NO. 82

TEXT OF ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Jan. 13.—The text of the proposed Anglo-French pact was brought to Paris by Premier Briand from Cannes and made public here today.

It provides that Great Britain shall come immediately to aid of France in case of France being attacked by Germany.

It recites the fact that France has been twice invaded by Germany in fifty years and insists that the menace is still there.

It calls attention to the restrictions put upon Germany as to her military fortifications on the Rhine, but claims that these are not sufficient to keep Germany from developing other military prowess sufficient to attack France if the latter were without present strong outside alliance.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 13.—President Harding today approved the purchase of the Methodist Hospital at Memphis by the government for $850,000 as soon as funds shall become available for payment.

Where War Work Gives Place To Peace

(By Associated Press)
Kiel, Germany, Jan. 13.—The machine guns of peace, pneumatic riveters, are rattling day and night in the former war harbor of Kiel.

All of the great ship yards are active, but not all of them are working toward increasing the German commercial fleet. Scores of Scandinavian, Dutch and English ships are docked here, undergoing repairs or being remodelled.

The mouth of the Kaiser Wilhelm canal is congested with the traffic that is cutting through from the North to the Baltic sea. It is upon this traffic that Kiel hopes to build its commercial future; this and the shipment of cargoes to the north, when commerce with Russia flourishes again.

Laborers at Kiel are paid 400 to 500 marks per week, and skilled labor runs in some cases to 1,500 marks a week, for an eight-hour day. The unions are strong and have forced the payment of time and a half for overtime. The cost of living is low.

The Krupp works are the busiest, and Hugo Stinnes, Germany's chief industrialist, is the best patron. He built freighters and tankers out of former U-boats. Two of these recently made a round trip to Mexico in good time and without accident.

When loaded the rounded U-boat understructure is below the waterline, but the boats present an odd appearance when in ballast.

The hulks of several warships are being slowly dismantled, every piece of iron being carefully stored away for use in the building of commercial boats.

FRANCE OFFERS FORD WARSHIPS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 13.—Henry Ford, who with his engineer arrived here this morning to confer further with Secretary Weeks relative to the Muscle Shoals proposition, declined to discuss his plans or proposals until after he has conferred with Mr. Weeks; but Mr. Weeks promises to make Mr. Ford's proposition and plans public as soon as they have concluded their conference, whatever the result may be.

In the course, however, of his talks with newspaper men Mr. Ford made known two rather startling propositions—one was that there will be an immediate further reduction in the price of Ford cars, effective January 15, according to an agreement with his son reached before he left for Washington on this trip. The reduction, he said, would necessarily be small, because the price of Ford cars are already within a narrow margin of the cost of production.

The other statement by Mr. Ford was that he was in receipt of an enquiry from the French government asking if he would buy French battle ships.

Mr. Ford said he had replied to the French government's enquiry that unless France would consider the sale of her entire navy, he would not be interested in the purchase of job lots.

FITTING MEMORIAL

(Raleigh News and Observer)
This is a day of memorials to the youths who gave their lives in the World War. One of the best and most beautiful is that given by the Church of the Covenant in Greensboro. Through its able and zealous pastor, Rev. Murphy Williams, that congregation sent $400 to Davidson College to be used as a loan fund as a memorial to David Prince, a member of that church, a lieutenant, who gave his life to save a child from drowning in a stream overflow near Goldsboro nearly two years ago.

President Martin, of Davidson, in accepting the memorial said:

"Rather than memorialize this hero in a dead completed monument of stone, this church has erected a monument of constantly growing life and service."

The college proudly accepts the custodianship of such a sacred fund.

There's cholera in the Philippines. Also Measles. Take your choice.

THE WEATHER

For North Carolina: Cloudy and somewhat warmer tonight; snow in the mountains; Saturday fair.

that ancient document. But, to refer to the text, a passage of Scripture edify in need of this treatment, for, to my certain knowledge, it was not referred to in the discourse Sunday.

Following his introduction the speaker spent forty minutes in an unrelenting flow of language about submarines, aeroplanes and poison gas. As to the speaker's correctness technically, in this sphere, I have no knowledge whatever, and am equally unable to advise, invent or otherwise discover any connection between aeroplanes, aeroplanes and poison gas with the text. Mr. Paul was talking about something permanent, something that God has planned, founded, promulgated and revealed for the good of man. And he emphasizes this thing and enforces it upon our attention by the remarkable statement: "For our God is a consuming fire."

MR. FRANK E. CHESLEY PASSES

A Heroic Soul Goes Forth Clean-Lived to God Who Gave It
It is with sincere personal sorrow that we chronicle the death of this city of Mr. Frank E. Chesley, who came here some two years ago as resident engineer for the company having the contract for the city street improvements, and who shortly afterwards was stricken with an attack of the flu that culminated in permanent heart affection from which he was never able to rally.

His lovely and devoted young wife accompanied him to Goldsboro, and when illness overtook him his beloved mother, Mrs. A. E. Chesley, came from Iowa to be with him, and through all his long travail of hopeless affliction and slow decline, which he faced always with a smiling countenance in order, if possible to dispel the clouds of sorrow from their loving hearts, she ministered to him as only wife and mother can, and through it all they won the love and admiration and ready offices of all our people who came to know them, and so when at length the going away of this splendid man came, they were not as strangers in a strange land, but were surrounded with solicitous friends and the kindly ministrations of sympathy and success.

The remains, accompanied by his wife and mother, were conveyed to Spartanburg, S. C., where Mr. and Mrs. Chesley had resided before coming to Goldsboro; and the funeral was held there under Masonic auspices, and the interment made in their own family plot in the cemetery of that city.

CAMP BRAGG AGAIN IN CONTROVERSY

Washington, Jan. 13.—Opposition to any plan on the part of the government looking to the abandonment of Camp Bragg at Fayetteville, N. C., was strongly voiced here today by Maj. General Albert J. Browley, commander of that camp.

A House committee has recommended that either Camp Bragg or Camp Knox, Texas, be sold "in the interest of efficiency and sane military economy."

Camp Bragg has 120,454 acres of land while Camp Knox has only 30,264 acres, and Maj. Browley points out that the former is the only camp that will permit of modern gun practice without danger to outlying property.

The sisters are now 34 years old, and the death of one would bring about the immediate death of the other, should they remain as at present.

An X-ray will be taken to aid the surgeons in their deliberations. Rose is the mother of a son 11 years old, but Josefa has never been married.

To Publish Archaic Mortuary Documents

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Announcement is made by the Director of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, Dr. James Henry Breasted, that funds have been secured for the organization of an international group of editors for the collection, editing and publication of the archaic mortuary documents which preceded the famous Book of the Dead and out of which the Book of the Dead was later put together. These mortuary texts were written in ink on the inside of the massive cedar coffins in which the Egyptian nobles were buried four thousand years ago. The coffins containing this literature are scattered throughout the great museums of the world where they have never been completely copied and studied. These strange inscriptions will be called "The Coffin Texts" and the work of producing the great publication will be in the hands of three editors—Monsieur Pierre Lacan, the leading French Egyptologist and director of the Egyptian Government Department of Antiquities; Dr. Alan H. Gardiner, the eminent British Egyptologist, and Director James H. Breasted, of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

The Coffin Texts are not only raw material for the Book of the Dead, but as showing the earliest belief in a judgment in the hereafter.

"Let Us Have Done With Pessimism"

Some brave, self-reliant man said that.

Let us all adopt it as a slogan for 1922.

Let us create the spirit of optimism; let us work enthusiastically, spend wisely and save systematically. We can MAKE 1922 a good year. Let's do it.
