

MISS BETTIE LEE AULT

Becomes the Bride of Dr. Logan Gordon Reid.

Banner, Cleveland, Tenn.

The marriage of Miss Bettie Lee Ault and Dr. Logan Gordon Reid, which was solemnized at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wesley Ault, North Ocoee street, Thursday evening, the twentieth of June, at eight o'clock was one of the most brilliant and beautiful home weddings ever occurring in Cleveland.

The home was most beautifully decorated throughout. In the parlor, where the ceremony was performed an altar was built in the large bay window, which was banked with palms and ferns so effectively massed that their graceful foliage made an artistic background for the wedding party. A special feature was a high arch made of white ribbons with delicate ferns and ivy. From this arch was suspending a large white wedding bell, under which the young couple stood during the ceremony. In the hall-way the colors were green and white, ivy and field daisies being used in profusion. The sitting room and library which are connected by folding doors, were decorated with ivy, pink roses and sweet peas. The color scheme in the dining room was dainty pink and white, rendered by the soft light of pink waxen candles, burning in numerable silver candelabra. Vases of fragrant roses and carnations decorated the side board.

The table cover of white linen with its handsome fall of battenberg and cut work over pink was viewed with admiration by the guests. Upon a dainty centerpiece with a delicate fringe of fern rested a beautiful vase filled with pink carnations. From the chandelier, over which hung a white wedding bell, rows of pink ribbons ending at the table corners in huge bows caught by the crystal candelabra and a single carnation.

While the guests assembled, a delightful musical program was rendered by Miss Ruth Aiken at the piano, accompanied by Mr. Will Horner with the violin.

Promptly at 8 o'clock to the strains of Mendelssohn's ever beautiful wedding march, the bridal party appeared upon the stairway. The first to enter the parlor were Miss Iva Ault, younger sister of the bride, and Mr. W. T. Robinson of Lenoir, N. C., next came Miss Nelle Weaver of Thermal City, N. C., cousin of the groom, and Mr. John Fillauer followed by Miss Lena Ault, oldest sister of the bride and Dr. J. G. Reid of Marion, N. C., brother of the groom. The flower girl, little Irene Knox, who proceeded the bride and groom, scattered roses as she came, looking like a veritable fairy in her dress of pink china silk with pink stockings and slippers. The couples formed a semicircle around the altar of palms and ferns where the officiating minister, Dr. J. A. Stubblefield, met the bride and groom, who entered together. During the impressive ceremony, the beautiful ring service being used, soft tones from the piano and violin strayed caressingly, filling the house with dreamy music changing to Lohengrin's Bridal chorus as Dr. Stubblefield announced Dr. and Mrs. Logan Reid to the waiting assembly who hastened to extend congratulations and good wishes.

It was indeed a beautiful wedding. The bridesmaid's costumes were white embroidered net over pink and they carried huge bouquets of pink carnations tied with maline.

The bonnie bride, gowned in white lace, fashioned princess and trimmed in lace, her bridal veil artistically caught to the crown of her bright brown hair with a chaplet of orange blossoms was a vision of girlish grace and sweetness and her beauty was the admiration of all the invited witnesses to her nuptial vows. She carried bride's roses and maiden hair ferns arranged in a trailing shower.

The groom and groomsmen wore the conventional black with boutonnières of bride's roses.

After the congratulations were over the seventy-five guests were invited into the dining room where a dainty ice course was served. The ices were pink hearts with ornamentations of white Cupids. A bevy of pretty girls in dainty frocks of white, consisting of Misses Maud Weaver of Thermal City, N. C., Mata Newton of Knoxville, Anna Bowman, Florence Anderson, Essie McNabb and Jessie Keys served the guests while Margaret Fillauer and Lillie Keys served fruit punch. The corner where the punch bowl was placed was a perfect bower of potted plants and cut flowers.

The bride is the second of the three attractive daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ault. Being of the beautiful blonde type, charmingly naive in personality, bright of mind lovable of disposition and of unusual musical ability, she has occupied a nook in the hearts of her countless friends peculiarly her own.

The groom is the youngest son of the late Capt. Joseph Reid of Georgia, and is a young man of fine character, integrity and true worth, a popular dentist of Lenoir N. C. and the center of a large circle of staunch friends.

Those present were given an opportunity to view the handsome array of presents which were placed in the dining room. The gifts received were magnificent. Besides an elegant Chickering grand piano, the gift of the groom, and a full chest of silver, many artistic designs in cut glass, silver, china and beautiful linen lace work and bric-a-brac of every description attested to the popularity of the young couple.

Mrs. Reid changed her wedding dress for a traveling suit of grey with hat, gloves and shoes to match.

At 10 o'clock Dr. and Mrs. Reid amid showers of rice were driven to the depot where a large number of kinspeople and friends waved farewell as the Southern train pulled out for Asheville, Jamestown, Washington, New York, Saratoga, Niagra Falls and other points of interest.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment, which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

The Luncheon of a Poet.

Eugene Field, sad of countenance and ready of tongue, once strayed into a New York restaurant and seated himself for luncheon. A voluble waiter came to Field and said: "Coffee, tea, chocolate, ham-eggs-beef-steak-mutton-chop-fish-balls-hash-'n'-beans," and much more to the same purpose.

Field looked at him long and solemnly, and at last replied: "Oh, friend, I want none of these things. All I want is an orange and a few kind words."

The Master Turtle and a Master Fish Story.

San Diego, Cal., Dispatch, 22nd.

One of the puzzles of the sea came to the surface yesterday, when a gigantic sea turtle was captured by Julius Solissa, a fisherman. The monster weighs 1,902 pounds and its shell is five feet two inches from tip to tip. On its back is burned or carved this inscription: "British ship Sea Brine, August 12, 1881, 3 South 86 West. If found, please notify Thomas Fletcher, Brawley Road, Rivington England."

It would appear from this fact that the turtle was captured 26 years ago in the south Pacific and that it was released after the lettering had been burned in its shell.
