Died on last Wednesday, with typhoid fever, the 5 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Prestwood, and on Thursday the little body was taken to the burying ground at Kings Creek church and there buried. Rev. J. G. Benfield conducted the services.

The New Train Service.

The new train service inaugurated by the Carolina & North Western Railway, is meeting with the most hearty approval by all our people and every one is loud in praises of the management of the road for the progressive step taken. Monday morning the Charlotte and Greensboro Dailies were received here at 8:25 a. m., a thing that has never been the good fortune of Lenoirites to enjoy before. The first new train went out yesterday morning on time with a goodly number of passengers and we predict it will be well patronized.

New Baptist Church.

The new Lenoir First Baptist Church was formally opened for services last Sunday, when the pastor, Rev. J. O. Fulbright, preached to a large congregation, at 11 o'clock. The church is a beauty in design and construction an edifice of which the whole town as well as the large Baptist congregation my feel justly proud. The interior arrangement is modern and convenient, with especially fine acoustical properties. The lowest tones can be distinctly heard and the music is especially pleasing and distinct. It is seated throughout with comfortable oak pews which with the modern raised floor makes it an ideal house of worship.

Caldwell Association.

The annual session of the Caldwell County Baptist Association held last week at Collettsville, was well attended, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather and the meeting was one of great helpfulness and interest. Rev. I. W. Thomas was chosen Moderator and Mr. J. R. Swanson Clerk. The reports of the various committees showed much progress being made by this great denomination in this county. The sessions were marked by harmony and enthusiasm and the visiting delegates and others are loud in their praises of the nice entertainment extended them by the good people of Collettsville and vicinity. The people of Lenoir will be pleased to learn that the next meeting of the Association will be held in Lenoir, September 1913.

Many a man who has never hurled himself into the deadly breach is still bold enough to take home unexpected company to dinner.

No man can be successful without hearing a lot of references to the luck of fools.

The careful man begins at the bottom of the ladder and climbs up, the fool begins at the top and slides down.

There are some men who take such a broad view of every public question that they stand on both sides of it.

Teddy is coming to New Orleans. It's hot enough already without any more "hot air."

They say that every man has his price, but we know some men who give themselves away.

OUR PRESIDENTS.

Only One Impeachment and but Two Resolutions of Censure.

Andrew Johnson was the only president of the United States ever impeached, and on the trial before the senate he was acquitted, the vote in favor of conviction barely falling short of the necessary two-thirds.

Two resolutions of censure on the president have been passed, once by the senate and once by the house, on occasions when the hostile majority was not large enough either to pass measures over the president's veto or to impeach him.

The first was passed by the senate on March 28, 1834, censuring President Andrew Jackson for alleged violation of the constitution and laws by his removal of the government deposits from the United States bank. The majority of the senate was opposed to Jackson in his war upon that bank, and this vote of censure was the only thing they could do about it. Jackson protested against this resolution as a charge to answer which no opportunity could be afforded him. The senate refused to receive the protest. Finally, on Jan. 16, 1837, the resolution of censure was expunged from the journal of the senate.

The second resolution of censure was in a report adopted by the house from the house committee to which President John Tyler's message vetoing the tariff bill of 1842 had been referred. This report censured the president for alleged improper use of the veto power. Tyler protested against this, as Jackson had done before him, but he had, as a member of the senate, voted against receiving Jackson's protest, and in answer to his protest the house sent him a copy of the senate resolution on the former occasion.

The Longest Word.

"What is the longest word in the English language?" asked Uncle Tom.

"Valetudinarianism," I suppose," replied James, who had taken a prize in spelling.

"No," spoke up Susie; "it's 'smiles,' because there is a whole mile between the first and last letters."

"I know one," said Jack, "that has over three miles between its first and last letters."

"What word is that?" asked Uncle Tom.

"Boleaguered," cried Jack triumphantly.

"I know one," said Philip, "that is longer than that. 'Transcontinental' has a whole continent between its beginning and ending."

"Interoceanic' beats them all," exclaimed Elsie, "for it contains an ocean, and an ocean is larger than any continent."—Lippincott's.

British Military Bulls.

Some queer, quaint efforts at composition have been made by British officers. A certain major ordained this: "Reveille will be at 3:30 a. m. The brigade will parade at 4 a. m. The brigade will move at 4:15 a. m. The sun will rise at 5 a. m." It was during the guerrilla war of 1901-2, after the building of the blockhouses, that it became necessary to check the habit of the men of sleeping outside the blockhouses for the sake of coolness and comfort. A certain staff officer thereupon issued the following quaint order: "No one is permitted to sleep outside the blockhouses except the sentries." Though the intention of this order is clear, its phraseology is not. "Men on outpost duty are forbidden to strike matches on the sky line."—London Standard.

Flattering.

"My name is Bilkey," said the stranger to the moving picture theater proprietor. "I'm Bilkey the composer. I understand you are using my illustrated song, 'When the Sun Slips Down Behind the Dusky Hills'."

"Why, yes," the proprietor replied. "We found it was just the song we wanted."

"Thanks, thanks!" cried the delighted author.

"Yes," the proprietor continued. "We needed something to get the audience out between our half hour shows, and your song emptied the house quicker than anything else we ever tried."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

She Was Not Consulted.

A girl forced by her parents into a disagreeable match with an old man, whom she detested, when the clergyman came to that part of the service where the bride is asked if she consents to take the bridegroom for her husband, said, with great simplicity:

"Oh, dear, no, sir, but you are the first person who has asked my opinion about the matter!"—London Tit-Bits.

Misenheimer's Slayer Gets Two Year Sentence.

Charlotte, Sept. 28: Claude Blackwell, was this afternoon found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for the killing of Dr. Fred Misenheimer in a room at the Buford hotel, May 25.

Evidence in the case was to the effect that Blackwell and Misenheimer and several other men had been drinking, playing cards and otherwise carousing and a fight followed. Misenheimer, so it was claimed by the defense, attacked Blackwell with a plumber's plunge stick, and Blackwell stabbed Misenheimer, death resulting ten days later.

Both persons are prominent in their respective cities and the trial has attracted a great deal of interest. Eminent counsel appeared on both sides, and the case was hard fought throughout.

Notice of appeal to the Supreme court was given and Blackwell was released under $4,000 bond.

Some men, after turning over a new leaf, seem to get some bad advice on the new page.
