COTTON SALES.

Friday:—141 bales, 4.85 to 5.12.

Mr. S. Z. Waters, of Pantego, formerly with the Journal, arrived to spend a few days in the city.
Mr. W. B. Boyd received by Thursday night a mail check for $2,900 payable to Mrs. Laura Styron, being the amount of insurance due on the policy carried by her husband, the late Mr. W. S. Styron in the order of Chosen Friends.

Beaufort beats the big bear, the 320 pound one, we spoke of from Mr. Wm. Dutton's farm by eight pounds. The Herald tells of one killed by Mr. Chas. Smith that weighed 400 pounds. Next.

The Williams vs. Settle congressional contest has again been postponed. The time now fixed for it is the 15th of January. The postponement was on account of the absence of the contestant.

Misses Ollie and Mary Bell, of Morehead, pupils of Peace Institute, Raleigh, passed through en route to their home to spend the Christmas holidays. Miss Gerie Dill who has been visiting her sister Mrs. W. S. Herbert, passed through en route to her home.

The Beaufort Herald tells of Mr. Holloway Mason's catching 2,800 pounds of gray trout at one single haul. This, it will be noticed, is equal in amount to fourteen 200-pound barrels. Fish are quite low in price now and only two cents per pound was obtained, but even this netted Mr. Mason $50.

A thin parchment called "glassine" has just come into use as a protection to owners of books. This is interesting as far it goes, but what the people cry out for is protection against those who never return the books they borrow. The JOURNAL office has been made to feel the effect of this very much. We have a number of books loaned out, among which is one we prize very highly.—Ben Hur.

The Presbyterian bazaar was a very pleasant success. There was a fine supply of the most delicious refreshments, a large variety of exquisitely beautiful Xmas presents, and the room very prettily decorated with bunting and evergreen. The financial success can be judged by the fact that very near everything had been sold as early as ten o'clock. About a hundred dollars was made.

The Board of Directors of the State Normal and Industrial School met in Raleigh, Thursday afternoon, to prepare the biennial report to the Governor. Mr. John C. Scarborough, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, presided at the meeting as ex-officio chairman. The school is two years old. The first year it had 223 students, this year 394. The Directors have limited the attendance to 400, this being the utmost capacity of the institution with its present facilities.

The Durham Sun tells of the sad case of a young man, James H. Barnhill, who went there from Bethel, Pitt county, to attend conference and became insane while there at the Stewart Hotel, to such an extent that he has to be guarded to keep him from doing himself or others harm. He is spoken of as young, intelligent and well educated. He was a poor boy and has an old mother and a sister who looked to him for support and he worked and studied so hard in caring for them and educating himself that he overtaxed his strength and his mind became impaired.

Special Premiums on Dairying Products.
Mr. Chas. Hallock, agent for Special Industries in Tidewater North Carolina, 57 South Front street, offers $5 premium for the best sample of home butter shown at the coming New Berne Fair, $5 for the best specimen of cheese and $5 for the best bale of home grown hay, other than crab grass.
Very pretty home made butter and good hay of numerous varieties is shown at every exhibition of the East Carolina Fair but we do not recollect of ever having seen any cheese on exhibition. Here is an opportunity for the farmers and dairymen to contest for $15,000 in three special premiums in addition to the regular premiums that are offered for the same exhibits. Try for the premiums.

Heathensh Turkey.
An unfortunate news vendor in Sanchez, Aransas, was discovered selling English newspapers which contained a severe criticism of the massacre. He was immediately seized by the Turkish authorities, thrashed into a cell and kept there without food or water for twenty hours. Then he was taken out and flogged, after which the fingers of his right hand were cut off.
This treatment, he was informed, was simply a hint of what he might expect if he persisted in circulating delamatory stories about the Sultan's subjects.

On illustrating what energy and thrift can accomplish on a Southern farm, the Southern States Magazine refers to the case of a family of brothers that settled in Arcadia Parish, Louisiana, about six years ago, with only a few hundred dollars. They are now worth $100,000. They had on hand, from this season's harvesting, 10,000 barrels of rice, which they say has cost them less than $10,000 to produce, counting expenses of every sort. The 10,000 barrels will be sold at a price to net $3 a barrel and upward. What these brothers have done, other people can do. There are in the South to-day as good agricultural opportunities as were ever before known.

Roanoke Colony Memorial Association.

The Roanoke Colony Memorial Association's articles of incorporation and by-laws, with a list of names of the shareholders and of the officers, and the minutes of the meeting held at Raleigh, Oct. 23, 1894, has been published in neat pamphlet form as ordered in that meeting, and copies are now being distributed among the stockholders, of whom there are 104.

The Association, besides its small amount of cash, has two hundred and thirty acres of land, with W. D. Pruden as Trustee and ten acres of land site of the Raleigh Fort in the name of the Association.

A REPUBLICAN'S VIEW.

