr. Ballinger presides, but neither Mr. Ballinger nor even the President could separate him from his pen. In a recent issue of Collier's he thus summarizes his charges against Secretary Ballinger: "I assert that the land office ordered the Cunningham claims to patent without due investigation when Commissioner Ballinger knew they were under suspicion; that while in office Commissioner Ballinger urged Congress to pass a law which would validate fraudulent Alaska claims; that shortly after resigning from office he became attorney for the Cunningham group and other Alaska claims; that soon after he became Secretary of the Interior his office rendered a decision which would have validated all fraudulent Alaska claims. A reversal of that decision on every point was obtained from Attorney General Wickerson. Had it not been for Mr. Wickerson's decision, every fraudulent Alaska claim would have gone to patent."

These charges are really aimed at the President, for it is he who dismissed Glavis and who is engaged, to use Mr. Glavis' phrase, in the white-washing of Mr. Ballinger. The appointment of Mr. Ballinger to the cabinet was no doubt a mistake, however honest he may be. It was a mistake because he had been counsel for the Cunningham claims. The best feature about the entire affair consists in the holding up of all the Alaska claims until Congress can remake our land laws to suit the Alaska situation. It is too early to assert in accordance with a suggestion in Collier's that the Guggenheims are in charge of the Department of the Interior, but it is not early to change the laws so that the natural resources of Alaska and of the far West will be kept out of the hands of any trust.

S.S.S. THE REMEDY FOR SORES AND ULCERS

There is but one way to cure an old sore or chronic ulcer, and that is to remove the cause that produces and keeps it open. No matter where located, any sore that remains until it becomes chronic does so because of impure blood; the circulation constantly discharges its polluted matter into the place and it is impossible for nature to heal the sore. S.S.S. heals sores and ulcers by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of taint or impurity from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. No local application reaches below the infected flesh at the spot, and for this reason can have no curative effect on a sore or ulcer; while such treatment is being used alone, the germs and impurities are constantly increasing in the blood and the sore is bound to grow worse. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and enriched and purified the circulation the place begins to take on a more healthy appearance, the different symptoms show improvement, the flesh around the ulcer gets firm, new skin and tissues are formed, and aided by pure, rich blood, nature provides a perfect and lasting cure. Under the tonic and blood-purifying effects of S.S.S., the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be greatly benefited by its use. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.
