LIVE UP TO THE CONSTITUTION

(By Associated Press.)
Fredericksburg, Va., July 7.—Vice President Coolidge, speaking here last night, declared "it is not a change that is needed in our constitution and laws so much as there is need of living in accordance with them."
Mr. Coolidge, who spoke at the inauguration of a campaign to purchase "Kenmore," the home of Betty Washington Lewis, the only sister of the first President, and to preserve the house as a patriotic shrine, emphasized the value to America of such relics of the past, declaring that "a people who worship at the shrine of true greatness will themselves be truly great."
Paying tribute to the great men produced by Virginia, the Vice-President declared "the eloquence of Patrick Henry, the confidence in the people of Thomas Jefferson, the inspired judgment of John Marshall and the incomparable patriotism of George Washington will all be of no avail unless we shall make the necessary sacrifices to live up to the standard which they acclaimed."
"The world today is filled with a great impatience," he continued. "Men are disdainful of the things that are and are credulously turning toward those who assert that a change of institutions would somehow bring an era of perfection."
"It is not a change that is needed in our constitution and laws so much as there is need of living in accordance with them. The most fundamental precept of them all, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, has not yet been brought into universal application. It is not our institutions that have failed, it is our execution of them that has failed."
"The great principles of life do not change, they are permanent and well known. Men are not ignorant of what justice requires. No power can ever be brought into existence which will relieve of obligations. The sole opportunity for progress lies in their faithful discharge."

J. F. Dalton Explains Withdrawal Of Trains

Temporary withdrawal of Norfolk Southern trains is the result of efforts of the railroad to conserve motive power and not because of any hazard that might be involved in operations, J. F. Dalton, general passenger and freight agent of the Norfolk Southern said yesterday after he had gone over the matter thoroughly with the Corporation Commission who approved the railroad's course.
All of the four hundred shopmen, except eighteen foremen are on the strike, Mr. Dalton said. At Goldsboro, there are no shopmen, at Raleigh there is one foreman, at New Bern, there is one foreman, at Carolina Junction there are three foremen and at Washington there are no shopmen.
Mr. Dalton makes no effort to anticipate the result of the strike, and, for the present, declares that the withdrawal of Passenger Trains 15 and 16 operating between Goldsboro and Marsden, the straight passenger service on the Oriental line, and trains 17 and 18 between Belhaven and Raleigh will leave adequate though somewhat curtailed service on the Norfolk Southern system.

FATAL WRECK AT FAYETTEVILLE

(By Associated Press.)
Fayetteville, N. C., July 7.—W. P. Strickland, a taxi-cab driver of this city, formerly of Selma, is probably fatally injured and private James Rogers, of Battery D. 5th artillery, seriously hurt, as the result of an auto accident early this morning.
The machine, filled with soldiers from Camp Bragg, left here just before 5 o'clock this morning, hurrying to the camp to get there in time for reveille, and striking a section of deep sand at high speed, turned turtle, with the above result.
With the exception of the driver and private Rogers, all the others escaped uninjured, but the machine is a total wreck.

CHILE DEMANDS FULL RECOGNITION

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, July 7.—The outstanding feature of the League of Nations last conference today was the announcement by Dr. Rivas Vicuna, Chilean Ambassador at Paris, that Chile would demand unqualified recognition and a seat in the fifth conference of the League, to be held next March, at which the whole question of world disarmament, both military and naval, would be discussed.

