FOUR YEARS A FUGITIVE

DYNAMITER IS ARRESTED

New York, Feb. 13—Matthew A. Schmidt, 34 years old was arrested here tonight as a fugitive from justice on an indictment found in Los Angeles in October, 1910, charging him with having been implicated in dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. The arrest was made on upper Broadway where detectives had traced him after a search of four years.

Detective William J. Burns who accompanied the officer making the arrest, said the indictment charges that Schmidt was one of several men who went with J. B. McNamara to the works of the Giant Powder Company, in California and purchased 1,000 pounds of dynamite.

Schmidt was held without bail until February 24th to await extradition.

When arraigned before Magistrate McQuade the prisoner said he was a mechanic 34 years old but refused to answer the other customary questions. After the arraignment, however the magistrate said the man had confessed to him in his chambers that he was Matthew A. Schmidt as alleged to the Los Angeles indictment.

ALWAYS THE WORLD'S WAY

Possessor of Wealth More Thought of Than the Man of Virtuous Worth.

A young merchant went abroad, and after many years, having a large fortune, returned to his native land.

When he reached home, he found that his relations had gone to a feast at a country house a few miles away. He was so eager to see them that he did not take the trouble to change his clothes, and was wearing the things he had used on board ship coming home.

When he entered the large hall where the guests were all assembled his cousins showed very little pleasure at the sight of him. It was plain to them that he had come back a poor man.

A young negro who had accompanied him from abroad was quite upset by their coolness to his master, and said: "They must all be very bad men to receive you so cruelly."

"Wait a minute," whispered the merchant, "and you will see a change in their looks."

He quietly put a fine diamond ring on his finger, and lo! every face began to smile, and they pressed at once around him and called him "Cousin William."

"Has a simple gold ring the power to charm people like this?" asked the black servant in perplexity.

"It is not that," replied his master; "but the ring is worth a good sum, and they guess from it that I am rich, and riches are dearer to them than anything."

"What deluded men!" exclaimed the negro. "They think more of yellow metal and a piece of glass than all my master's virtues and loving kindness."

WIFE'S DREAM A LUCKY ONE

English "Coster" Accepted Omen and Was Well Rewarded for His, to Him, Daring Venture.

On Sunday morning before the Derby of 1873 a coster named Timson was awakened by his wife singing out lustily in her sleep, "The boy in yaller wins the day"—an old-time popular song. Timson gave Sal a thump and told her to shut up, and, both being now wide awake, asked what all the row meant.

"I dreamt I was on Epsom Downs," she said, "and saw a jockey in yaller pass all the others, while the crowd shouted, 'The boy in yaller wins the day.' If there's a jockey in yaller on Derby day, Ned, I'd put a bit on him if I was you."

Ned again advised her to keep a still tongue, but the dream had its effect on him. On the great day he saw during the preliminary canter that the jockey riding Doncaster was in yellow—Mr. Merry's colors—so he put all the money he had (30 shillings) on the "yellow boy," and pocketed 60 golden sovereigns for his pluck.

It was the making of him. He bought a new horse and cart and christened the former Yellow Boy, while Sal had reason to exult about her dream—London Tit-Bits.

Dog Saved Lives of Family.

Extraordinary sagacity on the part of a canal boat dog saved the lives of a family of three on board at midnight. They were asleep in their cabin bunks on a barge lying off Wheelock, near Sandbach, in Cheshire, England, when the man in charge of the boat, John Meredith, was awakened by the animal springing on the bed and barking. Meredith, still in a somnolent state, knocked the animal off, but in doing so discovered there was a big rush of water, and that the boat was fast sinking. The terrified man aroused his wife and child, and the three only just managed to scramble from the cabin and gain the embankment when the boat sank, Meredith being compelled to wade through water which was up to his waist, with the child in his arms. It is believed that the foundering was due to a heavy load of iron bars, which caused a portion of the bottom of the barge to give way. Hundreds of persons visited the spot to see the bed clothing, pots, pans, and other domestic articles floating on the water. Later the boat was raised after her cargo had been removed.

Accounted for Bad Luck.

When you see the new moon for the first time they say you should turn the money in your pockets. But it is no good doing so if you see it through glass.

This means a month of bad luck for you, and an instance of this belief was given the other day, when a burglar who appeared before the bench attributed his capture to the fact that he had caught a glimpse of the new moon through the window of the shop where he was "working," plying his exciting trade.

Curiously enough, he got "a month."

Troubles of a Prophet.

In a certain town the local forecaster of the weather was so often wrong that his predictions became a standing joke, for he was very sensitive. At length, in despair of living down his reputation, he asked headquarters to transfer him to another station.

A brief correspondence ensued.

"Why," asked headquarters, "do you wish to be transferred?"

"Because," the forecaster promptly replied, "the climate doesn't agree with me."—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Greenville Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Greenville citizen says:

Mrs. A. S. Jenkins, 1112 Cotanche St., Greenville, Says: "About three years ago my kidneys began to give me trouble. My back ached all the time and I had dizzy headaches, during which objects floated before my eyes. I was restless during the night and had to get out of bed and sit up to rest my back. The least cold settled on my kidneys. The secretions from my kidneys were too frequent in passage and annoyed me considerably. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in the papers, I procured a supply at Bryan's Drug Store. This medicine proved of great benefit, strengthening my back and relieving the other symptoms of kidney complaint."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Jenkins had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
