A VALUABLE INVENTION.

The Loom Patented by a Concord Man --A Company Formed with a Capital of $100,000.
There is a big enterprise looming up in Concord. A seamless bag that may be used for flour, tobacco and other such articles has long been a desideratum in trade circles, and business men will, no doubt, be glad to hear that the "long felt want" is to be supplied.
Mr. Will Odell has invented and patented a loom capable of weaving and branding a seamless bag at one operation. Competent judges are now putting this loom to a practical test of its merits, and with such gratifying success that a company is forming to utilize on a large scale this very important invention.
This company will begin operations with a capital of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and establish the plant near the Odell Cotton Factory. With one of these looms, one man can weave, in one day, six thousand seamless bags, branded with name or trade mark, ready for use.

LOCAL RIPPLES.

—The Presbyterians of the city are casting about for a building site for the Third Presbyterian church.
—The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Miss Mary Dusenbury as postmistress at Concord.
—Owing to the death of one of the members, the "Busy Bees" will not have their party on Friday night.
—The Little Violets, a band of earnest workers of the Baptist church, have bought the chandeliers for the new Baptist chapel.
—Messrs. Walter Buell and Marion Preston, of the Detroit Free Press, left this morning to visit the birth-place of Andrew Jackson, the Catawba Falls, and the two new railroads—the J. C.'s, and the G. C. & N.
Personal Mention.
Miss Mamie Zimmerman is visiting friends in Chester, S. C.
Miss Octa Hargrave is visiting friends in Charlotte, and is the guest of Mrs. D. W. Oates.
Mr. Wm. H. Edmonds and wife, of Baltimore, are at the Central. Mr. Edmonds represents the Manufacturers Record. They are on a Southern tour, and have just come from the "Southern Pines."
Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Pride, of Mt. Holly, are at the Buford. Mr. Pride is one of the leading spirits of that progressive town.
Uncle Johnny Rooke is confined to his bed by sickness.
Mrs. E. M. Davis, of the Racket Store arrived home from the North today. She purchased a splendid line of Millinery which will soon be opened up.

A Sad Ending to a Pleasant Visit.
A few weeks ago Mrs. James Davis left Charlotte for a visit to relatives in Alabama, taking with her Annie, her thirteen-year-old daughter. A telegram was received by her husband Sunday announcing the severe illness of the daughter. He left on the first train for her bedside, but arrived at Anniston just in time to see her breathe her last.
The body will arrive in this city this afternoon, and will be buried in Elmwood cemetery to-morrow. Mr. and Mrs. Davis have the sincerest sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

A Good Book.
"Bible Readings for the Home Circle" is the title of a new work just published by the J. Review and Herald, Publishing House, Battle Creek, Mich. The artistic execution of the work can hardly be excelled in the book line. It is designed for all classes of society, comprising 162 readings, answering nearly 5,000 questions on religious topics, practical, historical and prophetic; making the testimony of scripture on a great many subjects of interest to the child of God. Agents are selling it in this city.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Four Deaths in Charlotte Within Twenty-Four Hours--Mr. Myers' Bereavement --A Desolate Husband--Paul Eagle's Sudden Death--An Old Fireman Gone.
Death has been busily at work in this city for the past few hours, and the shadows have fallen upon four households. One of the saddest of these deaths was that of Eloise, the 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Myers, who had been sick but a few days. This is the fourth child that these afflicted parents have lost, and the deepest sympathies of the community are extended to them. Eloise was a bright and interesting little girl, and was a general favorite with all who knew her. The funeral services over her body were conducted from Mr. Myers' residence at 11 o'clock this morning, by Rev. Joseph B. Cheshire, of St. Peter's Episcopal church, and the interment was at Elmwood.
Mr. J. D. Hornbarrier, whose serious sickness was noted in yesterday's News, died last night at his residence on Graham street. He was a victim to consumption. Mr. Hornbarrier was 45 years old. He was married to a sister of Mr. J. M. Kendrick, who survives him. He was a member of the old volunteer fire department of Charlotte. His funeral took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Hornbarrier served through the war in the 42nd North Carolina regiment. He was noted for his daring and bravery, and was one of the best sharpshooters in the army.
Our community was distressed this morning to learn of the death of Mrs. J. H. Tolar. Mrs. Tolar had been sick but for a few days with pneumonia, and the news of her death was a great shock. She was 28 years old, and had been married about 2 years. Her maiden name was Miss Sutherland, and she was a native of Duplin county. A few months ago, Mr. and Mrs. Tolar lost their only child. The bereaved husband has the heartfelt sympathies of all our people.
The funeral services over the body of Mrs. Tolar will be conducted from the Second Presbyterian church, at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow (Thursday) morning, and the friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.
Mr. Paul F. Eagle, a well known young mechanic of this city, died suddenly this morning, at 11 o'clock. His death occurred in his room, in a house next to Johnston's Marble Yard. He had been up town a short while previously, but feeling sick he went back to his room and lay down on the bed. A few minutes later his room mate noticed a pallor overspread his face, and on going to him found that he was dead. Dr. Wilder held a postmortem examination, and found that death was the result of heart disease. The body was removed to the residence of Mr. J. M. Kendrick, a brother-in-law to the deceased. Mr. Eagle was 32 years old, and was a son of the late J. C. Eagle.

The funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Railroad Commission Bill.

The railroad commission bill reported in the House and Senate yesterday after being amended in committee differs in essential particulars from the measure as we outlined it from the News and Observer, yesterday morning, only as follows:
The commissioners are to be elected always by the General Assembly. The railroads are to furnish schedules of rates within thirty days after the appointment of the commission.
An appeal may be heard and determined by consent in chambers before any judge of a district through or into which the railroad concerned may extend and, the Supreme Court is empowered to advance a case on its docket to obtain a speedy hearing.
In establishing rates the commissioners are to have regard to the capital invested, the earnings of the railroads, the cost of operating the same, and such other considerations as may tend to a wise determination.

THEY FOUND IT WARM.

Two Passenger Agents Come into Port from Goldsboro--They are not Anxious to Go Back.
The negro troubles about Goldsboro are simmering down and quiet has been partially restored. Messrs. C. L. Hopkins and H. S. McCleskey, two passenger agents whose headquarters are the Central in this city, came into port yesterday. They had been to Goldsboro to look after the emigrants themselves. One of them left Goldsboro on the first train, and the other got away on the second train. It was a warm town; so warm, indeed, that they found it unpleasant to remain there. "You never saw such excitement," said one of the passenger agents to a News reporter yesterday. "I got there at 3:10 in the afternoon and a committee of citizens waited on me at the hotel and told me that I had to get out of town on the first train, which was at 8 p. m. I did not go then, but left on the 11 o'clock train. The hotel proprietor urged me to get away as quickly as possible and offered me a horse and buggy. He seemed to think that I would come to harm. My brother agent had scarcely landed in the town when he received a note that ran something like this: 'We will give you four trains to leave town on. If you don't get away on one or the other of them we will escort you out of town.' He left on the first train."
"There was a great crowd of negroes in town waiting to leave for the West," continued the agent, "but there was no disturbance of any kind. Trouble had been anticipated, and the Goldsboro and Tarboro military companies were out."
"What is the correct number of darkies who have left Goldsboro and vicinity recently?" asked the reporter.
"Fully two thousand," was the reply. "Nearly every darkey in Wayne county has sold out and is waiting a chance to emigrate. I got a telegram this morning notifying me that 500 families, representing 1,500 people, are now at Goldsboro, waiting for transportation, and asking if I could come down and give them tickets," concluded the agent as he handed the telegram to the reporter for inspection.
"Will you go?" asked the reporter as he concluded reading the dispatch.
"No Sir!" was the quiet but emphatic reply.

Married in Monroe.
Mr. J. G. Boylin, editor of the Wadesboro Messenger, was married in Monroe last night, to Miss N. DeLuka Blair. The ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock, by Rev. P. R. Law, formerly of Charlotte, but now pastor of the Presbyterian church at Lumberton. The marriage was a quiet affair, only a few of the intimate friends being invited, and immediately after its conclusion, the newly wedded took the train for their future home in Wadesboro. The bride is an accomplished young lady, and the groom is one of the rising editors of the State. The News extends its best wishes.

The Incandescent Light.

The lines for the new incandescent light are being strung through the stores, and it will not be long until the current from the dynamo will be turned on. Manager Dodge has received orders so far for 200 lights. Kaufman's clothing store will be a brilliant place, the interior having been equipped with 16 incandescent lamps.