Spending Millions For Good Roads

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, July 7.—Approximately $100,000,000 will be spent for good road construction throughout the country during the fiscal year which began July 1. This will be brought about by the continuation of federal aid for roads under recent authorization of an appropriation of almost a billion dollars for distribution among the several states. Under the conditions of the aid each state must match the sum allotted it.
At the same time, the Post Office appropriation bill signed by President Harding June 18, authorized appropriation of $65,000,000 for the same purpose, to be expended during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923, and $75,000,000 for the succeeding fiscal year. The conditions are the same for all three years, and will bring the total amount expended during the period, if the states adhere to the stipulations and expend like sums, to $380,000,000. The funds will be administered by the Secretary of Agriculture through the Bureau of Good Roads.
It is estimated that the $190,000,000 appropriated will result in the construction of more than 25,000 miles of road, which, added to the 46,000 miles that are expected to result from previous federal appropriations, make a total of 71,000 miles, or nearly 40 percent of the estimated 180,000 miles of good roads on the system of federal-aid roads now being outlined.
With the aid of the 350,000,000 previously appropriated by the government, 17,000 miles of road had been completed on last May 31 and in addition, nearly 14,500 miles were under construction, involving more than $287,500,000 of federal aid. To match this fund the states have appropriated approximately $380,000,000 making a total of $667,500,000.
The average cost per mile of all type of road constructed with federal aid has been $17,120, of which 42 percent has been the cost to the government. The new legislation, however, reduces the maximum participation on the part of the Government from $20,000 to $16,250 per mile for first fiscal year, and $15,000 thereafter. The appropriations are to be used on construction of a connected system of primary, or inter-state, and secondary, or inter-county, roads.
It is further provided that the states receiving aid must maintain adequate highway department, must maintain the federal roads when completed, must construct roads sufficient to the traffic anticipated, and must match the amounts allotted by the government. Otherwise, the federal funds for new projects will be withheld. Plans for the proposed system have

Ham-Ramsey Meeting May Last All Through Summer

The Evangelist Announced Again Last Night That he will Abide Here Until the Garnering of Goldsboro's Unsaved is Complete.

(By Robt. L. Denmark)
Speaking last night of the courteous treatment received from the people of Pikeville at the meeting there yesterday afternoon, M. Ham said:
"It is remarkable how the christian people of Goldsboro respond to these meetings we have had in the county; especially was this noticeable this afternoon at Pikeville. The meeting was held in a grove and the people of Pikeville had arranged seats for the visitors and everything was carried out in a spiritual way for the glory of God."
Mrs. Ham and children left last night for their home in Kentucky, and Mr. Ham stated to his audience that it has been a great personal pleasure the manner in which the people of Goldsboro had entertained Mrs. Ham and their two children while here and that he wished it was possible for them to remain longer, but that he would remain until Goldsboro is won to Christ.
This statement was received with applause lasting for several minutes. The message last night was in connection with the one of Wednesday night, stressing the point that it is essential that man have a refuge that he can go to in trouble and have the assurance that He will bear the burden if man will only accept and believe in Him.
"Every thoughtful person knows there are forces to destroy mankind and that mankind, therefore, should have a refuge," said the speaker. "He is bound to admit that death is inevitable, that there is a Judgment and that God will not let the sinner go unpunished."
"When you think of death and sin, you console yourself that maybe you will get by, but such will not be sufficient and to make a false refuge, that will be washed away, will result in your having to stand before God in Judgment and give an account of the way you have lived."
"Sin is all about us and doing its deadly work—that which man has brought upon himself—and to call it weakness will not help, as your disposition is responsible for all sadness, sorrow and universal desense."
"Some have been able to restrain themselves, but I had rather live with a penitent sinner than with a righteous Pharisee, and the church or the christian that does not enter into the work of soul saving is nothing more than a bigoted Pharisee."
"There will be a reckoning for you Pharisees who have done everything to split these meetings."
"Jesus is the refuge from the penalty of sin, and death is the result of sin as God told Adam that should he eat of the forbidden fruit he would surely die."

Needs Of American Leadership

(By Associated Press.)
Boston, July 7.—If opportunities for training leaders were a sufficient guarantee of the safety of the state, Americans would be living in a political millennium, Dr. James S. Russell, dean of Teachers' College, Columbia University, said in an address last night before the National Educational Association.
"Nowhere else in the world is provision made for so many aspiring candidates for leadership or for so many different kinds of leaders," Dr. Russell said. "Coincident with the extraordinary increase in the last few years of those seeking professional education is the increasing complexity and unselfishness of those best equipped to lead. In fact, expertise in technical fields no longer or synonymous with leadership in professional service. If the broader culture and more scientific knowledge now demanded by these schools is added the spirit of patriotic service, the professional schools of America will have their full duty."
"From our standpoint we see in the German system of education and its logical outcome in the war, a horrible example of what not to do, but we must be impressed by the fact that Germany has demonstrated that a vast population can be molded by education into the likeness of an ideal, even if the ideal, when realized, turns out to be, not a God, but a golden calf."
"What German teachers have done American teachers can do. We can set up an ideal characteristically American, and we can realize it if the public will give us the necessary support. Not blind obedience but voluntary cooperation shall be our watchword. We shall seek contentment through intelligent exercise of our individual talents, and find happiness in the possession of our own attainments. I grant that our problem is infinitely more difficult than the one submitted to German teachers. It is far easier to quench ambition than to rouse it and direct it aright. Never before has a nation been founded on the proposition that all men are created equal, and nowhere in history has intelligent self-direction been set up as a national ideal of education."
"The need for an intelligent electorate goes far beyond the choice of political leaders. My view is that the right spirit comes from enlightened public opinion that voluntarily chooses to follow expert guidance in every phase of life. Confidence in the integrity and unselfishness of leaders is the first essential in the democratic program of social reform."
"The maintenance of civil order and social security logically precedes the rise of leaders. Population is shifting from country to the city. Elbow room is growing less. Every year makes it harder for some to maintain a decent standard of living. The Old World with its woes stands begging at our doors. Discontent is spreading like a fatal disease among great groups of our citizens. This tendency, unless checked, can have only one result—our experiment in democratic government will surely fail, and with it the hopes of a world worn out with travel of new-born ideals of freedom. The outcome rests

