Mr. J. W. Harrell of Kinston was in Greenville Sunday.

Rev. B. W. Spillman of Kinston came over Saturday to see his brother Mr. J. B. Spillman, who has just returned from a hospital in Baltimore. Mr. Spillman's friends are glad that his health is being restored.

Rev. and Mrs. George Mathes of Clinton who have been visiting Mrs. Lula Fleming left Saturday.

Miss Agnes Dixon of Ayden spent Sunday visiting Miss Minnie Rives.

Mr. Josiah Dixon Dead.

Mr. Josiah Dixon, one of the oldest citizens of Greenville died this afternoon at about 1 o'clock. He had been in bad health for some time, being confined to his room for almost a year. When a young man he was struck on the chest by a log at a log rolling, which injured his left lung causing him much trouble. This trouble became much worse during the past few years owing to his age which was nearly 78.

He was born and raised in Greene county near Farmville, moving to Greenville about fifteen years ago. He was twice married, his second wife who survive him was before her marriage Miss Etta Exums of Greene county. He was a member of a large family of which five brothers and sisters survive him.

Mr. Dixon was a very industrious and hard working man. He had amassed a comfortable fortune before coming to Greenville and has since this time been looking after his farming interests.

He served during the whole four years of the war and made a good record. He was a member of Whitford's regiment.

The funeral will be preached by Rev. J. J. Walker, pastor of the Christian church of which Mr. Dixon was a member. The remains will be taken to the old home place on the early train tomorrow for interment in the family burying ground.

RECITAL FOR BENEFIT

OF Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. of the Training School hopes to realize enough money from Mrs. Doak's recital to increase materially the fund to send delegates to the Summer Y. W. C. A. Conference at Blue Ridge. Each year the Training School has sent delegates. This is always a source of very great help. These delegates get in close touch with the Y. W. C. A. work and pass on to others what the association here is doing. Raising money for this is indeed a worthy cause.

The recital will be in the auditorium of the Training School on Monday evening, January 11th, 8:30 p. m.

The admission will be twenty-five cents, and tickets may be secured at the door.

Two members were secured by letter in the Baptist church Sunday night.

The good weather is improving the condition of streets and roads.

The new policemen are on their job. The interior of the building formerly used as a drug store by the late Mr. McG. Ernul, is being renovated into an office for Mr. H. B. Harris.

The ladies of the Round Table will meet with Mrs. T. M. Hooker Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

To Call Police.

Beginning with tonight two police officers will be on duty at night. One of these officers will be on patrol duty and the other stationed at the city hall when he may be reached by calling telephone number 1. These officers will alternate in doing patrol and fixed post duty but one of them may always be secured by calling the above number.

Recital at the Training School by Mrs. Frances Renfrow Doak.

Time 8:30 o'clock
Admission 25 cents
Tickets on sale at the door.

Great Britain in Reply Claims She Has Done No Wrong

Washington, D. C. Jan. 11.—Great Britain's preliminary reply to the protest of the United States against interruption of American commerce by the British fleet was made public here and in London today by mutual agreement between the State Department and the British foreign office.

The British not concurs in the view of the United States that commerce between neutral nations should be interfered with only when absolutely necessary and officials here constructed it as conceding that the principles expressed by the American protest were just.

The only formal comment was this statement, issued by Secretary Bryan: "This answer being preliminary and not being intended as a complete reply we will postpone comment until the full answer is received."

Briefly, the British reply while conceding the principles on which the American contentions are based points out difficulties in actual practices by shippers and cites statistics, refers to alleged fraudulent practices showing an increase rather than a decline in certain neutral commerce in support of Great Britain's suspicions that Germany and Austria have been directly obtaining contraband through neutral countries.

The note promises, however that Great Britain will make redress whenever the action of the British fleet may unintentionally exceed the limits of international law.

Though officials were reserved in their comment, it was said authoritatively tonight that they regard the tone of the note as entirely friendly and believe that further discussion which will follow it will be carried on in the same vein.

Admission by Great Britain by one of the chief points in the American note—that the relations between neutral were those of normal times of peace and not of war—was gratifying to officials who believed the controversy now would resolve itself into a frank discussion of what were the actual necessities which impel interference by a belligerent when suspecting that the ultimate destination of a neutral cargo is belligerent territory.

TO GIVE "POLLY OF THE CIRCUS"

At The Training School on Monday Evening January 11th.

