Seeking Easy Paths.

Baptist Commonwealth.

We are too much given in these days to the seeking of easy paths. We do it at the beginning for our children. Everything that would seemingly test them or cause them to endure aught of hardness is taken out of their way. When we come to their education we follow the same plan. All their studies must be made interesting and almost everything is sacrificed to that. Anything savoring of study, of work is ignored. The same system follows into collegiate circles. We have been forming elective courses guided by this principle. The result that might be looked for has almost inevitably followed. The easy path has for the most part been taken that is the line of least resistance. The same principle is to be discerned in the reading of the present time. We read newspapers and magazines and light fiction ad infinitum; we do not however, grapple with that which demands thought. The process has been carried on so long that in the case of many the power of thought is radically weakened. Someone said in the writer's presence the other day that it is questionable whether nine tenths of those who read would be able to master such a piece of work as Butler's Analogy. The same influence is to be seen in connection with lecturers and sermons. Anything demanding real thought is listened to impatiently and that which is interesting is demanded. The truth of the matter is we have been and we seeking easy paths in our methods of education and in the area of reading and thought. We have to a large extent been feeding on pap and lading it out with a spoon, not giving much time to the digestion of even that. It may be popular, but it is needful to call attention to this which constitutes a real weakness at the present time. The easy thing is not the best thing always, either of childhood or manhood. It takes often times that which is arduous, which demands strenuousness to produce fibre, character. It will not be amiss for us to think of this

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by J. E. Shell, Dr. Kent and Granite Falls Drug Co.

She Quit Her Coffin.

Exchange. Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 28.—Relatives of Mrs. Fred Hartsell, wife of a farmer living near Hantington, were bemoaning her death over her coffin a few minutes before the minister arrived to conduct the last rites, when she suddenly sat up, and, with a dazed look, climbed out.

There was a rush of mourners for the open air, windows being used as exits. The mourners were terror-stricken and the minister swooned when a pale-faced woman over whose remains he had been called to conduct services, met him at the door.

Bryan and The Average Man.

Philadelphia Ledger.

William J. Bryan started his winter campaign of discourses with an address at Richmond on "The Average Man," in which the expressed approval of the American average man as against all others met in his recent travels.

A speculative philosopher is not to be condemned to rigid consistency. Yet it may be fairly asked, Why has Mr. Bryan never politically appealed to the American average man? No Bryan incitement has ever been addressed even to the average man of his own party. Nowhere has the average American's wishes or welfare been in the Bryan talk. He won a nomination by the wildest riot of appeal to an extreme class which was then in high fever. Nothing average or normal entered his view. All productive effort by average men he has drenched with the rotting acid of his agitation. The highest Bryan hope for ten years has been the business devastation in which the average man might be excited to socialistic discontent by the grinding of poverty against the faces of family.

Mr. Bryan is not ethically a pestilence, because he believes more or less in the truth and beneficence of his teachings; but he does not feel responsibility for his words. That much is evident from the easy consistency with which he discards one theory for its opposite—the tariff for silver, silver for anti-imperialism, anti-imperialism for the referendum, the referendum for states, rights, and so on to the end of changing political temptations. Of all men before the fore the public, Bryan is the last to call himself the champion of the average man. He has no care for the average man, and the average man does not vote for him. The Bryan bait is always a picture of destruction, conceived in socialistic radicalism and painted in expectation of the time of upheaval.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent. of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs, cannot do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by J. E. Shell, Dr. Kent and Granite Falls Drug Company.

The Remarkable Mr. Roosevelt.

Norfolk Landmark.

What a remarkable man Mr. Roosevelt is! He is interested in more things, by many times, than anybody who ever before sat in the presidential chair, or than anybody, perhaps, who has held a position of similar public responsibility in any part of the world. This is one of the traits that give him his strong hold upon the people, because it makes him a constant source of interest to them. Custom does not stale his infinite variety. An instance in point is found in a dispatch from Delta, La., dated last Friday, to the effect that the President, "buried in the jungles" on his hunting trip, had sent a special messenger to the nearest town to get news of the progress of the baseball contests between the Chicago and Detroit teams. The dispatch said that the sympathy of Mr. Roosevelt and his party was with the Detroit nine, because it seemed to be "the under dog" in the fight. There must have been mourning in camp when the Sunday papers got there with the report of Chicago's fourth and decisive victory.

If taken patiently and persistently will relieve the most obstinate cases of indigestion, constipation, bad blood, bad liver no matter how long standing. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Dr. Kent and Granite Falls Drug Co.

Education In The South.

Southern Field.

The educational progress of the South is keeping even pace with the mighty industrial growth. The free public school system has penetrated every section. The cities and towns enjoy graded schools and higher institutions equal in every respect with those existing in places of the same size in the North. Free libraries will be found in nearly every community, while in many of the towns free textbooks are supplied to children of all classes.

The colleges and private schools of the South have always enjoyed a high reputation and it is still maintained.

The State Universities, Agriculture Colleges and State Experiment Stations of the South rank with the best in the Union. Georgia has just established an agricultural college in each Congressional district, the first State in the Union to take this advanced step in behalf of the farm life.

Churches of all the leading denominations are found in the South, and the principal secret, fraternal and benevolent organizations are represented in every Southern State. In no section is there a higher regard for the sanctity of the home.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by J. E. Shell's Drug Store.

J. D. Bryan was in town last week and had with him a very edged tool, the bowl of a common dirt shovel, that he bought of David Lookabill 50 years ago, he having purchased the same at the sale of James Cavis, grandfather of H. A. Davis. The shovel is a very crude, hand-made affair, and was brought from Germany. Mr. Bryan seems to prize the aged relic very much.—Waukeaga Democrat.
