COTTON SALES.
Friday—18 bales, 4.50 @ 5.50.

The storm of the 9th inst was so fierce at Beaufort in the afternoon that the mail boat could not cross to meet the train.

Messrs. Duffy & Hill, the new candy manufacturers, had the fullest and prettiest display of their fine makes of candies yesterday they have yet had. It met with admiration from all who saw it.

All veterans connected with the Union service during the war between the States are requested to meet at the office of Maj. Palmer on Pollock street this morning at 10 o'clock sharp.

The Aurora Progressive Age comes to us now with a new heading which makes it look a good deal better than before. The Age is a neat, well printed six-column paper.

In passing along on our streets yesterday we overheard a remark from a couple of strangers: "They have a very pretty little town here, clean streets and beautifully shaded." We agree with you, and best of all it is improving in looks rapidly, and steadily growing all the time.

Mr. S. M. Moore, postmaster at Tuscarora, reports a slight frost in that section Friday morning. As far as he could note there was no perceptible damage.

We ought to have some of the leading State speakers to visit us. Such an one as Overman, Jarvis and some others would be very much appreciated.

The fall business is opening fairly well, and especially so considering the very low price of cotton. When will our farmers let it alone and turn their attention to grains, grasses and stock &c.

The body of Henry Peterson Cool, of this city who fell from a flat Tuesday morning before day, two miles below New Berne and was drowned was recovered yesterday. The remains were expected to arrive in the city last night.

Every Democrat should see in time that he is properly registered and impress the need of his neighbors doing the same upon them, and then be sure to turn out on election day and vote. In over confidence and consequent neglect lies the chief danger. Attend to registration in time.

The Beaufort Herald has news from Newport telling of considerable damage by the storm. There were two houses and a church that were blown down. A Mr. Morton and one of his daughters were caught under his house as it was blown down. They received injuries but are not considered to be dangerously hurt.

Monday is the time when the Walter L. Main's Circus shows at Wilmington, and when the W. N. & N. Railroad has the low round-trip rate of only $1.50 from New Berne to Wilmington on account of it. As tickets are good to return either for that day or for any train the next day, the excursion rates afford a good opportunity not only for those who wish to see the circus but for those also who wish to go to Wilmington on business. The circus shows in Goldsboro the next day and the A. & N. C. R. R. gives the same low rate $1.50 for the round trip.

Hotel Chattawka Arrivals.
J. S. Chamberlain, Boston; C. B. Keeler, Portsmouth; M. King, Norfolk; H. W. Sesters, N. Y.; J. W. Rabe, Philadelphia; Fred L. Merritt, News and Observer, Raleigh; R. F. Broadus, N. C.

Coming and Going.
Mr. T. A. Green and family returned from Baltimore on the steamer Neuse.
Mr. M. Hahn, who has been north visiting relatives returned home; his daughter, Mrs. Solinger, came with him for a visit.
Mrs. J. F. Taylor returned from New York where she has been visiting relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ives of Cheabire, Conn., left returning home.

Beaufort Oyster Cannery Moved.
Some time ago we wrote that the oyster cannery factory would probably open up here again, but we were mistaken. The Martin Wagner Company moved the machinery of the factory this week to Baltimore. It was carried on the steamer Alpha.

We understand that all the factories in North Carolina will be moved. The owners claim that legislation on oysters in this State is the cause.—Beaufort Herald.

New River Jetty Inspection.
Maj. W. H. Chadbourne, Assistant U. S. Engineer and Mr. B. A. Brown, Jr; came up by rail yesterday from New River they have been surveying and inspecting the jetty just built by the Government at the mouth of New River under the supervision of Mr. Stuber.

The work on the jetty was begun about two months ago; it was finished last week. Its design is to cause the current to cut away the channel until it becomes twice as deep there as formerly. An inspection of the channel was made before the work was begun, this one is made as soon as it is finished and a third one will be held a few weeks from now.

The inspection shows the work of deepening has commenced. If the subsequent inspection shows that it will, as now built, accomplish all that is desired, no more will be done, it is found that it does not deepen the channel as much as is intended it will be improved so that it will.

