COTTON SALES.

Saturday, 92 bales, 5 @ 5.30.

Fair and cooler weather is predicted for to day.

One of the thickest fogs ever seen here enveloped the city last night.

Mr. T. A. Henry will re-embark in the drug business in his own building on Middle street.

It was Mrs. Chas. Reizenstein, instead of Mr. Reizenstein, who left yesterday to visit in New York along with Mrs. O. Marks.

The Naval Reserve minstrel trip to Kinston was a success in every way—in pleasure and in profit. A handsome little sum was netted by the performance.

The W. N. & R. R. appeals from the decision rendered in the superior court at Kinston in the case of its suit against the commissioners of Onslow county.

The Naval Reserve minstrels will repeat their entertainment Thanksgiving night, and expect, by their increased price and introducing new features to give an entertainment even more pleasing than the first.

Rev. L. Moghabghab will deliver an address relating somewhat to foreign missionary work at Centenary M. E. church to-night. This afternoon he will make an address at the Baptist Sunday school and tell something of the Sabbath schools and mission day schools in the country from which he came, Syria.

The Jacksonville Times tells that Jim Marshall, a colored employe of the Parmelee Erection Co. had his coat sleeve to catch in a chain and was slowly drawn up to a big wheel which crushed his arm and bruised his shoulder, but when his head struck the wheel it stopped, although it was being driven by a fifteen horse engine.

The large grey horse, Hugh, of the Atlantic line Company, which died Monday of lock-jaw was insured in the Peoples' Mutual Live Stock Insurance Company of Pennsylvania for $188, three-fourths of his value—his cost $850. Messrs. A. J. Finch & Co., the local agents of the company, received a letter yesterday requesting the prompt forwarding of the proof of death that the loss might be promptly paid.

The enlargement of the Knitting Factory.

The New Berne Knitting factory has been getting in its additional machinery lately and is now gradually bringing it into operation.

We are glad to see this increased means of employment, as the winter season is approaching. It helps out generally in a business way and gives willing workers a plain and sure way of providing for themselves.

Prof. Smith and His Writing Classes.

Prof. W. L. Smith who will organize a school of practical penmanship at the Collegiate Institute Tuesday, has been following his profession in this State for six years and has convincing testimony from well-known educators as to the success of his teaching and the satisfaction he gives.

Prof. Smith states that the instruction given here will be of the very best and most substantial kind and right up to date. The possession of a hand writing that is attractive to the eye and yet rapidly and easily executed is an accomplishment greatly to be derived and we are pleased to see that quite a number of our young men and ladies as well as students at the schools have decided to avail themselves at this opportunity.

"The Burglar" Tuesday Night.

"A treat is in store for the patrons of Van Wyck's Academy of Music, Norfolk, on Friday and Saturday, November 23d and 24th, with a Saturday matinee, when C. Win Perkins' New York Company will produce the four-act comedy-drama "The Burglar."

The cast is headed by the wonderful child actress, Little Lottie Briscoe, who has established for herself a great reputation as Edith throughout the country. Little Lottie is the possessor of a wonderful voice in addition to her talent as an actress.

The leading part of the burglar is in the hands of the clever young romantic actor, Walter D. Greene, and in the cast are such people as Frederick Carmer, George Rayner, Jr., Louise Allen, Maris Falls and others who have been identified with the former success of the piece—Norfolk Landmark.

Death of Mr. Hugh M. Hollowell.

We regret to learn through private sources of the death of Mr. Hugh M. Hollowell, formerly of this city, a native of New Berne, and nephew of Mrs. M. D. Dewey. His death occurred at Redlands, California, on the 21st inst., from heart failure, whence he had gone about six weeks ago hoping to regain his lost health. He had been suffering from hemorrhage of the bronchial tubes for several months.

