PIUS CROWNED AS POPE OF CHURCH

(By Associated Press)
Rome, Feb. 12.—Pius XI was crowned Pope in the basilica of St. Peter's today amid scenes of pomp and enthusiasm and in the presence of Princes and dignitaries of the church, the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, members of the Roman aristocracy and a vast assemblage filling the great structure to the very doors. The ancient custom was carried out with impressive ceremonies and the newly elected Pontiff now occupies the throne of the first Pope reported crowned, Leo III, who reigned from 795 to 816.

With the exception of Leo XIII and Benedict XV who owing to the strained relations existing between the Quirinal and the Vatican in 1878 and the World War in 1914, preferred to be crowned in the Sixtine chapel, the coronation of all the Popes elected since the erection of the basilica has been celebrated there.

Sixty thousand people gathered within the edifice rose spontaneously and cheered the holy father as Cardinal Lega placed upon the Pope's head the tiara, emblem of supreme sovereignty. The cheers continued for so long a time that Pius was compelled to make signs with his hands as if seeking silence in order that the ceremony might continue. Old Romans who had witnessed the coronation of several Popes say that the enthusiastic reception accorded the present Pope has never been equalled in their memory.

Good will, sincerity and hope were the dominant emotions prevailing in Rome as the new spiritual leader was receiving the triple crown with the magnificent ceremony of the Roman Catholic church. The master of the matter in fact and business-like manner obtaining in the world today. Silver bugles of the sixteenth century announced the coronation and the red robes of the aged Cardinals mingling with the uniforms of the Swiss guards recalled the Middle Ages, but the crush of spectators at the heavy bronze gates of a formerly forbidding Vatican, revealed that something was changed in Rome.

Sixty thousand persons were packed in the noble and impressive basilica of St. Peter's, silent and reverential, with one thought pervading all, that the saintly old man within the Vatican walls may yet enjoy that which was the recreation of young Ratti of Desio, climbing the Alpine mountains of his native land. Today he is a prisoner within the Vatican walls but tomorrow the hope is freely expressed, he may be free to mingle among the crowds of the common people he loves so well.

The first message sent out broadcast over the world by Pope Pius expressed the wish for universal pacification and declared that while the Holy See should not abandon any of the church's temporal prerogatives, a satisfactory arrangement whereby the Vatican could rule spiritually only would be welcomed.

Standing upon the throne directly under the epupa of St. Peter's, Michael Angelo's masterpiece Pius XI with lead adorned with the tiara bestowed the blessing upon those below, in which many races and many creeds mingled. The Gregorian psalms and hymns of joy rendered by the choir were taken up by the assemblage in which various accents, Anglo-Saxon, German, French and Scandinavian were noticeable.

Seated on the papal chair wearing a great white cape embroidered with gold and the precious mitre the newly elected Pope blessed the worshippers who lined the corridors of the Vatican and the entrances of St. Peter's.

Pius XI again blessed the crowds from the outer balcony of St. Peter's, this time nearly 200,000 people cheering "Long Live the

BOLD ROBBERY LAST NIGHT

(By Associated Press)
St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 13.—Jewelry estimated by the hotel proprietor to be worth $100,000 was obtained by burglars last night when at the point of a pistol they held up and forced the night clerk of the Washington Hotel here to unlock the office safe.

The jewelry was the property of guests stopping at the hotel, and the proprietor cannot tell the exact value until he checks up with the guests holding tickets for valuables deposited in the office safe.

College Glee Clubs Contest in New York

New York, Feb. 13.—Ten college glee clubs are going to compete at Carnegie Hall March 4. The warblers are coming from Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Amherst, Columbia, Dartmouth, New York University, Penn State, University of Pennsylvania and Wesleyan.

The club judged the best of all is to receive a cup from the University Glee Club of New York. The judges are Dr. Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, Henry Hadley, composer and director, and George Chadwick, director of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Persons who have no liking for Bantocks "Give a Rouse," will steer clear of Carnegie Hall on March 4 for that air is to be sung by each of the 10 clubs and they will be judged thereby. As a relief, the singers can contribute any other number they wish to the gaiety of the occasion.

The competitions, which are for the purpose of encouraging choral singing, began in 1914, and the number of participating clubs has steadily increased. Harvard has won the prize the last three years successively.

A Word of Appreciation

All over North Carolina, the response to the Appeal for aid for the Jews in war-ravaged Europe has been whole-hearted and generous to a degree, and once again our state has rivalled its own high record for ministering to the needy and oppressed. Yet nowhere more than here at home, in Goldshoro, has the spirit been finer or more spontaneous. Without any solicitation by the state organization, the good people of Goldshoro organized and secured a most substantial sum for the Jewish Relief Fund. A gracious noble spirit, a fine sense of communal good feeling and brotherly responsibility; this gift is doubly prized and brings a two-fold blessing.

