Verdict for a Conductor's Wife.

Mrs. S. J. Ransom, wife of Capt. John Ransom, late conductor on the Air Line between Charlotte and Atlanta, has just been awarded a judgment against the Richmond & Danville road for $10,212.80 damages. Capt. Ransom was killed in an accident near Wolford's station, S. C., about four years ago. Mrs. Ran-A Windy Day in Town.

March came back to give us parting salute to-day. A high wind has prevailed since early morning. The maximum velocity of the wind has been 30 miles an hour. The storekeepers were wise enough to roll in their awnings. The street sprinklers worked hard to keep down the dust, but with only partial success. Great clouds of dust went acurrying through the streets all day.

Conductor Jones' Father Dead.

Capt. Pride Jones this morning received a telegram announcing the death of his venerable father at Hillsboro. Mr. Jones was about 75 years old, and had been sick for some weeks past. He was one of the most prominent men of Hillsboro, and was well known and respected throughout the State. Capt. Jones leaves this evening to attend his tather's funeral.

Whose Bomb is It?

A resident of Ward 1 yesterday brought to THE NEWS office an exploded bomb, which he found on the ground near his home. The bomb consists of a piece of two-inch gas pipe, two feet long, accurely nailed to a block of wood. It is torn in the centre as if it had been pasteboard, and the explosive used must have been dynamite. Battered into the rear end of the tubing were several slugs of lead, some of them weighing two ounces. The iron was rusty and had evidently been ex-ploded a week or so past. It can be seen at THE NEWS office.

Mortuary Report.

The March report of Dr. F. Scarr, emetary keeper, shows that during that month there were as deaths in Charlotte, of which 15 were among the whites and 6 among the colored. Of the 15 laterments in Elmwood cemetery, 5 were of male adults, 4 female adults and 6 shildren. The causes of death were: Apoplexy s, amonia 1, debility 2, old age 1, effection of the bowels 1, rheumatic oma 1, accident 1, cerebral embol-

BALACLAVA.

ONE OF THE SURVIVORS OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

Lives in Charlotte -- An Item in the New Yesterday Brings Him to the Front He Says the Boston Man is an Imposter --- An Entertaining Interview With One of the "Six Hundred."

One of the survivors of Balaclava lives in Charlotte. He has been living here for a year past, and only a few of our people have been made aware of the fact . An item in yesday's News has brought him to the front. The survivor is named Edward Haynes, and he has been doing business in Charlotte and the neighboring towns as a roof painter. He came here about a year ago from St. Louis, where he had lived for some-"Guides." A big lot of the Reach time. The people of St. Louis heard and Spalding has just been opened of his participation in the great battle, and after correspondence established the truthfulness of his statement that he was one of the 600, they presented him with a steel engraving of "The Return of the Remnant," after Charlotte Thompson's celebrated painting. This engraving can be seen at Mr. Haynes' residence in Charlotte. In the battle, Mr. |ed in full, and commenting on it, Mr. Haynes' horse was shot from under him, and he was himself severely wounded.

Speaking of the telegram in THE NEWS about the chief porter of the Boston postoffice claiming to be one of the "Six Hundred" who fought in the charge at Balaclava, Mr. Haynes to-day said to a News reporter: Assuming the press statement to be correct, I am at a loss to understand what is meant by the "Crimean Clasp Medal" presented to the Crimean soldiers by Victoria som sued the company for $25,000. in Hyde Park. I know that the decoration of the Victoria Cross bearing the inscription "For Valor," was presented to soldiers who distinguished themselves during the campaign, (for the order here originated) but no clasp accompanied it.

Every soldier who was in the Crimea before the capture of Sebastopol received the "Crimean Medal" with clasps for the battles in which he may have taken part, for instance "Alma," "Balaclava," "Inker-mans" and "Sebastopol."

If, therefore, a man who fought at Balaclava was not sent to Scutari (opposite Constantinople) or invalided to England, but remained in the front until the fall of the fortress, he would be entitled to three clasps, viz: "Balaclava," "Inkermann," "Sebastopol," together with the "Turkish" medal of the order of the Mediji of the second class.

These medals and clasps were erved out to every man w and regiment of the wearer.

Again, previous to, and for several years after the Crimean war, enlistments were limited to 15 years, so that if a man saw only "to years service on two continents" it would apwould be very improbable for a man to adopt who had passed the ordeal of Balaclava.

As for valor mentioned, in my opinion the soldier who remains steady under fire while in reserve, is the man who exercises a greater degree of fortitude and courage than he who carry one back to the dark days and composes one of a storming party, review memories that are interesting The Cold Wave Play.

