LOCAL RIPPLES.

The mayor of Charlotte offers a reward of $200 for the detection of the burglars.

"The Pig in the Clover" toy is now the latest rage in town. It's worse than the 13 puzzle.

The man with the electric burglar alarm might do a good business in Charlotte at present.

The Monteruma special will arrive in Charlotte on its trip North, at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The annual encampment of the State Guard is to be held at Wrightsville from July 9th to 19th.

Gen. Jao. A. Young appeared to be much brighter to-day. There is a slight improvement in his condition.

Turner's new directory of the city has been issued. It was printed by Mr. R. E. Blakey, and is a model of typographical neatness.

A number of farmers were in the city today. They report that work on the farms is progressing briskly. Every farmer seems to be taking advantage of the fine weather.

Rev. T. H. Pritchard, D. D., of Wilmington, N. C., will deliver his lecture on "Naples, Vesuvius and Pompeii," at Tryon street Baptist church, Tuesday night next.

The town slept in security last night. We are minus our usual and expected local burglaries. There were none last night, that the reporter could hear of. The average Charlotte citizen now sleeps with a pistol under his night cap.

Mr. F. A. Denman, son-in-law of Dr. Wm. H. Bailey, arrived in the city this morning from Jacksonville, on a brief visit to relatives and friends here. He will be in Charlotte for several days. Mr. Denman has been warmly welcomed by his friends here.

Mr. S. L. Leary, an architect from Philadelphia, has located in Charlotte and has fitted up an office for business. He brings the best of credentials, having been engaged successfully on some of the finest architectural work in Philadelphia and other places.

Mr. M. Harris Aitrecht, the decorator who was for a long time in Charlotte, has received intelligence of the suicide of his brother, Felix Aitrecht, which occurred in France a few days ago. He graduated with the highest honor ever attained by any student at the University of Leipzig about five years ago, and it is supposed that overstudy was the cause of his taking his own life.

Township Executive Committee. A call for a meeting of the township Democratic executive committee is published in THE NEWS. For the benefit of all concerned, we give the names of the Executive Committee: Ward 1—W. W. Phifer, M. C. Mayer, R. E. Lawing. Ward 2—B. R. Smith, J. R. Holland, L. W. Sanders. Ward 3—T. R. Robertson, W. N. Mullen, J. Roessler. Ward 4—Dr. Joseph Graham, E. K. P. Osborne, J. S. Spencer. Capt. Waring's Orator.

The following from the Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche, will interest Charlotte people. The young orator is a grandson of Capt. R. P. Waring of Charlotte: "The Irish National League of America gave a musical and literary entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Monday night last, which was enjoyed by all present. A youthful orator, Master Thomas Roane Waring, delighted the audience with a capital rendition of 'The Exile of Erin.' Tom's favorite recitation was 'The Charge of the Light Brigade,' but a few days before the concert he said: 'Auntie, I don't think that'll do; I ought not to talk to Irish folks about English folks, &c. So the 'Exile' was taught him. After it was over and he was at home, he said, gravely: 'Auntie, maybe I ought to have said the other piece, for if they are going to fight they ought to know what brave folks the English folks are.' It was some time before the little fellow was consoled for not having given the staidly warning."

Mr. J. P. Somason advertises something in THE NEWS that will be of benefit to housekeepers, and will not only save them the trouble of taking up their carpets, but, in some instances, will save them the expense of buying new ones. Samples of the work can be seen at the Dixon House. Mr. Somason is a thoroughly reliable man.

BRIGHTNESS AROUND.

SOME ENCOURAGING SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

A Sketch of Some of the Recent Important Industrial Movements in and Around Charlotte—What has Been Done in Recent Days—Old Towns Changed.

A good deal has been said lately about the boom in the South, and very few of our people are possibly aware of the extent of the boom that has prevailed in and around Charlotte lately. It is a pleasure to contemplate it. Changes have been wrought all around us, and not only Charlotte, but the neighboring towns have been vastly changed in the past few years. They are no longer the slow, "pokey" old towns that we knew them. Money judiciously expended has worked wonders. Statesville is now ashamed of what it used to be. The town has a first-class new hotel, and has only recently established an excellent incandescent light plant, for streets, stores and residences. In addition to this, the town has secured an appropriation for a government building, and work is soon to commence. Another thing Statesville has that is worth talking about is the "Landmark."

Salisbury has caught the infection, and is moving for progress and prosperity in the right way. The citizens have organized in an effort to secure manufacturing enterprises, and a number of new plants will doubtless be the result. Salisbury has grown in a marked degree in the past two years.

Concord is making strides like a young Lowell. It secured water works two years ago, and the wires are now being strung through the town for the incandescent electric light; a street car company has been organized and is already at work. The foundation for a million dollar bag factory has been broken, and three large cotton mills are in operation, one of them having been built during the past year.

Monroe boasts of the finest courthouse in the State, the new Georgia, Carolina and Northern Railroad, and a new iron works and planing mills, as mentioned in yesterday's NEWS.

Hickory has the Inn, one of the finest hotels in Western North Carolina.

