LOCAL RIPPLES.

—The weather today has been clear and cold. Ice formed all day long in shady spots.

—One of the new steamers of the R. & D.'s York River line, is named "Charlotte," after this city.

—The new series of stock in the Mutual Building and Loan Association is now open for subscription.

—The candy factory of Schroeder & Long has been closed upon account of a disagreement between the partners.

—The bill providing for the refunding of the bonded debt of Charlotte, passed its third reading in the House, yesterday.

—Mr. John W. White, as will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere, has secured an interest in the firm of Barnett & Bethune.

—A petition from the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce, asking the repeal of the merchants purchase tax, was read in the legislature yesterday.

—The bill extending the corporate limits of Concord passed its third reading in the House of Representatives yesterday. If this bill becomes a law, Concord town will be a big one, sure enough.

—A movement is being talked of to change the channel of the Catawba River and bring it through Charlotte. It is claimed that this feat of engineering can be accomplished at a very reasonable figure.

—All who are interested in the entertainment for the benefit of the Thompson Orphanage, are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. M. A. Williamson, corner of 5th and B streets, at 8:30 o'clock this evening.

—The grand jury of the Criminal Court is busily engaged in examining cases. Thirteen cases have been returned during the past two months from the Mayor's court and twenty-eight from the magistrate's court of David Guy Maxwell.

—In the Criminal Court today, James Mitchell, the negro who burglarized Grace Howard's house, was arraigned and his trial set for Friday. Duff Oorie was sentenced to the chain gang for two years, and John Moore for one year, both for larceny.

This Morning's Fire.

The fire alarm was turned in at 11:30 o'clock this morning, for a fire at the Southern Newspaper Union office. An engine located at the rear door of the building had been filled with waste paper, and the attendant, in attempting to draw the fire, found that it was too much for him. The building was ignited and great flakes of burning paper were wafted over the cotton platform, where several thousand bales of cotton are stored. The platform brigade got out a line of hose and extinguished the fire before much damage was done. One door of the newspaper building was burned out.

To be Married at Graham.

Miss Ada Virginia Williamson, a young lady who is popular in Charlotte, where she has made many pleasant visits, is to be married at 9 o'clock tonight, to Mr. Omega Harden Foster. The ceremony is to be performed at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. N. Williamson, at Graham. The groom is a son of Mrs. John Burwell, and was one of the proprietors of the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City. Miss Belle Atkins will be one of the lady attendants at the ceremony this evening. The happy pair will reside in Raleigh, where Mr. Foster has just completed an elegant residence.

The Charlotte Cotton Market.

The city cotton market was strong today and bidding was active. The tone was firm. The receipts by wagon were 50 bales. There was no change in the quotations, which were:

Strict Good Middling . . . 9 1/2 @ 9 3/4
Good Middling . . . . . 9 1/4
Strict Middling . . . . . 9 1/4
Middling . . . . . 9 1/4

BOLD BURGLARS.

A Negro with a False Beard a Foot Long Invades a Sick Room.

Some bad characters are still roaming about Charlotte. Two ineffectual attempts at burglary have been made during the past few nights. The attempt was bold in each instance. Mrs. Holly resides on Smith street, between 10th and 11th streets, with her three daughters. The members of the family were sitting in the house Sunday night and were preparing to retire, when one of the girls heard a noise at a window. She went to investigate, and saw a negro man climbing into the room through a window which he had opened. The girl screamed and the negro dropped to the ground and escaped in the darkness.

Mr. James Hornbarrier is lying very low at his home on Graham street. Mrs. J. M. Kendrick and her daughter, Miss Mamie Kendrick, were sitting up with the sick man. Mrs. Kendrick had stepped from the room for a moment, and during her absence Miss Mamie heard footfalls just outside the door. A moment later she was frightened by seeing a big burly negro open the door and attempt to pick up a lot of cloaks and shawls that were just inside the door. The screams of the young lady brought the inmates of the house to the scene, but the burglar had escaped. He was a big, black negro, and wore a false beard a foot long. The police have been working up these cases, but have as yet met with but little success.

The Loudest Laugh of the Season.

