to finish boring the six inch well for the Goldboro Lumber Co's. dry kiln. A depth of over 100 feet has been reached but yet without striking a full supply of water, and only a short distance off Mr. Cook struck a sufficiency of water for the saw mill at one fourth that depth, with a three inch well.

Dr. Cyrus Thompson of Onslow county is in the city in the pursuit of evidence to aid in contesting the seat of Hon. J. J. Hill two boats for the New Berne Naval Reserves yesterday. They are new ones furnished by the United States Government and are of the kind designated as whale boats. They are for either sailing or rowing. They have two sails and carry twelve oars--six to the side.

The boats are thoroughly equipped and the members are greatly pleased with New Berne yesterday morning enroute to their future home in Burlington.

some and popular young ladies, while the groom is a promising young man full of vigor and push.

We wish them happiness and prosperity.

Coming and Going.

Mr. and Mrs. Joan Rogers of Boston came in on the steamer Newberne to spend a short time in New Berne. Mr.
Rogers is prospecting to find a general Southern place to his liking in which to make his home. He and Mrs. Rogers are very favorably impressed with New Berne and we hope to see their visit result in their becoming citizens.

Miss Emma Lumley of Goldsboro, who has been visiting at Capt. Abbott's, returned home.

Mrs. David Hill and children left, moving back to Washington, N. C., Capt.
Hill having taken command of a steamer which runs to that place. Mrs. Hill's tory in New Berne.

A THIEF BARELY ESCAPES.

He is Seen Stealing Display Goods From in Front of J. B. Parker's--He Saves Himself, But Abandons Stolen Property.

Monday night Mr. Lou Davis, a clerk at Mr. J. B. Parker's saw from the inside of the store a negro man getting a side of bacon down from where it was hanging for display outside. He rushed out and succeeded in taking away from the thief a sack in which he was depositing the meat and found in it two sides of bacon, a shad and some other fish. The negro unfortunately escaped, and drew a weapon, which Mr. Davis thinks was a razor, before doing so.

Mr. Davis is satisfied he would know the thief again if he saw him, and it is hoped he will be detected, captured, convicted and duly punished.

ANOTHER WRECK AT OCRACOEKE.

Schr. Ella Water-Logged, Stripped and Abandoned--Will Probably Go to Pieces--Value of Vessel and Cargo.

A Wilmington tug carries the news to that city says the Messenger, of the Schr.
Ella M. Barten being water-logged at Ocracoke, three miles from shore. The captain of the tug found the vessel abandoned and stripped of sails, boats, blocks and everything valuable.

The Barten was entirely submerged and is expected to go to pieces. She is laden with lumber and bound from Chicago to New York. The vessel is valued at $8,000 and her cargo of lumber at $3,000. She belongs to Dain & Elliott of Thomaston, Maine.

THE CATALOGUE FOR 1895.

Of Riverside Kennels, Poultry and Pet Stock Yards of New Berne.

The annual illustrated catalogue of leading varieties of high class dogs, poultry, pheasants and pets of all kinds issued for 1895 by Messrs. F. E. Hege & Co., of New Berne; proprietors of Riverside Kennels, Poultry and Pet Stock Yards, is a large and beautiful pamphlet, the appearance of which is in keeping with the fine establishment it represents.

The catalogue, including the very handsome cover, the front of which shows several views from photographs of the yards and houses is the work of Messrs.
N. S. Richardson & Son of New Berne and is as perfect of that style of work as could have been executed by any firm.

The lack of the cover represents only the new branch of their business, the frog farm, which they are just starting. One solitary bull frog takes up the back page, but he seems to be an educated one--he is taking a spin on a bicycle!

The book is more than a catalogue. It contains so much reliable information about different breeds and their characteristics, and how to care for both the poultry and the quadruped pets and is well gotten up, withal that it is a book well worth keeping.

That its contents are by one who knows whereof he speaks can be judged by the large number of specimens that Messrs. F.
E. Hege & Co. took at the East Carolina Fair and also by the fact that at the last State fair Mr. Hege made a record unequaled by any other poultryman in the South at any one show.

Their poultry yards are unexcelled in the South and their rabbitry is pronounced unquestionably the very best in the United States. It contains one hundred and twenty-eight breeding hutches all built in the very best style and stocked with the finest specimens to be procured anywhere.

This poultry and pet stock farm is a little fair in itself. Visitors are always made welcome there by the proprietors and whether one is specially interested in this business or not a visit to the yards will well repay any one who happens in New Berne.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

News reaches here of the sudden death of Mrs. Settle, of Greensboro, widow of the late Hon. Thomas Settle and mother of Congressman Thomas Settle.

There was great rejoicing in the New York Stock Exchange Monday at the adjournment of Congress.

Prof. Massey of the experiment farm, is quoted as stating that 254 varieties of Irish potatoes are now being planted there for purpose of experiment.

Black small-pox is raging in Nodaway county, Mo. The disease was brought from Hot Springs, Ark., by the corpse of a citizen of Maryville who was under treatment at the Springs. Monday twenty cases were reported, the schools were closed and the city quarantined.

The revenue cutter Hamilton, while steaming to Norfolk in a heavy gale Monday sighted the sloop M. D. White, Capt.
White, of Norfolk, floating bottom up in Hampton Roads, having just capsized.
A cutter was lowered away from the Hamilton and Capt. White and his nephew, who were the only persons on the sloop, were saved.

A correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger quotes Marion Butler as saying in caucus that when he was in Washington he was worried half to death by Scanlon Lodge and others as to what in the world the fusionists meant in passing the Douglas resolution. Butler said he could not answer and was glad to leave and return home.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger says: "A Republican Senator was again, perhaps for the fifth time, drunk on the street, and actually asked citizens for the price of a drink. Hanging around the lowest bar-rooms has this man been seen, and yet he has not been impeached. His name is a by-word in this city. It is a shameful condition of affairs."

