

The Carolina Home and Farm and Eastern Reflector

(Once a Week)
Published by THE REFLECTOR COMPANY, Inc.
D. J. WICHARD, Editor.
GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Subscription one year $1.00
Six months75
Advertising rates may be had upon application at the business office in The Reflector Building, corner Beans and Third streets.
All cards of thanks and resolutions of respect will be charged for at 1 cent per word.

Communications advertising candidates will be charged for at three cents per line, up to fifty lines.
Published as second class matter August 26, 1910, at the post office at Greenville, North Carolina, under act of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1915.

Woodrow is some winner, alright.

If some preacher what they preached there would be flowers to be advised.

One Theodore Terrible Roosevelt had nothing of Punha as a wind blower.

The average present day school girls piano playing could not be regarded as dream music.

He is indeed wise that keeps his head during the days of the world conflict and the World's Series.

It is lots nicer to be pointed at as a good example than of is to be pointed at as a ch'ole-do-well.

If there is any thing that ought to be eliminated, it is the freak laws that are to be found in every State.

No sense to worry and bemoan the fact that you are not lucky. Go to work and you will come into your own.

Custom calls at a good price, this year, and this ought to make the farmer appreciate more and more the fact that he is an American.

Secretary Daniels is credited with stating that he will take a few enough big ships to create a navy that the secretary is on the right side, too.

For the American dollar be used for the express purpose of helping American industries, and you will be doing the American people a great favor.

But what reason the United States can do to alleviate the suffering of the Americans who are being oppressed by the British Turk?

Taking a bath in Japan one is subjected to the stinging sting of many fair madden, which would make the average man blush to a crimson purple.

Don't forget that every dollar you spend outside of Greenville hurts the one just that much. Make it a habit to trade with merchants here when you know to be honest.

The Virginia Pine sheds the Tar heel outer, who says that the frog discovered the North Carolina certain tall mountains. But why mention any more trifles?

We see absolutely no use for the Washington News and the Raleigh Times to get in an argument over the Bill of Paine. Neither of the boys will ever get their nags hung in it, and why should they worry?

Soon Thanksgiving Day will be with us and on that day before one sits down to a sumptuous repast, he should think of the many less fortunate ones who must do that day's thanksgiving upon the strength of a crust of bread, and a bed in a muddy trench.

Yes, we took in the Virginia State fair, but some how we feel that the North Carolina State fair will be heaps the best.

Colonel Gonzales is right about the periscope being the point of view, but he must be careful who is doing the viewing.

It is to be hoped that the Fair management for North Carolina will weed out those undesirable fortune tellers that are always so evident at a fair.

A preacher is still mixed up in the Frank case while we don't hear anything about the fellows that lynched Frank.

WE NEED MEN

In a time like this when more than half the world is gripped with war, the United States needs men. It needs men who have a clear insight into the nation's affairs, and men who are unselfish. We believe that we have men at the head of our government, who measure up to these qualifications, but those men need the aid and cooperation of other men.

They need the help and influence of the brightest thinkers in this country, and the men of wealth. That one of our great American firms, the Morgans, should be the appointed agents of the British government, spells disaster for this country, unless the power that they have is offset by the power of men just as great.

Every person in the United States, whether strong or weak should lend his aid to the administration in keeping the country level headed.

WE MUST HAVE BOTH FOR SERVICE

Following is something that ought to be impressed upon the mind of every school boy in the United States:

"We will take a heavyweight, bullet-headed pugilist for example number one.

"For example number two we will take a tall, thin, slender, studious, learned professor—a teacher of languages, say, in a big university.

"According to their lights, they are both O. K.

"With one swipe of his mighty arm the pugilist can lay the professor low, can't he?

"To make it very plain: The pugilist by reason of his trained developed body can wipe up the ground with the professor in a jiffy!

"If the professor and the pugilist were alone on an island in the middle of the Pacific, and there was room for only one of them, it is the pugilist who would survive, isn't it?

"Then the pugilist would find himself a wife somewhere and he would go ahead bringing more PUGILISTS into the world.

"Now wouldn't it have been a good idea for the professor to have trained his body as well as his mind, so that if ever he were thrown into this predicament, it would be the professor and not the pugilist who would survive?

"Wouldn't it be better for you and me to have some young professors born, rather than a lot of pugilists?"

"And the professor could do it, too, for he is so far superior to the pugilist in the matter of brains, that he could easily master the brute man if he gave his body proper attention.

"This is most earnestly recommended for personal and thought to peace at any price."