MISS ETHEL MILLER HONOREE

Miss Mary Michaux gave a most delightful luncheon this morning in honor of her cousin Miss Ethel Miller, bride-elect.
The home was beautifully decorated with lovely pink and white flowers of the season.
Delicately hand-painted place cards marked the places of the guests, where a most attractive five course luncheon was served. The color scheme being carried out. At the conclusion of the luncheon the honoree was presented by the hostess with two beautifully hand embroidered tray cloths.

already been received by the Bureau of Good Roads from but eight states, and the state systems are being coordinated so that when joined together they will serve the best interests of the whole country. In the meantime only projects certain to be on the proposed system are being approved.

THE CLOTURE RULE FAILED TO WORK

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, July 7.—The republican move to enforce the cloture rule on the administration's tariff bill in the senate today failed, the vote being 45 for and 35 against, 9 less than the required two-third majority.
The democratic senators voted solidly against it and 5 republicans, senators Borah, Bandagee, La Follette, Moses and Norris, voted with them.

TORNADO RAZES KANSAS TOWN

(By Associated Press.)
Pratt, Kansas, July 7.—Reports of a tornado which practically razed Lake City, 25 miles south of here, this morning, are in circulation; but the wires to Lake City are all out of commission, so that news is very indefinite, and efforts to get in communication with that town have proved unsuccessful.

A. C. L. ABSORBS ROCKINGHAM R. R.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, July 7.—Permission was granted the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to acquire complete control of the Rockingham Railroad—a short line of 21 miles running between Gibson, N. C. and Rockingham, N. C.
Bonds issued by the latter company to pay for the construction of its line had previously been acquired by the A. C. L. company, and the outstanding capital stock held by individuals is valued at $15,360.

SHOPMEN ARE STILL AT LARGE

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, July 7.—With B. M. Jewell head of the striking railway shopmen's union, still maintaining the conciliatory disposition which he announced immediately after the strike order had been obeyed by the shop craft last Saturday, but declining to make the first overture for peace, considerable uneasiness and a number of outbreaks of disorder closed the hours of the first order at various points today mark the week of the walk-out.
Federal injunctions restraining the strikers from interfering with men at work, molesting them on their way to work or picketing shops have been issued at several points in Illinois and Louisiana.
Mobilization of State troops have been requested of the governors of Alabama, Kansas, Missouri, and Iowa, at scenes of disorder in these states, where peace is threatened by the activity of strikers.
Chicago is today experiencing its first disorders growing out of the shopmen's strike. A mob of strikers and strike sympathizers, among whom were many women, attacked and attempted to burn the homes, today, of two Illinois Central employees at Burnside who had refused to join the walk-out.
Police dispersed the mob after the wife of one of the workmen had held the mob at bay with a revolver when they attempted to storm her home.
Picketing of shops in many parts of the country and some arrests of strikers are reported.
Striking shopmen are reported from several points to be struggling back to their old jobs, but notwithstanding this B. M. Jewell maintains that the strike is 100 percent effective.

UNION STRIKE LEADERS ARRESTED

(By Associated Press.)
Topeka, Kan., July 7.—State warrants were issued today against T. Huntington, president, and Thos. Hileyer, secretary, of the federal shop craft union No. 11, of Topeka, charging them with violation of the Kansas State law in issuing the strike order in this State, that was followed by the shopmen's walk out of July 1.