Instead of the miscellaneous program, as stated in Friday's paper, Mrs. Francis Renfrow Doak will give a recital of Margaret Mayo's famous play "Polly of the Circus." Mrs. Doak says, "I have cut it to one and a half hours, and it makes altogether the finest program I ever gave."

Polly of the Circus is a charming play. Those who have never seen the play will welcome the opportunity to hear the story, and those who have seen it as a play will be interested to hear it as a reading, and get Mrs. Doak's interpretation.

Ohio Inaugurates New Governor.

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—Following a big parade of military and civil bodies of the state, the inauguration of Frank Bartlett Willis as Governor of Ohio took place today. The parade was the one public event of the day for the inaugural ball was omitted, at the request of the new Governor, who seeks to do away with pomp and ceremony in public events.

General John C. Speaks was Marshall of the parade which started at 1 o'clock this afternoon. On a stand erected on the north side of Capital Square were the new Governor and members of his official family. The inauguration ceremony was attended by notables of the state and federal government. The governor, who recently resigned his seat in Congress has prepared a strong inaugural message, with many recommendations that he has gathered in his long experience in public life.

Exit Saloon Men as Solons.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 11.—When the new Common Council organizes tomorrow, the saloon-keepers who usually dominate that body will be well weeded out. Only two keepers of bar-rooms will be present, whereas last year there were eight of them. In previous years there were usually from six to nine saloon men on the board. Since last year four of the eight aldermen saloon-keepers retired from the liquor business and three others of them were defeated in the recent election.

May Get Suffrage Vote Tomorrow.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Representative Henry, chairman of the House Rules Committee, planning to put before Congress tomorrow the proposed suffrage constitutional amendment for limited debate, and a vote. Suffrage leaders are here in force expecting to witness a victory for their cause.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 9.—Nawa Singh, a Hindu, will be hanged here on Monday for shooting William Hopkinson a Canadian immigration inspector, in the corridor of the courthouse in October last. Singh was found guilty and sentenced within nine days of the murder. The inspector was active in preventing the landing of several hundred Hindus from a steamer which had been chartered by a countryman of theirs to test the British Columbia exclusion laws.

SHOES YESTERDAY AND TODAY

Products of the Modern Last Hardly Justify the Poet's Somewhat Contemptuous Phrase.

The poet Whittier selected the shoe as the symbol of maturity, the passing of youth. "The prison cells of pride" was the phrase in which he described shoes, in that homely poem, with Puritanic tones, "The Barefoot Boy."

The announcement that the United States government will purchase nearly $100,000 worth of shoes in St. Louis for the Indian tribes that constitute the wards of Uncle Sam within our own borders tells the story, in bald and unvarnished terms, of the Indian's graduation from the class of infancy, and his achieving of man's estate.

Gone is the moccasin, together with the wigwam and the unsurveyed wastes of prairie and forest. The shoe has made its appearance.

Getting back to Whittier's phrase, "the prison cells of pride," we may hint that the shoes of the Quaker poet's day were not made in St. Louis. They were often made by the individual, who was his own shoemaker, working with the leather he had probably tanned himself.

Perhaps here and there an excellent shoe resulted from that individual method of workmanship; but it needs but a slight exercise of the imagination to convince us that as a rule a shoe was terribly and wonderfully made under the old processes. They must have been ill-fitting, often—and an ill-fitting shoe is far more than a "prison cell of pride." It is an instrument of torture.—St. Louis Times.

Prawn Their "Cracked Ice." Broadway, near Fortys-second street, New York, always in July is known as "Hocking valley." You see, most of the actors and actresses have been out of work for a few weeks, and during the month of July it is a case of all going out and nothing coming in, with the result that they are "hocking their cracked ice."

Diamonds are the savings banks of all Broadway talent, and they are the next best thing to real money when their owners are broke. Nearly every theatrical person hits hardpan in July. They may need only a few hundred beans to tide them over until they sign up and it's easy to slip off a ring or stickpin and get the kale from the "uncle" that they are visiting in "Hocking valley."

He firmly believed that the years spent in school were far more important in the formation of character than all the many years spent afterwards. There was one way in which the character of a man best showed itself, and that was by his manners.

New Oregon Governor.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 11.—The inauguration of Dr. James Withycombe as Governor of Oregon today brought about a change from Democratic to Republican rule. Governor Oswald West, who retires after a notable administration, has smoothed the way for his successor, with whom he consulted regarding appointments for the coming year.