The amendments to the Georgia State constitution voted upon at the late election are as follows: The amendment increasing the number of judges of the Supreme court from three to five was defeated by less than 2,000 votes. The amendment changing the sessions of the Legislature from the fall to the summer was also defeated, evidently on the idea that the Legislature has the right to name its own sessions without constitutional sanction. The amendment allowing the Legislature to punish indicting Confederate veterans was adopted.

THE ROAD WORK.

Its Progress and Excellence—The Roads Should be Improved all Over the County.

The work on Neuse road is progressing very satisfactory. Supervisor Wadsworth has a large force at work at the end nearest the city and a small one at the other end. The former have now gone as far as the poor house and the latter about a quarter of a mile with the work.

The work is being done well. The railroad plow and horse scoops loomed by the W. N. & N. Railroad are doing good service at this end.

As we noticed in a former article the road has been straightened between the city and the canal which crosses the road, by being moved in a portion of its course a little nearer the W. H. Gray farm; the road is well graded and provided with good drainage, and through a portion of the way it has been widened—old ditches being filled up and new ones dug.

A splendid piece of work has been done by filling in the low bottom near the railroad and in making a good one where the road was quite uneven.

The people are getting the worth of their money in the road and we feel it will be but the entering wedge for improved roads over the county.

The road which Messrs. Hackburn & Willet have macadamized from their farm to the government macadamized road is nearly washed, and the change is a surprise to those who remember its old condition and now travel over it. It is the first time since the improvement it is a delight for one on a pleasure drive, for a bicyclist or anyone else to take a trip over it.

We hope to see the good work now fairly started go steadily forward.

THE INTEREST DEEPENS.

Very Large Attendance Upon the Evangelist Meetings—Effective Sermon—Several Conversions.

The devotional meeting in the New Berne engine room for men only was not as well attended yesterday morning as on the previous day and there was also a noticeable lack of promptness. Mr. Gales spoke of this at the close of the meeting and called special attention to the fact that some came to the door whom he was satisfied were unconverted men who held back from coming in because the congregation was so small at the time they arrived. They went off and did not return. He spoke of this fact and urged Christian men even if they did find business claims pressing upon them to find time from those cares to attend to the Lord's business.

The subject of Mr. Gales' discourse was, "Jesus, the Friend that Sticks Closer than a Brother." He told of how all other friends may fail or forsake but Jesus never does and he gave striking illustrations of this, his own experience being among the number.

The afternoon service as announced was a service for children. They were largely represented in the congregation. The talk was given from a simple chart, showing the steps from the present world upward to the saved world and downward to the lost world. Those to the lost world being to disobey, neglect and despise; those to the saved world being to realize, believe and confess.

The church was filled at night with a very attentive audience and the sermon was worthy of the attention it received—it was one that ought to have been heard by every one who could possibly be done so.

The speaker chose for his text, "Take ye away the stone," and he enumerated the stones of avarice, worldly pleasures, hypocrisy and unbelief, and dealt unsparingly with each.

Under the heat of avarice he spoke of getting gain by improper means—mentioned among other things that the larger part of the property owned in this city for barroom purposes is owned by church members.

He was severe upon amusements of an improper or questionable church—balls, theatres, progressive euchre, etc.

He spoke also of a statement coming from a liquor seller of the city that the support of the barrooms was derived from patronage of church members.

The only ones asked to stay to the after meetings were the unconverted, those Christians willing to do personal work or who had an unconverted friend with them willing to stay. Many stayed, and much interest was shown and quite a number of conversions resulted.

There will be the regular religious services to-day—several cottage prayer meetings for men only at 10 a. m. in the New Berne Fire Company's room and the meetings in the church at 3:30 and 7:30 p. m.

THE EAST CAROLINA FAIR.

Declared to be Always the Best in the State.

