BOBBY'S CHANCE.

He Returned From the Party Bringing His Sheaves With Him.

Little Robert, aged four, presented his mother with a large sized shock the other day. It was a case of sowing a mild little breeze and reaping a full grown whirlwind.

Robert is Mrs. B.'s first and has always had a large front seat in her affections. Even when Mrs. B. attended parties she remembered Robert and would slip a bit of candy into her handkerchief to carry home to him.

Not that Robert did not have as much candy of his own as was good for him—and more, too—but he took an awed delight in anything which came from a party. So his mother always produced some souvenir of her modest social dissipations with which to satisfy Robert.

A few weeks ago Robert himself went to a party, his very first. A maid brought him home and left him, together with a large paper bag, in the eager arms of his welcoming mother. The first rapture of description had scarcely begun when Mrs. B. became conscious of the bulky bag.

"Why, Robert, what's this?"
"It's for you. I brought it to you from the party."

With some misgiving Mrs. B. opened the bag. It contained a large orange, nuts, candy, grapes, cakes—in fact, a very respectable assortment of refreshments suited to the juvenile taste.

Robert had supposed it was quite the usual thing to take little consoled items to the uninvited members of one's family, and he had taken a generous delight in securing a truly noble collection for his mother.

That lady faced the double problem of explaining the situation to Robert's hostess and of presenting to Robert a clear reason why what was sauce for the goose, so to speak, was a totally different thing for the gander. The explanation, which simmered down, of course, to a question of size or quantity was far from being clear to Robert, who is low in his mind and thinks he does not care for society at all.—New York Sun.

What David Said.

A country clergyman kept a young servant lad. One Sunday morning before service he gave him his orders about the dinner and said:

"Go to neighbor David and ask him for me to let you have some on a trip on credit, and then prepare me a nice plateful."

The lad did as he was told, and the clergyman went to conduct the service. As he stood in the pulpit he called out in the middle of his sermon:

"And on this subject, brethren, what does David say?"

At that moment his little valet stepped into the church, and, in the belief that his master was addressing him, he replied:
"Please, sir, he says, 'No money, no tripe.'"—London Answers.

Appropriate Sentiment.

Many years ago the energetic Professor Schwarz was conducting a musical society. They were studying Mendelssohn's "Elijah" and had reached the chorus, "Hear us, O Lord; hear, O Lord, our prayer."

The men's voices were booming out sonorously when the conductor cried out: "No, no! De dreadful vowel! Don't say B-a-l-e. Soften a leetle. Give de more musical sound—Ball!"

Whereupon the chorus took up the strain again, "Hear us Bawl—hear us Bawl!" But they quickly realized the peculiar fitness of the sentiment and broke down in laughter, to the great amazement of the little German, who never saw the joke, but who returned reluctantly to the old pronunciation.

Egg Dishes.

An odd combination of breakfast codfish balls and eggs is prepared in this way: Make the fish balls flat and fry them brown. Poach some eggs in rings, and when done slip one on each ball.

Egg balls are an attractive breakfast or luncheon dish. The eggs are boiled hard and the whites removed. Some minced ham is mixed with white sauce and seasoned with a little dry mustard and spread on rounds of toast, and one ball is put on each slice, and more white sauce, mixed with the chopped whites, is poured around.—Harper's Bazar.

No Liberties.

"Well, said Edith's mother when the child arrived home from the tea party, 'did you have a good time?'
"Yes, thank you, mamma."
"And did you play nice games?"
"Yes, mamma."
"And did you have a nice tea?"
"Yes, mamma."
"I hope, Edith, that you behaved yourself like a little lady. You did not take any liberties, did you?"
"No, mamma. There wasn't any on the table."

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.
Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.
The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches through the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerves, all tissues, and all blood ailments.
Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
The "Night Cure" as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weakness and discharges, while the Restorative, seeks nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well
