

FISH THAT GLOW.

Some Deep Sea Creatures Able to Shed a Phosphorescent Light.

The inhabitants of the ocean vary in many respects, according to the depth at which they live, but most of all in their powers of vision. Fish that live at very great depths have either no eyes at all or enormously big ones. There are two methods of getting about in the gloomiest abysses—by delicate organs of touch and by sight—that collect the few rays of light due to phosphorescence or other accidental sources.

The fish which live near the top of the ocean have smaller eyes than those say eighty fathoms down. One hundred and twenty fathoms deeper, where daylight disappears, the eyes are bigger still. Beyond the depth of 200 fathoms small eyes prevail, with long feelers to supplement them.

At this depth, in fact, sight is practically useless. In the greatest abysses the fish are usually blind, feeling their way about solely by means of their sensitive bodies. Some indeed show signs externally of having once possessed eyes, but that is all.

In others—the oldest and most confirmed abysmal species—the eye has disappeared altogether externally, though traces of it are still to be recognized, embedded deeply in the tissues of the head.

Many deep sea fish have a curious system of hollows in the skull or about the body which hold a kind of phosphorescent slime. Others have round or oval shining opalescent spots, placed on the head or along the body or tail.

All of them are abundantly supplied with nerves, and they are apparently organs for the production of phosphorescent light. If so, such a fish must swim about surrounded by a faint glow, somewhat like that thrown by luminous paint.

One scientist even suggests that these fish may have the power of directing their rays in any direction, like a searchlight.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Devonshire Joke.

A few days ago a Devonshire showman played a practical joke at Barnstable. As the country folk passed his tent they were interested at seeing the following notice: "Come and see the musical dog; admission twopence." Naturally a good many people paid their twopences and entered the tent, which was empty save for a big dog wearing a large metal collar, but no "musical dog" was visible. At last impatience mastered curiosity, and one of the audience asked the showman when the performance was going to begin. He seemed much surprised at the question and made for the tent door. Once there and in easy reach of the open ground, he pointed to the dog in the tent, saying: "Why, that's the musical dog. Can't you see the brass band around his neck?"

Peace on Earth.

Have you ever thought seriously of the meaning of that blessing given to the peacemakers? People are always expecting to get peace in heaven. But you know whatever peace they get there will be ready made. Whatever making of peace they can be blessed for must be on the earth here; not the taking of arms against, but the building of nests amid its "sea of troubles" (like the halcyons).

Difficult enough, you think? Perhaps so, but I do not see that any of us try. We complain of the want of many things—we want votes, we want liberty, we want amusement, we want money. Which of us feels or knows that he wants peace?—John Ruskin.

Astonishing Information.

Two men wrote to the editor of a correspondence column of a magazine, Mr. A. asking what to do for teething babies and Mr. C. asking how to get rid of grasshoppers. The editor in answering got the names mixed, so the man asking about babies got the reply:

"If you want to get rid of the little pests cover them up with grass and set fire to it."

And the one who asked about the grasshoppers got the reply:

"If they are teething, give them a warm bath and rub their gums with boneseed every day."—Judge's Library.

Easy Practicing.

Mrs. Fizzlepop has been making an earnest effort to induce her son Johnny to learn to play the piano. A few days ago Mrs. Fizzlepop called upstairs:

"Why aren't you practicing your piece, Johnny?"

"I am."

"You are not. You haven't touched the piano for the last half hour."

"I've been practicing all the same. There are pauses in the march, and I am practicing them over and over until I know them perfectly."—Pearson's Weekly.

Shake it well.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals at and bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home at small cost.

Druggists in this town and vicinity when shown the prescription, stated that they can either supply these ingredients, or, if our readers prefer, they will compound the mixture for them.

Roosevelt's public utterances may be equivalent to the "Marsellaise" in music to a man who is tone blind. To others they sound very ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ayish.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol For Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs.; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity will be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904."

W. H. CLOYD.

The New York Sun characterizes Roosevelt as a "polypragmon." Malefactors understand by this that he is a restless buzz-saw or a nervous switch engine.

Kodol is today the best known reliable remedy for all disorders of the stomach, such as dyspepsia, heart burn, sour stomach and belching of gas. Kodol contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Kodol is pleasant to take. It is guaranteed to give relief and sold by J. E. Shell, Dr. Kent and Granite Falls Drug Co.