Laughter and merriment will reign supreme at the Opera House on next Thursday evening, the 14th inst, the occasion being the appearance in Charlotte of the famous humorous play and funniest of modern farcical comedies, "Skipped by the Light of the Moon." This production has been a laughing sensation in all the principal cities of America, from New York to San Francisco. Since the play was last seen here many new features, new specialties and all new music have been introduced, and in its present form it is everywhere spoken of as being the funniest conception that has yet assumed that shape. The New York Telegram says: "That the piece is funny must not be even hinted; for the word funny does not fill the bill or describe the play. It is a phantasmagoria of mirth, a regular emporium of laughing gas. Moreover, it is performed with a slap, dash and rush that are captivating and infectious. One has scarcely time to breathe between laughs, and naught is left in the minds of the spectator an hour after the performance except the recurrent echo of uncontrollable laughter."

The Cost of the Signal Service.

Very few people who observe the big arrow and the revolving cups over the signal station in this city, have any idea what the signal service costs the government. A signal officer states that the cost of the signal service to the Government must come pretty close to $4,000,000 a year. He had no exact information on the subject, he said, but he thought that the cost of one average office, with stationery, &c., must be nearly $40 a day. There are about 150 offices in operation outside of the Washington office and at $40 a day this would cost Uncle Sam about $6,000 a day or $2,100,000 a year. Upwards of 200 men are employed in the Washington office and it is not unlikely that this would cost $2,000,000 a year more.

A Big Military Company.

Dr. Robert S. Young, Captain of the Cabarrus, Black Boys, the largest military company in the State Guard, was in the city today. The company was formed at Concord a few weeks ago, and numbers 78 members, comprising the pick and flower of Concord. It takes the name of Black Boys to perpetuate the name and fame of the most historical band of soldiers in the Revolutionary war.

Augusta Grumbling.

The people of Augusta appear to be somewhat disgruntled over the deal between the Richmond & Danville and the Atlantic Coast Line roads. "When the Richmond and Danville Railroad purchased the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Road," says the Augusta correspondent of the News and Courier, "the Atlantic Coast Line proposed building a branch of their road from Sumter to Augusta so they could have an inlet to this city. Their proposed work was commenced and the road has been built sixteen miles from Sumter, to a point just south of the Wateree swamp, and is now being operated. When that much of the road was completed, the Richmond and Danville Road agreed to haul all, and at any time, the cars of the Coast Line to Augusta, which has checked the progress of the proposed line. The Coast Line has graded their road four miles south of the Wateree swamp, to Orangeburg, and the work is now about stopped, as only a few hands are kept at work upon it. The officials of the Coast Line are not in such a hurry now to complete the line, as they have such a good covenant with the Richmond and Danville Road, but the people of Augusta are anxious for the road to be finished, for they want a competitive line, and are indignant over the discrimination of the Richmond and Danville Road in sending the New York sleeper to Aiken instead of Augusta."

Personal Mention.

Col. L. L. Polk and Judge Wm. J. Montgomery stopped at the Central last night.

Mr. George W. Means, general deputy for the State, is at the Buford today.

Mr. T. W. Twitty, of Rutherfordton; Capt. T. A. Hardman, contractor on the 3 Cs; G. W. Bahnsen and Miss M. Bahnsen, Farmington; R. P. Spalding, representing the August Gast Lith. Co., of St. Louis, and O. P. Schuyler, of New York, are at the Central.

Robt. Johnson, Hartford, Conn.; A. P. Barrett, Salisbury; B. H. Tyson, Wilson; A. A. Warren, Boston, are at the Buford.

Mr. Walter Buell and Mr. Marion Preston, of the Detroit Free Press, are at the Central.

Bishop Duncan's Residence.

Mr. Josiah Asbury, contractor of this city, has just completed an elegant residence for Bishop W. W. Duncan, in Spartanburg, S. C. The dwelling cost $12,000, and is a perfect beauty, as evidenced by photographs shown a News reporter. It is built in the latest style, with a shingled exterior, nooks, towers, etc., and is a handsome structure. The interior is finished in native woods, and presents a beautiful appearance. It is said to be the handsomest residence in Spartanburg, and is a credit to the skill of a Charlotte architect.

A Model Love Letter.

The following love letter is a genuine document, and is handed to THE NEWS to publish for the benefit of young courting fellows. It is modest and to the point:

"Compliments of Walter Good to Miss Jane Brown.
"I have fell in love with you and I have only saw you one time but I hope the next time I see you you will grant me the pleasure of speaking to you and I truly hope that you will be as kind to answer this little note if it are your pleasure to answer this it is my hart's delight to receive anseer. hoping to hear from you soon
"Yours truly
"WALTER GOOD."

A Fire in Spartanburg.

SPARTANBURG, February 9.—The depot at the vacant ground, two miles from town, was burned this afternoon. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective stove flue in the telegraph office. This was an excellent building and cost about $1,500.