The Queen Mother Is Active At 78

(By Associated Press.)
London, July 7.—Queen Alexandra, the Queen Mother, now in her 78th year, is far more active than most women at her age. She might take life far easier than she does, but she evidently is opposed to the idea of being laid on the shelf.
She likes to show herself among the people and she is gratified by the applause with which her appearance always is greeted. Undoubtedly it acts as a sort of psychological tonic upon her and helps her to feel as young as she looks.
She crowds many activities into a day. One day recently she appeared in public at the Cart Horse Parade for prizes in Regent's Park; then at a concert in aid of workshops for disabled soldiers, and finally at the Richmond Horse show. But she makes two concessions to advancing years. She seldom goes out in an evening and she goes to bed early, usually playing a game of "Patience" before retiring.

School For Motion Picture Postulants

Los Angeles, Calif., July 7.—The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has established a motion picture school for its actors and actresses here and has stipulated that any "pupil" who fails to maintain seventy-five percent standing in classes, attendance and general deportment is liable to dismissal from the company.
Every member of the Paramount company, which is owned by the corporation, is eligible for admission to the school. "Unlike the student body of most schools," reads a pamphlet outlining the work, "the students in this company are persons who already have established reputations in their life work of acting for the screen. Therefore, the purpose of the school is not to instruct in the fundamentals of screen art, except as such instruction may correct minor faults, but to broaden the working knowledge of the members of the company to the end that they may increase their versatility and have a wider outlook on their art."
Two pages of the pamphlet are devoted to rules and regulations for members. Among the regulations are:
"Avoid alcoholic stimulants and late hours."
"Although the stock in trade of the members is their ability to portray emotions, the place for such portrayal is on the screen and not in the studio. Temperament is a valuable asset, but temperament out of control is a nuisance to yourself and everybody about you."
"Be careful of the choice of your associates outside the studio."
"Members are expected to avoid places, people, circumstances and conduct which might in any way bring themselves and the motion picture profession into disrepute. Any member failing strictly to observe this rule is liable to instant dismissal from the company."

BORGLUM NAMED AYCOCK SCULPTOR

(Raleigh News and Observer)
Gutzon Borglum, one of the most distinguished sculptors America has yet produced, will make the monument to Charles Brantley Aycock, and it will probably be unveiled in Capital Square July 4 next.
This was the announcement made yesterday by the special committee charged with the task of selecting the sculptor. This committee consists of P. M. Fearnafl, Josephus Daniels, E. C. Brooks, R. D. W. Connor and F. D. Winston. Several members were represented by proxy.
The selection of Mr. Borglum will no doubt give universal satisfaction. He is already known to the people of North Carolina by his wonderfully spirited statue of Henry L. Wyatt in Capital Square and by his equally popular statue of Senator Vance erected by the State in Statuary Hall, Washington. Many other North Carolinians have admired his Sheridan monument in Washington, his colossal head of Lincoln in the rotunda of the National Capitol, and his statue of the North Carolina aviator, McConnell, recently erected at the University of Virginia. Many other striking works of his might be mentioned. The New York Times Review of last Sunday had a full page illustrated article describing his new $100,000 war group to be erected in Newark, N. J. At Stone Mountain, Ga., Mr. Borglum is directing the most colossal achievement in statuary yet attempted on this continent. On a granite cliff 1,700 feet long and 500 feet high the leaders and armies of the Confederacy are to be pictured in stone, the work extending over a period of more than ten years and involving an expenditure of a million dollars or more. His completed Georgia and Alabama figures are of the most magnificent treasures in the world.
The preliminary sketch submitted by Mr. Borglum calls for a standing bronze figure of Governor Aycock against a granite background extending 18 feet, the statue flanked by bas reliefs interpreting the spirit and ideals of the educational Governor. Mr. Borglum expects to have his models ready for final selection by the committee and family in early fall and expects to have the entire work ready for unveiling by July 4 of next year.
The monument completed will cost $18,000, the entire amount being raised by voluntary gifts from the people and school children of North Carolina. The committee has insisted on financing the work in this way without asking for or receiving any appropriation from the Legislature. The work has been delayed because just as it got well under way the war broke out, and war, antics and other disturbances have delayed action until this time. But within another year the committee believes its labors will find fruition in perhaps the most distinguished piece of statuary in North Carolina. Mr. George C. Royall, of Goldsboro, is chairman of the general committee, and Mr. Nathan O'Berry chairman of the finance committee.