KITCHEN MAY NOT BE NOTICED

The Durham Sun has just completed a very novel plan by which it proposes to let the people know just how the Congressmen stand on the matter of increasing the army and navy. Most all the United States Congressmen upheld the army and navy increase plan, but our Democratic leader in the House, Congressman Kitchen, says he will oppose it. Following is the letter Congressman Kitchen wrote the editor of the Sun:

"I am opposed to the big navy and army program now being agitated with so much energy throughout the country, especially by the jingoes and manufacturers of war equipment and their subtle, raffish, organized and powerful influence. I shall not support in the next Congress the eight, six or four battleships or dreadnaught proposition, nor the 200,000 or 250,000 army increase proposition, nor the $500,000,000 (more than double the annual appropriations heretofore) appropriation proposition for the army and navy. Whether Congress will vote for such an immensely increased appropriation depends on the president's attitude. If he insists on the increase, Congress will vote for it. If he does not insist, in my opinion Congress will not vote for it."

If what Congress proposes to do rests on what President Wilson says, then there is no further cause for us to worry. We will be sure to get the increase both in the navy and the army, and we should get it, too.

Congressman Kitchen reminds us of the Irishman who built a barn of bricks and without a door. When his son told him about it, the Irishman said, "Son, you'll be as great an architect as your father is a builder."

LET GREENVILLE KEEP UP THE PACE

We are unusually pleased to see the many marked signs of progressiveness and improvements that are daily going on in and around Greenville. We believe that it bespeaks good times for the future, and though the present generation may not live to benefit from it, we are sure that if the present generation here leaves to posterity a growing and live town, that it will be remembered with fondness.

Building operations in and around Greenville are always on the boom. There is hardly a day passing that some new building is not reported to be under construction, or one planned. The pace Greenville has set is a good one, and one that should, by all means, keep up as long as she possibly can.

Were we to enumerate the many opportunities here we would have to devote a whole edition of the paper to do it, but we can, in a few words, tell what Greenville has and what Greenville needs.

Everyone knows that without something to make the start, there will not be much marked advancement here, but with a Chamber of Commerce that has some life in it, there is going to be something doing on a great scale.

Our Chamber of Commerce here was once making some great strides forward, but for some reason, it ceased to be so prominent in working for the good of the town. We have repeatedly asked that it be reorganized, and that it set about with an advertising campaign in an effort to get new industries to situate in Greenville.

It seems that, in spite of all our pleadings, the Chamber of Commerce is destined to be a quitter. It seems that it has lost the vim and enthusiasm with which it once labored, and it is to arouse it is enthusiasm that we are now striving.

We have good wide-awake business men in the Chamber of Commerce, but they are doubtless too busy with their own affairs to devote as much time as they should to the work of advertising Greenville.

We must have a Chamber of Commerce that can devote more time to the business of advertising Greenville. It is to those ends that the people, who are interested in the advancement of Greenville should work, and it is to them that we address this article.

Greenville wants to keep up the pace she has set. Everybody living in Greenville wants her to do that, but none desire it more than we do.

We now leave it with the progressive Greenville people to say whether or not they will make it possible for Greenville to keep up that pace. Will they see to it?

The plan to reach man in North Carolina to contribute one day's wages to the cause of the orphan is indeed a noble one, and one that should be taken hold of by the people of North Carolina. We should do all that lies in our power to help those made destitute by the death of their parents.

RANN-DOM REELS

Howard L. Rann

HAIR DRESSING

Hair dressing is a form of social relaxation indulged in at stated intervals by fortunate women who do not have to mingle with the dinner dishes or figure out the specifications of a corn starch pudding. It is confined largely to the city, where husbands draw swollen salaries for laboring from nine to three in the presence of a pretty stenographer and an electric fan.

There is very little recherche hair dressing done in the country aside from the home-made brand, which consists in letting the hair fall carelessly into a tin tub and rubbing it vigorously with hot soap, after which it is strung over the back porch railing and attacked with a palm leaf fan. An energetic woman who starts this process immediately after the lunch hour and has help from one of the neighbors can easily have her hair up and the soap out of her eyes by dinner time. This treatment causes the hair to stand out from the head in a profuse and threatening manner, and makes the use of store ballast unnecessary for several days.

In the city hair dressing is done by women who learned the trade in the country, but who have copied several expensive improvements, such as the Palm Beach shampoo, the Bordeaux bleach, the Bar Harbor twist, etc. Some of these improvements are considered wholly unnecessary by mercenary husbands who are unable to appreciate their real worth until the bill is presented. And yet human nature is so constructed that these same husbands would howl all the way from the front steps to the theatre box if their wives came down looking like a kitchen mop in an opera cape.

It is the function of the hair dresser to take a head of hair which is not inclined to point in any one direction and ornament it with copulas, waterfalls and lattice work. This requires considerable time, but after the work is finished the hair will stay in the same spot for a week, provided the customer sleeps in a high-backed chair and a rubber nightcap. Some of the finest creations of the hair dresser's art are accomplished with hair which is not fastened to the customer's head by anything but the law of gravity.