Our readers are familiar with what has been done and what is being done in Charlotte. No town or city in the State can show such a record of industrial progress, enterprise and building improvements. Charlotte's record for the past two years is simply unprecedented. Four cotton mills, a cotton seed oil mill, the spoke, handle and rim works, two large iron mills, four or five machine shops, three clothing factories, the knitting mills, and a number of smaller enterprises gives it importance as a manufacturing city; while its elegant wholesale and retail stores, its handsome residences and public buildings, its street cars, electric lights and fine hotels stamp it as a beautiful, prosperous and progressive city. In business, bustle and boom, it can't be touched by either Raleigh or Wilmington. It might be well to state just here that Charlotte has not stopped growing. She has just now got a good start, and inside of ten years we may not have a New York, but will have a metropolis of which North Carolina will be proud.

All the signs seem to point, as we have shown, to an era of industrial enterprise and progress in this immediate section. In fact, this section has just begun to move, and now that it has started, it is a good sign to see everybody inclined to help it along. The territory covered by this article will in a few years be one of the busiest and most prosperous localities in the whole South.

Somason advertises something in THE NEWS that will be of benefit to housekeepers, and will not only save them the trouble of taking up their carpets, but, in some instances, will save them the expense of buying new ones. ANOTHER CASE OF BIGAMY.

Mr. Oliver Endeavoring to Right his Daughter's Wrongs—Proof of the Husband's Guilt Obtained in a Letter from Wife No. 1.

Mr. A. Oliver, who lives at Philadelphia church, in this county, called at the office of Esquire D. G. Maxwell this morning and disclosed a case of bigamy. His daughter, Miss Minnie E. Oliver, was married in 1886 to a traveling photographer named H. A. Benson. Shortly afterwards, rumors reached Mr. Oliver's ears that his son-in-law had another wife living. Benson left Mr. Oliver's daughter in 1887, and when last heard from was at Montgomery, Ga. In the meantime, Mr. Oliver has been searching for the truth concerning Benson's alleged first marriage. Benson denied that he had been married before, but his father, who had been communicated with in the meantime, wrote that his son married young, but had trouble with his wife and had obtained a divorce from her. Mr. Oliver learned that Benson's first wife lived in Statesville. Benson's second wife wrote to her and here is the reply:

STATESVILLE, N. C., Feb. 26, '89.

Miss Oliver—I received your letter several days ago, and at your request I will write you a few lines saying I was married to H. A. Benson about twenty-three years ago, and we lived together only two years and I haven't seen him since. I did not care for a divorce and, therefore, never got one, and I never signed one for him; so you can live with him if you wish.

A. E. BENSON. Mrs. A. E. Benson, Mr. Oliver states, is a sister to Rev. R. M. Miller. Benson is a man of good family, and has one brother in Charlotte and another in this county. Mr. Oliver intends to institute proceedings against him for bigamy.

Last Night's Concert.

Prof. Gaertner's concert at the Y. M. C. A. hall last night, for the benefit of the Lutheran church, was attended by a very large crowd, and proved a most delightful musical treat. Mrs. G. F. Bason's solo, "Habenera," was one of the finest things of the evening, and was most enthusiastically applauded. The piano duet by Mrs. N. Duis and Miss M. Vogel, and the vocal duet by Mrs. N. Duis and Miss M. Duis, were finely rendered. Mr. L. Davies' solo, "Mariner's Home is the Sea," was greatly enjoyed. The programme was exceedingly well selected. Some particularly good renditions were: Piano solo, by Miss Bessie Thomas; piano solo, by Miss Lucy Bacon; aria, by Mrs. S. C. Gaertner; piano solo, by Mrs. N. Duis; "Summer Days," by Misses E. Vogel, E. Duis and M. Duis; "Erl King," by Mr. E. L. Martin; solo, by Miss M. Grimes; "Old Black Joe," by Mrs. C. Valer; piano solo, by Miss M. A. Moore; "Happy Birds," by Miss C. Neisler; cello, "By the Sea," "Nocturne," by Prof. S. C. Gaertner, piano solo, by Miss Florence Allen; solo, by Mr. J. Baker. The chorus was full, strong and well trained. The concert as a whole was a most delightful one, and was the source of real enjoyment to all present. The proceeds footed up $250, which will be turned into the Lutheran church fund.

Charlotte Boys in New York.

Jimnie Newcombe, who used to answer the daily showers of "Hello" at the Charlotte telephone exchange, gives us some points about Charlotte boys in New York. He says: "There are ten of them here, S. W. Maxwell, Joe Rich, Walter Wears, Will Stitt, Banks Meacham, Ed. Pitcher, Geo. Hales, Bev. Hoffman, Charles Query and myself. Maxwell is in the book business; Rich, gent's furnishing; Meacham, furniture; Wears, crockery; Hales, dry goods; Hoffman, at leisure; Pitcher, real estate; Stitt, books; and Newcombe, telegraph inspector. We are all doing a good business, and make a fine, comfortable living. I have just finished reading THE NEWS, and I can truthfully say it is the best paper Charlotte ever had."