The following notice of the East Carolina Fair is copied from the last issue of the Kinston Free Press:

"The directors of the Newbern fair have fixed February 18th to 23d, inclusive, as the dates for the next fair. The premiums offered for races alone aggregate $3,000, the largest ever offered in the State, which will draw fine race horses from outside as well as all over the State. The general premium list was also ordered to be revised and increased in many departments.

The Newbern fair is always the best in the State and the next will be better than ever before. Such energetic and intelligent officers as President Dunn and Secretary Reizenstein can't be downed."

THE CYCLONE AT NEWPORT.

A Church and Three Residences Blown Down—Narrow Escape From Death.

We have information from Newport that four houses blew down there, two in the village and two outside, and that one, if no more, blew down at Hancock's creek.

A colored church and a colored residence blew down in the village and the home of Mrs. Nettie Oglesby near there was blown from its foundation and the upper portion of the house—blown away and to pieces, shingles and rafters—everything being separated from one another and scattered in an astonishing manner—they were torn apart as though some one had been at work knocking the house to pieces with a hammer.

Misses Kizzie and Sallie Ann Morton, daughters of Mrs. Elisha Morton, who were caught under the falling walls were kept from death simply by some sinking of the floor and by the catching of the timbers on furniture. The timber had to be prised away in order to release them. They were hurt to some extent but no bones broken and no severe danger sustained.

THE COLLECTING AGENCY.

The Plan on Which it is Proposed to be Run—Its Advantages.

The agency for the collection of accounts, rents, etc., by Mr. J. M. Hines, alluded to in the JOURNAL of the 9th inst., is developing into a much needed necessity. The merchants can become members in this agency by paying a small amount monthly and be kept posted by the agency of all parties who fail to make satisfactory settlement of their accounts. Mr. Hines will execute a bond of $5,000 to one of the banks of the city as trustee, for the faithful settlement of all money collected by him. Mr. Hines will call on the business men of the city in a few days to explain the plan and solicit their membership. Many a bad debt will be collected or parties will be shut off from further credit. We bespeak for Mr. Hines, the encouragement of the business men of the city that he deserves in this enterprise. The small membership fee required will be to defray the necessary expenses, such as office rent, postage stationary, etc.

The idea of this agency is not only to collect at reasonable cost bills of every description and grade—the best, the worst and the average, but also to have in convenient accessible shape information which will enable every member to keep himself from being imposed upon by an undesirable credit customer with whom he is about to open an account. At the agency the standing can be seen and if the proposed customer is leaving some other store with an unpaid bill behind, it can be found out by the member and he can govern himself accordingly. The information however is open only to those who are members.

It appears that such a scheme can be worked up to the advantage of the members. The saving made in avoiding the making of even one bad bill would pay the dues for a long time.

The dues, in the beginning are 50 cents per month, when the agency has become fairly established it is proposed to make them 25 cents per month.

Schemes somewhat similar to this have been tried here before, but they never developed into much—one cause for this is probably that after being introduced they were left to look out for themselves but this one will be looked after by one whose business it is to do so. This is an essential difference.

OLD Papers for sale at this office.

SHALL WE TREAT HIM ENTIRELY AS THE COMMON ENEMY.

Great regard is had in the Democratic party for Capt. W. H. Kitchin, who has in the past been one of its faithful members and friends.

We fear, however, that the captain is getting far from base. The editorial in yesterday's Observer was based upon its understanding of his speeches generally and of his day speech in Charlotte, Thursday, in particular. His night speech proved that he is far from the fold. Thither he had been warning mainly upon the Republican party, charging it, justly, with the responsibility for the evils from which the country suffers.

Thursday night, however, he omitted his criticism of the Republican party and confined his warfare to the party with which he has lately affiliated. He was bitter and unjust. He asserted as facts things which are not facts.

Happily Mr. Tillet refuted him at every point and in the argument overpowered him, so that, locally, his speech was without effect; but the animus displayed by Capt. Kitchin was had and the whole tenor of his speech was disappointing to his former friends. He is not the fair man that they have heretofore believed him to be. We fear that hereafter he will have to be treated as a common enemy.—Charlotte Observer.
