LOCAL RIPPLES.

—Bell's Marionettes will give a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

—A great many country people were in town today, and the merchants had an unusually good business.

—One of our old citizens who has a goosbone says we may look out for tough weather between now and next April.

—The ladies of the Tryon Street Methodist Church are fitting up a pretty study for their pastor, Rev.
Mr. Pool.

—The front of the Southern Express building in this city, is draped in respect to the memory of the late Thos. D. Gillespie.

—Today, 32 years ago, the big snow of 1857 began. Snow was on the ground in that year from January 31st to sometime in April.

—Capt. S. B. Alexander has been appointed by Gov. Fowle a delegate to attend the quarantine convention at Montgomery, Ala., on the 5th of March.

—There are a dozen young men in town who belong to the S. A. E. fraternity. They will give their first reception tonight at the residence of Mr. Jas. Carson.

—The county finance committee today concluded the examination of the affairs of county treasurer Mc-Clintock, and found them all correct.
The committee will begin on the sheriff's books tomorrow.

Mr. Pearson.

A Charlotte lady who has just returned from Greenville, S. C., reports that evangelist Pearson is meeting with great success with his meetings at that place, and is doing some wonderful work. Another Charlotte lady left today for Greenville for the simple privilege of again hearing the great evangelist.

Vice-President Scott Feeds the Cotton.

The Alpha Cotton Mills were formally started up today, when cotton was fed to the machines for the first time. The first cotton was fed to the mills by Mr. C. Scott, the vice-president, and the interesting occasion was witnessed by a large party of spectators. The Alpha is now in good working order. The Victor is to follow shortly.

James A. Robinson.

Mr. Jas. A. Robinson, who was formerly employed on the Charlotte Chronicle, has severed his connection with the Durham Recorder, and announces to his friends of the press that he is open to engagements. Mr.
Robinson is a polished writer, an energetic worker and a good news gatherer. We hope to hear of him driving the pencil soon again.

Death of Capt. Clark.

Capt. Robert Clark, whose serious illness was noted in THE NEWS a day or two ago, died at his home in Laurinburg yesterday. He will be buried in Laurinburg this afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Masonic ceremonies.

Capt. Clark had been a sufferer for some time, from cancer, and had received treatment in Charlotte that lengthened his life for several years.
He leaves a family. Capt. Clark was one of the most popular men in the employment of the Carolina Central road, and was liked by all who knew him. He had a great many friends in Charlotte. His life was insured for about $5,000.

Personal Mention.

Mr. G. A. Bingham, a prominent citizen of Salisbury, is at the Central today.

Mrs. S. B. Tanner arrived in the city yesterday, and is the guest of her father, Mr. J. S. Spencer.
J. E. B. Blewett, Cincinnati; C.
W. Bethel, Danville; E. R. Howard, Richmond, and J. D. Morton, Richmond, are at the Buford.

Mr. W. W. Mott, of Statesville, is at the Central.

Dr. Will Conrad, of Winston, is at the Central.

Miss Katie Jones left yesterday to visit friends in Greenville, S. C.

MR. GILLESPIE DEAD

A PROMINENT EXPRESS MAN PASSES AWAY.

His Death in Columbia—His Body to Reach Charlotte This Evening, and to be Buried Here Tomorrow.

Thos. D. Gillespie, one of the most prominent men connected with the Southern Express Company in the South, died at his home in Columbia, S. C., at 8 o'clock this morning. Mr. Gillespie's serious sickness had been noted in THE NEWS, yet his friends here were altogether unprepared for the sad news of his death. He was attended in his dying hours by the immediate members of his family and a large circle of relatives, including Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Sadler and Miss Haitie Elliott, of Charlotte.

Mr. Gillespie's body will be buried in Elmwood cemetery, this city. It will arrive here, under escort of relatives and friends, on the 5:20 train from Columbia this evening, and will be conveyed to the residence of Mr.
J. A. Elliott.

Mr. Gillespie was known well and favorably throughout North and South Carolina, and was one of the most popular men in the service of the Express Company. In 1868 he was appointed division superintendent of the Southern Express Company, for the Eastern division, and he filled that office most acceptably until 1883, when he was compelled to resign upon account of failing health. His resignation was received by the company under protest, and was not accepted until it was seen that it was a matter of absolute necessity. The company would not consent to entirely relinquish his services, and shortly afterwards placed him in charge of the Columbia office as superintendent, which position he held up to the time of his death.

