

Scene in Ruanda, Whose King Is Wailing

Mustangs, the native king of Ruanda, in what was formerly German East Africa, has violently protested against the division of his kingdom, one sixth of which has been lopped off and given to Great Britain in view of the construction of a link in the Cape to Cairo line. The photograph shows the king of Ruanda giving a gala performance in honor of a visitor.

Woman Campaigner For The U. S. Senate

(By Associated Press)

St. Paul, Minn., June 16.—A woman is setting the pace for all candidates in the Minnesota primary election campaign.

Rambling over the countryside, from town to town, in a small sedan automobile, Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen of Cloquet is waging an intense campaign for the Democratic United States Senatorial nomination.

Mrs. Olesen, endorsed by the Democratic state convention, will go into the June 19 state-wide primary opposed by two men, Thomas J. Meighan of Preston and Homer Messier of Minneapolis, in the only contest of generally recognized importance.

To Mrs. Olesen, it is more than a campaign for her nomination; it is a campaign of womankind for recognition in politics, she declares, and in her automobile campaign, she feels she is blazing the way for her sex.

The sedan was presented to her by friends—the next day she was started on her campaign tour of the state; a tour that will not terminate until the June 19 primary, and then only momentarily if she is nominated.

Her 14 year old daughter, Mary, is doing most of the driving; she is mightily interested in her mother's campaign, and together with Mr. Olesen, superintendent of Cloquet schools, makes up the family "cabinet."

From time to time various women friends of Mrs. Olesen accompany her on her cross country drives, and now and then local folk are added to the party for an intensive drive in some particular region.

It isn't just the towns and cities that are hearing and seeing Mrs. Olesen, for many times her automobile stops beside some field and a farmer is invited to rest within it, while the ardent apostles seek to strengthen his party alignment or convert him to the Democratic cause.

Filipinos Try to Reach The U. S. Mainland

(By Associated Press)

Manila, P. I., June 16.—About seventy-five per cent of the Filipino laborers who go to Hawaii to work on plantations there eventually expect to reach the mainland of the United States, according to the report of Francisco Varona just submitted to Governor General Wood. Mr. Varona was commissioned early in 1920 by Former Governor General Harrison to investigate and report on the condition of Filipino laborers in Hawaii.

According to Commissioner Varona's report the Filipino laborers were not treated by their employers in the same manner as other nationals. The Filipinos complained especially of harsh treatment received at the hands of the foremen on plantations, according to the report. These foremen, the report says, were usually Porto Ricans, Portuguese, Scotchmen or Germans.

On the other hand the Hawaiian planters complained that it was difficult to make the laborers work constantly, the report says. This lack of diligence and perseverance was the reason why planters did not assign Filipinos to work in the sugar centrals or to other work involving responsibility, according to the report. The planters also complained that the Filipinos failed to take proper care of the quarters furnished them, this being the principal reason why they were not given better quarters in which to live. Continuing Commissioner Varona said:

"There were also many complaints about the tendency of the Filipino laborers to leave Hawaii and go to the mainland of the United States. About seventy-five per cent of these laborers, mostly the younger ones, sign contracts in the Philippines with the intention of making Hawaii a stepping stone to the United States."

The total number of Filipinos in Hawaii at the time the report was prepared, was 12,995 of whom 7,429 were field laborers.

KEEP YOUR HOGS HEALTHY

Clean and Careful Feeding Essential in Successful Hog Raising

Here is a secret of successful hog raising practiced by many stock raisers and prosperous farmers. Don't feed your hogs sour or ill-smelling garbage.

The swill should first be sweetened with Red Seal Lye. Take one tablespoonful of Red Seal Lye and dissolve it in a pint of water. Mix this solution thoroughly with sufficient feed for 10 hogs.

One-half a can of Red Seal Lye dissolved in one quart of water will sweeten a 50-gallon barrel of swill. Feed twice daily, night and morning.

Ordinary garbage ferments, forming an acid which is injurious to the hog. Red Seal Lye will remove this acid and make the feed more wholesome.

Swill which has been first sweetened with Red Seal Lye and fed to the hogs, will help make healthy, sturdy animals.

Make a strong solution of Red Seal Lye, sprinkle around your hog pens and wash out the feeding troughs. Use at least once a week.

Be sure and get the old original, highest test, granulated Red Seal Lye. Accept no substitutes.
