CONGRESS IN BRIEF. Congressman Wilson has the courage of his convictions. He is still delivering free trade lectures.

There are indications that "some-good-weather-man" boom is being prepared for the road.

Andruson Farrar contributes an article on the child Christ to McClure's for December, illustrated by reproductions from many paintings.

The indications are that the Chicago cannot help but reach the Japanese too late to do the Chinese any good.

A La Grange correspondent of the Knist-iron Press says Miss Bessie Rouse of that village came away from the Harwich fair with four premiums awarded her for her skill in art, as shown by her specimens on exhibition.

Cincinnati has reversed her Republican majority of 24,000 and given a Democratic majority of over 3,000; but it was done in the interest of a pure judiciary, and shows that the people are not to be driven to unclean government by the party lash.

The next state legislature will probably be encouraged to make a sufficient appropriation to defray the expenses of collecting the material and publishing a historical account of North Carolina's troops in the late war. This is an excellent idea and ought by all means to be done.

It is due from the state to her gallant sons who wore the gray.