Owing to a pronounced and lamentable scarcity of raw material, men seldom go to the hair dresser, preferring to consult some barber who will shampoo what they have left in a subdued and sympathetic tone.

I AM A GOOD MORAL

People with an eye to their future bank their money with a strong conservative bank. You may not have started to saving up yet, but you ought to. If you bank some of the money you are now throwing away, future years will find you with a large bank account. Your money is safe with us, we pay the same attention to small accounts as we do large ones. Call to see us, we will be pleased to show you where the moral lies in BANKING YOUR MONEY WITH THE

THE FARMERS BANK

T. F. McGUIRE, Cashier
Dickinson Avenue Greenville, N. C.

FEED SEED

Are you one of our customers?
If not, it is because you have not had our prices

WE ARE HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hay, Corn, Oats, Bran, Ship Stuff, *Hon Feed, Chick Feed, Cotton Seed Meal, Hulls, Flour, Lard, Sugar, Dry Salt Meat.

We are in a position to give you prices that are the lowest to be had, on anything in this line. Be sure to get our prices before buying

We also buy Pitt County Corn

J. B. JOHNSTON

High Grade Photos

for less money in the new studio over Frank Wilson's Store.
OUR GUARANTEE: To save you money.
OUR MOTTO: Satisfaction or your money back.
Eighteen years experience with best material enables us to turn out the very best Photos, Post Cards, Best copying and enlarging. Your first Kodak film will be developed free; prints 2 1/2 cents to 5 cents.

GIVE US A TRIAL

Greenville Studio

Frank Wilson's Store.

Upstairs Over F

Mortgage Sale of Land.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed, executed and delivered by Frank Lilly and wife, Minnie Lilly, and Lovey Lilly to Stancill Hodges on the 19th day of January 1912, and duly recorded in the Register of Deeds office of Pitt county, North Carolina in Book L-10 page 29 the undersigned will expose to public sale before the court-house door in Greenville to the highest bidder for cash on Tuesday November 2nd 1915 at 12 o'clock M., that certain lot or parcel of land lying and being in the county of Pitt, town of Ayden, North Carolina, described as follows: Lying on the west side of the railroad; south side of Third street, and on the east side of Venters street. Beginning at the southeast corner of Venters and Third streets, thence running a southerly course with the line of Venters street 140 feet; thence an easterly course parallel with Third street 68 feet, to a stake; thence a northerly course parallel with the first line 140 feet to Third street; thence a westerly course with Third street 68 feet to the beginning. Sale will be made to satisfy said mortgage debt.

This September 25, 1915.
STANCILL HODGES, Mortgagee.
F. M. WOOTEN, Attorney.
9-28-1d-3w

NOTICE OF VALUABLE LAND SALE

Monday, November 8th, 1915

By virtue of authority contained in a certain Judgment decree rendered in Special Proceeding No. 1910, pending before the clerk of the Superior court of Pitt county, entitled J. J. Evans, James Evans, W. F. Evans, James L. Evans and others against R. A. Forbes, H. C. Evans and wife, Hattie Evans, and others, the undersigned Commissioner will on MONDAY November 8th, 1915, at 12 o'clock M., sell to the highest bidder at public auction before the court house door of Pitt county, the following described tract of land lying and being in the county of Pitt and in Greenville township, bounded and described as follows:

Lying on the waters of Hardee's Run, south side of Tar river, adjoining the lands of John S. Smith on the north, James Sutton on the east, Sallie Forbes and Robert Forbes on the east, James Sutton and Noah Sutton on the south, and Noah Forbes and Willie Nobles on the west, containing 100 acres, more or less. This tract of land is about three miles southwest of the town of Greenville to Winterville, adjoining the lands now owned by W. S. Moye, Mrs. Richard King, Noah Tyson, T. M. Hooker and others and better known as the Elizabeth Evans place.

This tract of land will be surveyed and subdivided into three tracts or parcels of land and each lot or parcel of land will be sold separately and the whole together, but the bid on each sub-division will be rejected unless the aggregate amount bid on all the sub-divisions exceeds the bid on the whole. A map of this tract of land will be exhibited on the day of sale, but anyone desiring to see the map before the sale can do so by applying to the undersigned commissioner.

The purpose of this sale is to make division of the proceeds therefrom among the heirs-at-law of the late Richard Evans, deceased.

The terms of said sale: The option of either paying all cash; or paying one-third cash and the balance in two equal payments of one and two years from date of sale respectively with interest from date at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, the purchaser being required to execute sufficient security against said land to secure the unpaid purchase price.

This October 6th, 1915.
JAMES L. EVANS,
Commissioner.

1-aw-4w-10-6-15.