It is pleasing to know that while so far away from home and kindred he found many sympathetic friends to administer to his wants and care for him in his last hours, which were calm and peaceful and he passed away in the arms of a loving Savior in whose shining merits he fully trusted for the pardon of his sins, and in the hope of a glorious resurrection. Mr. Hollowell leaves a wife to mourn his loss.

Mr. Hollowell was about 32 years of age. He left New Berne soon after attaining manhood and has for a number of years held the position of night superintendent of Donnell's famous New York and Brooklyn restaurants.

Hugh was a merry, good natured lad, who will never be forgotten by the boys who were at school with him in the old New Berne Academy in the days when Prof. G. W. Reed was principal. All who knew him will bear with sorrow his death.

WELCOME WEEK.

Wilmington's Great Annual Celebration—Features of the Occasion.

The Wilmington papers say the grounds of the Gun Club at Hilton Park have been put in good condition for the trap shooting tournament new electric lights having been put in about 10,000 clay pigeons received for the shoot.

The contests will be on Thursday and Friday with nine events on each day. Teams will enter from Worcester, Mass., New York city, Atlanta, Ga., Charleston, S. C., Chattanooga, Tenn., Lynchburg, Va., Sanford, Fla., and the following towns in North Carolina—Charlotte, Greensboro, Asheville, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Fayetteville and Washington.

The Naval Reserves will have a drill in the harbor for the night which is to be one of the features of Wednesday night at the foot of Market street.

Welcome week will be here in Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock by the ringing of the bells and the blowing of the whistles of the city and the boats in harbor.

The bicycle races will take place Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The following is the programme. Entries close, Tuesday, November 27, at 12 m. Races held under sanction of L. A. W. Racing Board and L. A. W. rule:

First—One mile—1st prize, diamond ring; 2nd prize, snaf' pie; 3rd prize, bicycle bell.

Second—One hundred yards against time—1st prize, stop watch; 2nd prize, hand painted vase.

Third—Half mile—1st prize, hand-some revolver; 2nd prize, bicycle lamp; 3rd prize, luggage carrier.

Fourth—One-quarter mile—1st prize, golf cut-buttons; 2nd prize, silver cup; 3rd prize, bicycle lamp.

C. C. C. only, Hilton Park Medal.

On Wednesday the business houses will close at 6 p. m. so that the employes can take part in the grand civic, military and marine parades and the night attack in the harbor. This is to be a grand affair and well worth the trip to see it.

ALBEMARLE & CHESAPEAKE CANAL.

Annual Meeting of the Company Held in Norfolk.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal Company, a large representation, of the stock being present, was held in Norfolk on Thursday, Nov. 15th.

The annual reports showed an improvement in the physical and financial condition of the Company. The policy of the present management was unanimously approved and endorsed with the recommendation that the same liberal policy should be continued, and the former officers, receiving every vote present, were re-elected for the ensuing year, viz., Franklin Weld, President, and Hon. Andrew D. White, R. M. Cannon, F. D. White, A. R. Kenny, J. H. Chapman of New York, and Jos. McCarter, of Penna., as Directors.

Wool vs. Cotton.

The Rocky Mount Argonaut asks the following very sensible questions.

"Wouldn't it be a good plan for our farmers to figure out if it would not be more profitable to grow wool than to raise cotton for 5 cents a pound? There is no better sheep raising country in the world than we have here in North Carolina. Why then should our farmers raise the cheaper staple at a loss instead of growing the more profitable one?"

Wool is always in demand and brings a good price. Let our farmers study this question a little and we think they will decide that sheep raising is more profitable than cotton raising.

THE SCHOOL OF PENMANSHIP.

The Classes Will be Organized Tuesday at the Collegiate Institute.

Mr. W. L. Smith, a skilled instructor in penmanship will open a special class in the New Berne Collegiate Institute for ladies, girls and boys on Tuesday Nov. 27th, at 3:15 p. m., also a special class for young men at 8 p. m.

Each lesson will last about an hour and a half. The main object of the lessons will be to show students how to acquire such a hand writing as modern business demands—a style at once simple, easy and graceful, rapidly written and read at a glance.