As State Chairman of the Jewish Relief Appeal for North Carolina, I take this means of expressing my deep appreciation of this generous donation, and equally of the fine spirit which animated those who have so liberally aided us.

Gratefully yours,
Lionel Well,
State Chairman Jewish Relief Appeal.

CHICKEN SALAD SUPPER

Pope," and waving handkerchiefs and admission tickets to the Vatican which had failed to find them room inside the great church.

It had been officially announced that "owing to the cold weather" the Pope would not bless the crowds from the outer balcony, but such was the insistence and warmth of the cheers, lasting three-quarters of an hour that the Pontiff finally decided he must answer the call of his children.

Thus it was long after 1 o'clock in the afternoon when the holy father appeared on the balcony, surrounded by Cardinals Vanutelli, Gasparri, Mercier and Bourne and bestowed the apostolic benediction, again waving the familiar little shake of the hand as he disappeared into the interior of the basilica.

ARE REDUCING THE NAVAL PERSONNEL

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 13.—Secretary Denby recommended to the House naval committee today that the naval complement of men be reduced to 90,000 and apprentices to 6,000.

He also recommended that the allotment of students at Annapolis be reduced from 5 to 2 to each congressman and that 100 destroyers be placed out of commission.

He said this ratio would reduce naval expenses $70,000,000 for the next year.

Further reductions to follow later.

MICHAEL COLLINS ISSUES WARNING

(By Associated Press)
London, Feb. 13.—Michael Collins, head of the New Irish Republic, today cabled a warning to American sympathizers to be on their guard—that a complot was being planned against the Irish provisional government.

BIG EAGLE KILLS SOLDIER

(By Associated Press)
San Diego, Calif., Feb. 13.—A soldier of the garrison shot a large eagle in the mountains of Los Angeles last Saturday, and thinking he had killed the bird he ran forward to where it had fallen.

The eagle had fallen with a broken wing from the shot, and when the soldier rushed up the bird attacked him viciously, and in the struggle the eagle's claws gripped the trigger of the gun, causing it to explode, and send a fatal shot into the breast of the soldier.

Comrades rushed up only to find the man dead.

A Life Prisoner Retires From Office

Frankford, Ky., Feb. 13.—Sol Fleming, who is serving his second life sentence for murder, has retired from the presidency of the Mutual Welfare League, an organization of prisoners in the State Reformatory here.

The league, while conceived by the superintendent, largely is the creature of Fleming's constructive efforts. The league is charged with providing recreation for the inmates of the prison, looks after the amusements and establishes a standard of conduct for its members, demanding that they maintain the standard if they enjoy its benefits.

Fleming, the former president, and who still devotes much time and study to the league, has the unusual record of now serving his second life sentence for murder. He was pardoned while serving his first sentence. In 1915 he again killed a man and again received a life sentence.

The welfare feature of the league has Fleming's chief interest. It looks after the dependents of its members, cares for its members when they are sick, by providing delicacies and pays funeral expenses if they or any of their dependents die.

"It helps the men to know that their families are being cared for," Fleming says, "and will keep many a wife faithful until her husband gets out, in my opinion. A woman with dependent children and her husband in here has a hard outlook."

Tangible achievements in the year of the league's existence are considered remarkable by the superintendent. Notwithstanding the fact that a large majority of the prisoners practically are destitute, their league has spent in cash $2,300 improving the baseball diamond, $8,500 for band uniforms and instruments, $4,500 on its commissary and office fixtures, and has accumulated about $500 worth of stage properties. These purchases were made possible by the operation of a store by the prisoners.

OFFICERS BAFLED IN TAYLOR CASE

(By Associated Press)
Los Angeles, Feb. 13.—Although it is a holiday the officers of the district attorney's office, the police and the detectives are still holding up in their efforts to apprehend the murderer of Wm. D. Taylor, the moving picture director, but they freely admit that the case is the most baffling one they have ever had to contend with.

Eleven days have elapsed since the murder and with all their industry they say they are yet without a single tangible clue out.

The Near East Relief Campaign

Wayne County, Ours to This Call of Starving Humanity Will be Solicited during Two Weeks

The North Carolina Division, Near East Relief, launched its campaign for $200,000 in North Carolina this fiscal year yesterday in about 75 counties, as announced by Col. George H. Bellamy, state chairman. An organization has not been completed in the other 27 counties, the campaign will be on for a week in each of those subdivisions as soon as the county chairmen complete their organization. The state wide campaign will continue for two weeks.

