THOUSANDS MADE HOMELESS BY FLOOD FIND DEAD BODY OF MISSING PREACHER

(By Associated Press.)
Natchez, Miss., April 29.—It is conservatively estimated today that fifty thousand persons will be rendered homeless by the floods in the Mississippi, while the property loss will mount up into many millions of dollars.

It is said that there are now 17,500 flood refugees being cared for here by the Red Cross society, exclusive of those in Louisiana.

REHEARSALS ARE NOW PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY

Rehearsals for "Springtime," the musical play to be offered at the Meigs Opera House on May 12th, by the Business and Professional Women's Club, are well under way. Most of the rehearsals is going on at the Community building. Miss Mary Schreger, the agreeable young lady who is training the participants, says that Goldsboro shows a greater wealth of amateur theatrical talent than she has discovered in any other city.

The play is a balanced blending of songs and dances, repartee, comedy and romance. There will be about 75 members of the cast. The scenery and stage settings are furnished by the producing bureau which Miss Schreger represents.

One of the prettiest dances in "Springtime" is the "Mardi-Gras" dances. The young ladies who will be included in this group are: Misses Virginia Johnson, Hilda Butler, Lillian D. Wooten, Evelyn Wilkins, Elizabeth Johnson, Virginia Lutes, Mary Alice Gray and Mary Lou Waters.

This half of a three-story house was photographed while being moved along Greenwood avenue, Newton, Mass. The section, weighing approximately 30 tons, was being moved from the residential section of Newton to a site one-quarter of a mile from its original spot.

Faith and Endurance

Beloved: As always, what we write in these Saturday Sermons is written direct from the heart and what we write is written for the spiritual awakening and uplift and comfort of all who read. Whatever your experience, whatever your condition, whatever your caste in life may be, we hope that you can and do find something always in these sermons of comfort and uplift and strength for every individual reader.

In St. James (V-II) we read these words: "Behold we account them blessed who have endured. You have heard of the patience of Job, and you have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is merciful and compassionate." "The church was handsomely decorated."

Whatever be your avocation in life, therefore, whatever be your experiences, your trials or your duties, you can best meet them through prayer.

And while it is meet for you to go to church on Sunday, and mingle your prayers with the brethren in worship, it is equally wholesome and requisite for spiritual growth that you pray daily—"pray without ceasing."

And, too, pray that the Spirit guide you how to pray, for some of us pray for things that we should not. There are things that we ask—things that we beg for with tears of blood. Every right prayer, however, is in Jesus' name—that is the spirit of Jesus.

And what was the spirit of Jesus, but to do God's will? "Behold, I come to do Thy will, O, God!" And unless we become followers of Him we shall never "see His face," which is "the joy of the elect."

Back behind every prayer we make, then, is that deeper and higher prayer that we may be enabled to do His will and thus be permitted to share His nature.

We pray for sympathy, for strength. God hears our prayer and sends us along through life to meet its trials and bear its burdens, for only so come sympathy and strength. But we, forgetting our first prayer and not discerning the intent of God or not caring to pay the price, fly to Him for relief from the very messengers of His grace.

Pray not for lighter burdens but for greater strength, not for relief from trial but for grace to bear it, not to be spared but to be taught, not for God's intervention but for God's life.

Go to church tomorrow and pray to be vouchsafed the spirit of prayer.

Great Suffering of Greek Refugees

(By Associated Press.)
Constantinople, April 4.—Living for 16 days on mixed sea and fresh water and limited bread rations, 500 children and 3,000 adult Greeks have arrived here on the Greek steamer Michael Archanagel from Navorosisi, Russia, with no food or water aboard. Suffering from cholera and other epidemic diseases, many of the refugees were ill and two had died at sea. Greek military authorities and delegates of the Greek High Commission inspected the ship, supplied medical aid and arranged for emergency food supplies to last the vessel until she reached Saloniki, where the able-bodied will be debarked for transportation to the tobacco farms and road camps in the vicinity of Korfalia.

They were recruited from among the more than 20,000 Greeks who were driven from their homes

The State Drainage Convention Closes

Greatest in Every Way Ever Held in the History of the Association

The 12th Annual Convention of the N. C. Drainage Association comes to a close in this city, this evening, and next year's convention goes to New Bern, by almost unanimous vote this morning.

In personnel of attendance, in the character of addresses, in conception of the great possibilities engendered and in enthusiasm aroused for achievement the Goldsboro conference has surpassed any in the 12 years of the Association's history. This is the common verdict of all in attendance.

The addresses of S. H. McCrory, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture yesterday afternoon, and of Representative W. B. Bankhead, of Alabama, this morning were each in a class to themselves, and were marvelous in their revelations of the dormant possibilities and the vast acreages of reclaimable lands in the South.

Mr. McCrory yesterday, made a truly wonderful address. He is a typical Southerner, a clear-cut orator, a ready speaker, with the poise of confident ability and the courage of intelligent conviction he easily wins the interest of his audience and holds them at will.

The convention will close this afternoon with the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Goldsboro Elks Host To Visitors

Goldsboro Lodge Gives Enjoyable "Smoker" to Drainage Delegates

As scheduled in the program of entertainment for visitors to the Drainage Conference, Goldsboro Lodge No. 10 Elks gave an elaborate and most enjoyable luncheon and smoker to the delegates yesterday afternoon, at the Elks' club and banquet hall on the first street, and it was such a success that it is noted for its special opportunity of hospitality and entertainment to the host.

As a result of the pleasant weather, the convention adjourned itself into a "smoker" and the delegates will be here until it is one of the most enjoyable incidents of their visit to Goldsboro.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The beautiful and comforting sympathy so generously extended us in the recent death of our dear father, Mr. J. D. H. and the gentle ministrations so thoughtfully bestowed upon us in our bereavement are most deeply appreciated and can never be forgotten.

THE CHILDREN

The article in Tuesday night's Argus referring to the Berea Philanthropic Convention which took place last week in Jacksonville, Fla., contained an error regarding a statement of Mr. Marshall A. Hudson, founder of the Berea Philanthropic Convention.

Mr. Hudson stated in his address that the first class of young men was organized five years ago, and not five years in the city of Syracuse, which is familiar to all Berea and Philanthropic classes.

Tom Mix to Be Seen As Champion Rescuer

When Tom Mix comes to the Acme Theatre tonight in the Fox picture, "The Big Town Roundup," he will exhibit what is said to be an exceedingly fine line of rescue work.

The "Round-up," in which the action switches from a ranch to "Frisco" and back again is crowded; of course with thrilling incident—else it would not be a Mix entertainment. Among the stunts are a number due to rescue work.

For example, Mix rescues a girl from a ruffian's insults by throwing the ruffian off a speeding train. He rescues this same girl later from a bunch of city thugs in a cafe.

He rescues the heroine from a big rattlesnake on his ranch by his accurate long distance aim with a rifle. He rescues her again in the city when she falls before a stampeding steer at the stockyards. And he saves from death in a city park a little girl who is hanging head down on her runaway pony. Also he is kept tolerably busy rescuing himself from his enemies.

When Mix isn't rescuing somebody he's fighting a gang of thugs—with intermissions for attention to the Only Girl.