ONE OF HIS KIND DEEDS.

A Reminiscence of the Dealings of the Late Wm. T. Walters of Baltimore. With One of New Berne's Young Men at the Close of the War.

ED. JOURNAL:—Notices of the death of the millionaire, benefactor, and Christian gentleman, William T. Walters of Baltimore, are now filling columns in the newspapers of the country. His career was a remarkable one and he leaves a rich inheritance of good deeds, not only to his family, but to the young men of this and all coming time. One of the incidents of his life, an act of kindness towards a citizen of New Berne came to my knowledge long years ago and I feel that in giving it to the public now, I should be gratifying the recipient were he living to know of it.

As stated in the press dispatches, Mr. Walters was at the head of a large whiskey house, before, during and after the late war between the States.

A young man of limited means had embarked in business here some time in the fifties, he became a customer of Mr. Walters and personally acquainted with him. The war found him indebted to Mr. Walters as well as to other merchants in the North. The young merchant was of course broken up by the war, and found himself at the termination of it, bankrupt, with only a small piece of real estate and inevitable will and energy left him from which to make a support for an increasing family.

As soon as possible he re-embarked at his old stand and opened up with such stock as he could procure from merchants of this city on a few days' accommodation; and at once proceeded to make terms with his northern creditors, giving them a frank and candid statement of his condition and affairs. He was so amiable to visit them in person and did so.

Mr. Walters was his largest if not only creditor in the city of Baltimore, and to him he hurried on reaching that city.

He told me that he could not describe his feelings when he was seated in the office with the man who had it in his power to put a stop to his enterprise at a word if he was so inclined. But he made his statement, told of his losses, of his start up on limited credit, of his desire to pay his debts, and his purpose to do so if ever able.

When through with his statement, Mr. Walters said: "Well sir, what you owe us on old account, you can just consider out of sight until you are entirely able to pay it. What goods you now want in our line you can have on the same terms we gave you before the war." This was cheering news to my friend and he said to me he felt as if he had received a stimulus to go on that nothing could depress. He gave an order for what he needed and left the store. On his return to get his bill, Mr. Walters again invited him into his place, and looked over the bill, asked if he had bought all that he needed and engaged in a pleasant strain of conversation.

"Didn't you tell me you lost all of your household furniture by the war?" said Mr. Walters. "Yes sir, we lost very nearly everything of that kind," was the reply. "Have you bought any to replace it?" "No sir, I want to get on with as little as possible until we can do better."

"Come with me," said Mr. Walters, let us go to a furniture store, you must have enough to make your family comfortable."

They went to the furniture store, and Mr. Walters insisted on his buying what ever he absolutely needed; when my friend would select a cheap piece of furniture Mr. Walters would tell him to get a better article, it was cheaper in the end and so forth, and when through with the purchases, Mr. Walters told the furniture dealer to send the bill to his office for payment. As they walked up the street he said to the New Berne customer: "Now this bill for the furniture, I don't want you to use a dollar out of your business to pay. Let that stand until you can, with perfect ease, spare the money to pay it."

It is hardly necessary to add, that the old debt, the furniture bill, and many others, were duly paid, and that though he has passed over the stullen stream of death, nearly a quarter of a century in advance of Mr. Walters, there were but few men who thought more gratefully of William T. Walters than did John E. Amyett. D. T. CARRAWAY.

Not the First in North Carolina.

A statement is going the rounds of the papers that Judge W. S. O'B. Robinson recently elected to the first Honorary Catholic to hold office in North Carolina. Have our papers, which copy this forgotten Judge Gaston who was a member of the Convention of 1835, and a Judge of the Supreme court for many years?

Judge R. B. Hepler of Edenton was long a Judge of the Superior courts. Judge M. E. Manly, too, held several offices, and was also a Judge of the Supreme and Superior courts, and many others might be mentioned. Such careless falsification of history is inexcusable.