North Carolina is asked to raise $200,000 this year to feed, clothe, and educate the 2,000,000 orphans entrusted to the care of the Old North State in 1914. Separate orphanages at Greensboro, a part on the Black Sea, and various counties are being organized.

Over 100,000 Armenian children were killed in the war of the vast Balkan fields. Armenia agrees the failure of Germany to get these vast oil supplies shortened the war by many months.

"Had the war been prolonged thusly, there is many a North Carolina boy back home today who would now be sleeping under a wooden cross in France. North Carolina cannot see the children of these heroes starve or freeze to death."

"Other children in these orphanages were made helpless when their parents were killed during the Turkish depredations into Armenia because they would not renounce Christ, and become Mohammedans."

The campaign in Wayne County is under the supervision of our young townsman Mr. Paul B. Edmundson, of the Goldshoro bar, who has generously taken this responsible work in hand, is giving himself to it with great personal interest, and it is hoped that he will meet on every hand throughout the county with generous response, during these two weeks.

Mr. Robt. H. Edwards, president of the Farmers Bank and Trust Company, with his characteristic philanthropy, has consented to act as treasurer for the county fund, and all checks and cash contributions will be daily acknowledged by him—and all checks should be made payable to him as treasurer.

Now let Wayne County again go "over the top"—as usual—in response to this call of starving humanity.

Of Interest To All Ex-Service Men

Mr. Ben McMillan of the veterans paper, The Stars and Stripes, is in Goldshoro in the interest of the Soldiers Home. He wishes to interview every ex-service man, while in the city to this matter, and the kind of compensation they desire.

Mr. McMillan has interviewed approximately 5,000 ex-service men in the eastern part of this State and all with the exception of one ex-soldier were in favor of the bonds. He is taking a vote on this matter and wishes all of the ex-service men to express themselves.

In case he does not see you during the day he will be glad for you to call on him at the Kennon Hotel between 6.30 and 9 p. m. each afternoon, including Wednesday of this week.

"Island of Ignorance" Off The Welch Coast

London, Feb. 13.—Barbery, a little island off the Welch coast, near Pwllheli, has been described as the "island of ignorance" for it is only just recently that men of the age of 34 have begun to go to school. Up to three years ago the inhabitants believed in ghosts and fairies.

Now they are to have the services of a minister of religion and a school-teacher.

Spirit Of Outdoors In Don't Tell Everything

Combining three of the most popular figures of the screen—Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson and Elliott Dexter—the two former stars and the latter a featured player for Paramount pictures—comes "Don't Tell Everything" which will be seen at the Acme Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The most interesting feature aside from the exceptional cast is that it is typically an out of door story, breathing the fragrance of the pine woods, the life and action of the polo field, the charm of a California golf course.

Sam Wood, the director, is a keen sport lover himself. So is Wallace Reid and so, indeed, are all concerned. Dorothy Cumming, who plays a girl of the modern athletic type is an accomplished sportswoman. A real polo game was staged for the picture; and indeed nothing has been left undone to make this one of the season's most notable productions. Lorna Moon wrote and A. S. LeVine adapted the story to the screen.

Husbands should have "good characters" from their former wives when they try to marry again.

MISS MINTER ISSUES STATEMENT

(By Associated Press)
Los Angeles, Feb. 13.—In a signed statement issued today by Mary Miles Minter, through her attorney, the noted film actress who received her first training under the late Wm. Desmond Taylor, murdered in his studio last week, says:

"There is no personal nor financial sacrifice that I would not make to bring to justice the slayer of Wm. Desmond Taylor.

"Mr. Taylor was one of my best friends. He directed my studies with the greatest care and I owe him a debt I can never pay. "I met Mr. Taylor first in 1919, when he became my director. I was then 17 years of age, and his inspirator, his friendly counsel, and considerate attention to my training meant—not only to me but to all other young women with whom he came in contact—a realization that he was a worthy man worthy to be trusted and worthy of their highest admiration.

"From then until he met his death he was the symbol of honor and refined conduct—the symbol of all a clean-minded girl admires in a man.

"His friendship was uplifting and his aid and counsel were always ennobling.

"It would be nothing short of the direst ingratitude if I did not raise my voice to proclaim now what he was and repudiate those who would besmirch his character.

"I have told the district attorney investigating the murder all I know of Mr. Taylor's life both here and in the east.

