Sweedish Concert Wednesday.

Y. M. C. ASSOCIATION, Charleston, S. C., April 24, 1893. I believe that in the eight years of my service here this is the first testimonial I have given to a concert company, and it is done cheerfully and heartily. The Swedish done cheerfully and heartily. The Swedish Quartette Company were with us two consecutive nights. It is no mean encomium to say that they pleased and entertained a representative audience in this classic and cultured old city.

The members of the company are ladies and centlemen, and not such coarse and preferred persons as we frequently have to norefined persons as we frequently have to deal with among similar travelling orgazi-zations. They are musicians of high cr-der, but at the same time render such selections as please the popular taste. The quartet is a fine combination of male vol-ces, and their accompanist performs splea-didly. The company deserves the richest