Copies of the Democrat Saved from a Fire Revives Memories of the Days of '65--Some Interesting Reminescences

Mr. John Springs Davidson today gave a News reporter two copies of the Western Democrat, dated June 20 and 27, 1865. They represent the earlier days of the Charlotte Democrat of today. The paper was then edited by the late Wm. J. Yates and though it contained only 24 columns, the type and the make up was the same as that of the present Democrat, the smaller and pithy paragraphs being marked by the serfamiliar to the Democrat's readers. Mr. Davidson had complete files of the Democrat, but in the burning of his house, several years ago, they were destroyed. The two copies nentioned happened to have been stuck away in a desk that was saved.

The paper was then worth $4 per year. One of the news items is this: Governors Vance and Letcher are yet confined in the Capitol prison, and have not yet applied for pardon, although it is expected that they will do so."

Holden's proclamation is publish-Yates says: "We publish in today's paper the Proclamation of Wm. W. Holden, Provisional Governor of North Carolina. We suppose this document is merely preliminary to more definite rules and regulations to be promulgated hereafter. The day of election or the day for the meeting of the Convention has not yet been appointed. Inasmuch as the Governor announces that there are no civil magistrates or States officers of any kind in North Carolina, the work of 'reconstruction' will be tedious. It is the duty of every citizen of the State to study carefully the Proclamation of the Governor and the two Proclamations of President Johnson, (which we keep standing in our columns for public intormation,) and inform himself thoroughly as to their requirements. To arrive at a correct understanding, all three documents should be read and examined." Among the advertisements in the Democrat at that day were: J. T. Butler, watchmaker and jeweler; E. Nye Hutchison, Linseed Oil for sale; John Vogel, tailoring; Robert Gibbon, M. D.; Robert F. Davidson, Jas. W. Burroughs, Cotton; J. M. Springs advertises for $5,000 in notes on North Carolina Banks; T. D. Gillespie advertises the Southern Express Co.; Jonathan Worth advertises that he has been appointed treasurer of North Carolina by W. W. SPRING ANNOUNCEMENT.

WE congratulate our customers and triends upon the return of the genial Spring Season. It is always a pleasant relief to exchange the heavier and more sombre apparel of winter for the lighter, and never has fashion set her seal upon goods for the season so attractive and tasteful as they are at the present time. The very best advertisement of our goods would be the goods themselves, could they be sent around for general inspectie. As this is impossible we fall back on the faithful types to assist us describe in some measure the chief feature of our Spring Stock. By way of preliminary we may say that we have brought our long business experience and knowledge of local tastes, to the selection of the goods we offer -and with a result which we hope will be as gratifying to our customers as to ourselves. The extent of our stock is unusually large and the variety offered in styles and the materials are so wide that we think we can scarcely fall of satisfying every intending purchaser. In every department our stock will be found to be complete; nothing having been neglected in our effort to make it the most complete assortment of goods ever offered to the trading public of this locality. In making our selection we have realized that to the quality of the goods sold we must look for the building up of that confidence between buyer and seller so essential to a commercial success and permanence. Our customers will find that in respect to quality of our profits rather than sacrifice the confidence of our customers in the goods we sell. Some rather unusual opportunities have been offered to vatchful buyers to secure bargains in some of the desirable standard lines. These we have taken advantage of and customers will find that our prices are unusually low, relative to the value of the goods we offer. to satisfy all classes of buyers, and our stock therefore includes the variety of grades which have correspondingly varied prices. We desire to be known for cheapness, but we handle no cheap goods, that is to say, we give even in low price grades the very best article the market affords for the money. It is a shortsighted policy for any merchant to make a rep tation for low priced goods at the expense of his reputation for values, article is really CHEAP which will not return the buyer the full value the money expended in its purchase. Our steady aim is to satisfy buyers, not only by alluring bargains, but by the satisfaction that comes in githat wear and stand the test of actual use. In the matter of Noveltie think our stock will leave nothing to be desired. By being early in a gives the buyer the advantage of picking up such seasonable novelties as are soon exhausted, if they prove desirable to purchasers. We commend to our customers our own method, that of early selection, as it follows in to our customers our own method, that or carry schools exhaust cases that the patterns which are most fancied are the soonest exhaust We speak with conviction when we say that we do not think any previous theorem of goods than those to which season has seen a more inviting display of goods than those to which the direct attention and of which we invite your inspection. And we are suthat it will be a matter of general surprise and congratulation among be that we are able to offer so large a choice, and such excellent qualitor prices that are remarkable for their moderation.