"I cannot conceive the nature of any one who knew Mr. Taylor in life that would now attempt to renege upon his character."

Don't Kill The Birds

For a long time the schools of the city have taught their pupils the value of our native birds, and have done all in their power to secure the interest of the children in studying and protecting the birds and their nests. The Public Library and the Woman's Club have fostered this interest by the display of pictures and the holding of meetings for the young people, at which stereopticon lectures on North Carolina birds have been given. There has also been established a Bird Club, which seeks to continue this work of teaching young people to know and love our feathered friends.

The various states of the Union have enacted laws to protect the breeding places and haunts of migratory birds, and have provided heavy penalties for those persons who kill the songsters and other useful species.

There are, however, boys whose parents provide them with shot-guns and rifles, and allow them to pop away at any bright colored birds that may appear to perch on the trees in the neighborhood of their homes, while occasionally the boy's father will himself take a shot at the friendly robin or cardinal that comes to peck at the seeds and berries.

There are regions in Goldshoro where song birds are never seen or heard, and it is easy to know the cause of this strange condition—strange, because North Carolina is a state well stocked both with the birds and the wild fruit and seed bearing plants and trees on which they love to feed. It is also, unfortunately, overrun with insect pests, from the boll weevil to the tussock moth, and the whole range of familiar birds, wren, cat-bird, flicker, blue bird and meadow lark, spend at least twelve hours per day hunting and eating these insects which without them would overrun and devastate the fields and gardens of our State.

It is therefore important that the entire population should be enlisted for the preservation of these faithful friends of man. And those who persist in wantonly killing the birds, just for the childish pleasure of hearing a cartridge explode, or of satisfying the more savage instinct of taking life without reason, should be made to feel the indignation of their neighbors and also to suffer the penalties which the law provides for such unlawful conduct.

ITALIANS GET RICH IN ARGENTINA

(By Associated Press)
Buenos Aires, Feb. 13.—The United States may be the "land of promise" for European immigrants but it is not the only land in the Western Hemisphere where promises of riches for the humble laborer have been fulfilled. A local newspaper has just published a list of immigrants or descendants of immigrants from Italy numbering 111 whose combined fortunes gained in Argentina are estimated to exceed 1,000,000,000 pesos or $424,500,000 in American money. The list was published in connection with the forthcoming inauguration of a 5,000,000 peso clubhouse which the Italian colony of Buenos Aires has erected.

FOUND IN MY GARDEN IN THE DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

An hour when the bright hues of draperies of the dawn are in charity across the bier of darkness drawn.

When dewdrops welcoming each ray of light,
Twinkle, sparkle, dance and laughing die with night.

When silence lies along with ring-
jove's mournful knell
That hallooings of the cardinal and mocking bird dispel.

When ten thousand tiny oropetis with notes exceeding those of Begin a wondrous melody also.
By Heart Divine.

And quivering herons and whistlings all with one accord

the presence of the Lord.

A BEAUTIFUL PARTY AT THE WOMAN'S CLUB

One hundred and twenty-five club women attended the Valentine Party given at the Woman's Club Thursday afternoon. The building fund committee, Miss Mary DeVane, Mrs. B. G. Thompson and Miss Gertrude Well were hostesses.

Decorations of hearts and soft, red lights made the club room very attractive. The entertainment of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. A. V. Bobbitt, chairman of the social committee, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Borden, chairman of the program committee and Mrs. W. H. Smith, chairman of decorations and Mrs. M. E. Bizzell, chairman of refreshments.

The program was unique and most enjoyable. Madam Zee-Zee, a pupil of Madam Evangeline Adams, held the audience spell-bound by her wonderful mind-reading and slight-of-hand performance. The pictures from the family album were vitalized to speaking likeness by her magic wand.

After the entertainment Miss DeVane spoke of the splendid work done by the circles for the year just ending and asked the treasurer of the club to announce the amounts raised by the circles for the building fund. The two largest amounts had been raised by the circles of Mrs. Wms. Spicer and Mrs. Sol Isaacs, to whom beautiful corsages were presented in appreciation of their work. A hearty vote of thanks was given to the building committee and its chairman, Miss DeVane, who have been unceasing in their efforts and who have been inspired by the whole-hearted cooperation of the entire club membership.

A delicious ice course was served and a social hour enjoyed.

WORK AND WIN.

A country editor, says the Hibernia Rabbit, published by the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company, of New Orleans, who started life poor twenty years ago, has retired with a very comfortable fortune of $50,000. This money was acquired through industry, economy, conscientious efforts to give full value, indomitable perseverance, and the death of an uncle who left the editor $45,000.00.