Maj. H. L. Grant Gives His Ideas on the Situation.
Maj. H. L. Grant, of Goldsboro, who was extremely prominent in the fusion councils here last summer, is here again. He is very quiet, but talked a little about legislative work. No one, he declares, really knows just what will be done. The proposition to employ legal advisers for the Legislature he regards as a confession of weakness, and thinks the fusionists will have plenty of good lawyers in the Legislature. He holds the views, and says he has backing for it, that the Legislature can and will absolutely repeal the present county government law, and that by such an absolute repeal the magistrates, commissioners, etc., will cease to exist as officials. If the law is only amended there would be a question as to whether the tenure of office clause of the constitution did not apply. After the law is repealed, Maj. Grant thinks another may be enacted. As to Senators, he says Butler will of course be one, but as to the other there will be a lively contest. The fact that Pritchard, Mott and Ewart all live so close together will make the fight the harder, and in the case of a dead lock, Chairman Holton, with all the prestige of his work during the election, may come in. Maj. Grant says Ewart did not speak for the party when he intimated that two Republican Senators might be chosen.—Goldsboro Cor. Wil. Messenger.

Remarkable Torpedo Boat.
Mr. Seymour Allan, a resident of Sydney, Australia, has invented a submarine torpedo boat, which, he claims, is capable of sinking to any depth, and of traveling rapidly under water without revealing its presence. A working model of the boat was tried on October 30, in the public baths at Sydney, in the presence of the Earl of Hopetoun, the governor, the naval commandant, and a number of naval and military officers.
The experiments were a complete success, the model rising, sinking, turning, reversing, or remaining stationary in obedience to the electric current by which it is worked. The inventor claims that a full-sized boat would be capable of remaining under water for three days. It would carry torpedoes on the bow and stern decks.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the next General Assembly by D. Congdon and others, for a charter for a tram road, to be operated in the counties of Craven, Jones and Pamlico.

D. CONGDON AND OTHERS.
Dec. 14, 1894. d15m

An eloping couple from Richmond Va. were married in the Atlantic Coast line, Hotel; Weldon, at noon on Wednesday the 14th inst. They were Clarence T. Boykin a Richmond Dispatch reporter, and Miss Sadie Cullen Epps. The Richmond State speaks of the groom as "a member of the Dispatch and a rising journalist," and says the bride is a daughter of Capt. Wm. James Epps of the Internal Revenue Service, one of the most beautiful young ladies in town and a great belle.

The New York World has a special cable dispatch of the 12th inst, which gives an appalling report of Japanese cruelty at Port Arthur. It says that when the troops entered that town on Nov. 21st, they plundered and massacred practically the entire town in cold blood with horrible atrocities, butchering the defenceless and unarmed inhabitants in their houses, and unapologetically mutilating their bodies. The unrestrained reign of murder continued for four days. It speaks of the first stain upon Japanese civilization, but that they in this case prized more barbarism and the foreign correspondents horrified by the spectacle, left the army in a body. It seems to us that if the "Japs" acted as savagely as stated, the correspondents have been a very long time in letting the public know it.

SPORTSMAN AND AUTHOR.

A Strong but Well-Deserved Compliment to Mr. Chas. Hallock.

The Sportsman's Review of Chicago, in its elegant Christmas number, has a page article from the secretary of the National Game Protective Association, which gives a portrait of Mr. Chas. Hallock and pays him the following high compliment for successful work he has done towards the protection of the game of this country.
"The first movement toward forming a National Association for game and fish protection was made by the late William F. Parker (of Parker Bros., Meriden, Conn.) and Mr. Charles Hallock, the popular sporting author."
In 1871 the editorial notes of Mr. W. F. Parker as published through the columns of his journal, the American Sportsman, attracted general attention to the prospect of organizing a national association, and Mr. Hallock's potent influence was widely and wisely circulated in the same direction, by means of the publication which he founded and fostered during the crucial stage of its development.

"If Mr. Hallock's claim to the gratitude and good will of American sportsmen rested solely upon his labors on behalf of the propagation of game and fish, he would stand deservedly high in the estimation of those members of the fraternity who appreciate real sportsmanship, and believe in giving honor to whom honor is due," aside from his distinction in this field of work.

"Mr. Charles Hallock possesses a faculty — an almost divine gift — which is in itself the open sesame to the hearts of his fellow anglers and sportsmen. He is one of the most versatile and vigorous of American writers on the sports of field and flood — wielding a graphic pen with graceful effect, and his admiring readers are numbered by tens of thousands, not alone in the United States but in other lands."

Queer Suicide in Washington.

Thursday morning Mr. L. E. Jackson of Washington, N. C., was found dead in his room where he had committed suicide in a very peculiar manner. He had choked himself to death by making a slip knot with a bunch of coat buttons, fastening the other end to a door knob and then dropping himself down so that his weight would be supported upon it.
The deceased is said to have been odd in his ways at best, and had been partaking freely of liquor from which he probably became so crazed as to lead to the committing of the rash deed.