Mr. Gillespie was a genial man, an affable and pleasant companion, a man of good judgment, and one whose business sagacity was notable.
He had a very wide acquaintance, and the news of his death will be read with sorrow not only throughout the Carolinas, but wherever his name was known.

He was married to a daughter of the late Major James A. Sadler, of this city, who, with three boys, survives him. He was a brother-in-law to Mr. O. M. Sadler and Mr. J. A.
Elliott, of this city.

The funeral services will be conducted from the residence of Mr.
Elliott, corner of Tryon and Seventh streets, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.

A Fine Show.

A performance of unusual interest will take place here Saturday night, when Mr. Frank Mayo will appear, supported by a company of great strength and ability. As Mr. Edwin Booth takes first place in the classic drama, so Mr. Frank Mayo is in the romantic drama—the ablest actor speaking the English tongue today.
The subject of the performance is the "Royal Guard," a dramatic form of Alexandre Dumas' famous masterpiece, the "3 Guardsmen," in which Mr. Mayo will appear as D'Artagnan, the young Gascon, one of the most delightful and interesting characters produced in the fiction of this century. This performance of Mr.
Mayo's has received the highest praise from leading critics of the country, and the production will be embellished with new scenery and costumes of the most picturesque period in French history.

The Charlotte Cotton Market.

There was a remarkably strong tone to the Charlotte cotton market today. Liverpool was firm and advancing, and the local market ruled firm and strong, with a healthy feeling. The receipts by wagons were 33 bales. The quotations ruled:
Strict Good Middling . . . 9 1/2 Good Middling . . . 9 1/4 Strict Middling . . . 9 1/4 Middling . . . 9 1/4
Tlows . . . 8 1/2

CHARLOTTE'S DAIRYS.

A Glance at the Springdale, Where Sixty Cows are Kept—How it is Managed.

The growth of the dairy business at Charlotte during the past few years has been something extraordinary, and no city in the South can show a more complete or more reliable system of dairying than that possessed by Charlotte. The dairies of Charlotte are unexcelled. One of the oldest and most popular is the Springdale, owned by Mr. McD.
Watkins, and located on a beautiful farm one mile east of the city. Mr.
Watkins yesterday took a NEWS reporter through his dairy, and it is a pleasure to speak of it. The dairy is admirably arranged, and is certainly an interesting place to visit.
The cows are sheltered in winter in two large barns, arranged especially for the dairy business, and in them the reporter saw sixty head of cattle standing in rows of four at the feed troughs. An automatic collar keeps them in position, and while it allows them ample room for eating and resting, it prevents them from goring each other. The device for keeping the stables clean is a most ingenious and perfect one. The feeding arrangement is also a novel thing; the whole herd of sixty cows can be fed in ten minutes. The barns are supplied with ensilage cells, root cellars, etc. The feed is cut by machinery, and hay is lifted from the wagons into the lofts by a pair of machine tongs that lifts half a load at a time and dumps it where wanted. Mr.
Watkins bought this farm in 1881, partly on credit, and commenced business with one cow. He does not deliver his milk in jars, "because," he says, "milk should never be put up in air-tight cans until it is thoroughly cooled, so that the animal heat may escape. There is a greater probability of the milk being tainted when delivered in air-tight jars." His cows are stall-fed summer and winter, being fed in winter on silo, the best food known, and are always fat enough for beef. "Messrs. Eccles & Bryan," said Mr. Watkins, "have been taking my milk for more than a year at 25 cents per gallon, in preference to the milk that they were getting at 20 cents." Mr. Watkins is also a good farmer. A good many acres of his land have netted him from $50 to $60 per acre in clover.

Brick and Terra Cotta Works.

Mr. Cecil, the brick maker, has purchased 25 acres of land in the eastern suburbs of the city and is arranging to establish a brick yard and terra cotta pipe factory. He paid $100 per acre for the land, and has already commenced erecting houses.
Mr. Cecil is a hard worker and means business. His enterprise will be on a wholesale scale and will be an important one for Charlotte.

Today's Fire Alarm.

The tap of the fire bell today at noon brought out the engines and reels in double quick time, as a high and cold wind was blowing at the time. The alarm was caused by the burning out of a chimney at the residence of Mrs. Sarah Davidson. No damage was done.

The New Knitting Mills.

Messrs. Jones & Lockwood's new knitting mills are now running, under the superintendence of Mr. T. J.
Neeson, with Mrs. Anna Steenburgh as forelady. The firm expect very shortly to have fifty hands at work.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr.
King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued to use it and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H.
Cole, druggist, Fort Smith. Trial