The term of Mr. Higgins, Delaware's senior Senator, expired with the adjournment of Congress but the State Legislature again failed to select his successor.
Monday was the end of the seventh week of the dead lock in the balloting for United States Senator, and there is no sign whatever of a break.

The Illinois State board of health has received notice of a small-pox scare at Mattoon. Mrs. Peter Mason was at Hot Springs with her husband, who was a consumptive. They returned to Mattoon a few days ago and Mr. Mason died. The funeral was held Saturday and was largely attended. Mrs. Mason is now ill with small-pox.

KINSTON'S SECOND CALAMITY.

Another Big Fire--Loss This Time
Estimated at $40,000.

Twenty-five Houses Burned--Nine Horses Perish in the Flames Incendianism Most Probable.

Special to JOURNAL.]

KINSTON, N. C., March 5.--At twenty minutes to one o'clock this morning, the alarm of fire aroused our citizens. It was first discovered in the stables in the rear of Mr. James Cumming's store, in that part of town familiarly known as "Tuckahoe."

It was burning in two different places a hundred yards apart, when first seen--and a night watchman reports that he saw the man who set the fire and tried to catch him, but he fled escaped.

Soon the warehouses, all of wood, in the rear of the row of stores, were in flames. Then the brick store of Mr.
George E. Konegay caught, and seemingly, at the same time, the wooden stores of Stair Hicks and Charles Dunn, two prominent Negro merchants, Mr.
Wm. F. Moore's store, about this time, also was in a full blaze. The fire spread along the block North and South.

Next, the two story store and residence belonging to the Hat family, went down-- then Mrs. Cumming's old stand, occupied by Dawson Bros. who, having been burnt out in the Thursday's fire, had started business again with what goods they had saved.

Then the row of stores, three in number, the property of Dr. John A. Pollock, vanished like tinder. The office of the doctor next caught. It burned comparatively slowly. A large force of men worked like heroes, as they were, to stop the fire here. By almost superhuman exertions, they accomplished their object.
This ended the fire southward.

At the other end of the block, the fire seemed determined to gain entrance to J. B. Cummings' brick store. But the same brave men, spoken of before, checked it. They did this before they saved Dr. Pollock's residence.

The loss may be estimated at at least $40,000 of which there was insurance for about $10,000.

Seven horses perished in the burning stables, belonging to Mr. Cummings, and two belonging to gentlemen from the country.

Twenty-five houses were burned, and stables.

Mr. Shade Fields' cabin was in the same building with Mr. Cummings, being the corner store. It is thought he saved nearly if not all his liquors--and more was "lying about loose" to be carried off by gallons, as in the fire of Thursday.

It would have badly with the men or men who kindled these flames, if they fell into the hands of our citizens.

FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Congress Adjourns at Noon--President Going to North Carolina on a Fishing Trip--Monetary Conference
--Winston Hill Dead--Other Points of Interest.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4th, '95.

At twelve o'clock today the Fifty-third Congress ceased to exist. The last three days of the session are all included in the record under the head of Saturday, March 2, and the session of Saturday continued from that morning throughout Saturday night and Sunday night until today at noon. Why this abrupt parliamentary technicality should remain in force in this, the latter part of the nineteenth century is a conundrum which only the average member ought to be able to solve.

The President, Secretary Carlisle and perhaps Secretary Gresham will leave the city tonight or tomorrow morning for a fishing trip in the sounds of North Carolina. The light house tender Violet arrived at the wharf this morning at 7 o'clock.

In appointing commissioners to the monetary conference the silver men in the Senate won a decisive victory last night.
The members are Senators Jones of Ark., Teller of Col., and Daniels of Va., the other three members are to belong to the Fifty-fourth Congress. Speaker Crisp has already been named as one of these.

Mr. Bower made a final effort to get up the Winston Public Building Bill last night in committee of the whole. His action was objected to and the bill is dead.

Among the final acts of Congress was a measure to retire on half pay a number of very old officers in the Revenue Marine Service.

This President refused to receive the bill to pay clerks an extra month's salary.
In spite of the decision of the Court of Claims he declined to sign any bill after 12 o'clock to lay. The members of his Cabinet were at the White House at 9 o'clock this morning and all hands worked hard until the most important bills were signed.

That there is some very questionable legislation enacted is a self-evident fact.
An instance of it, is the finale of the Williams-Settle contested election case.
Last night about two o'clock both Settle and Williams were voted $2,500 for fees and expenses. Some time ago, these gentlemen were voted $2,000 a piece for a similar reason. In addition to this, Mr.
Settle draws his $5,000 per annum, at the fifth congressional district of North Carolina ought surely to be most ably represented in the United States Congress. It cost $9,500 for Tom Settle to represent that district in Congress, and it cost $4,500 for Baldy Williams to contest the seat.
These are pretty stiff figures for the service rendered.

Postmaster General Wm. L. Wilson will take a brief rest before assuming the duties of his office. He told me Saturday, that as he had endorsed a number of applicants for post offices in various parts of the country, he expected to have a novel experience in acting upon his own recommendations.

The late Jay Gould's daughter, Miss Anna, one of America's wealthiest heirs-esses was married Monday at the home of her brother George Jay Gould, to a French nobleman of ancient lineage and proud connections. She is now Countess de Castellane. The presents were in magnificent keeping with the wealth and prominence of the contracting parties.
The ceremony was according to the Catholic ritual, though Miss Gould is a Presbyterian and does not abandon her church.

IN NORTH CAROLINA AGAIN.

The President Once More Visits Our Sounds to Hunt and Fish--Will Remain a Week or More.

A telegram received by us Tuesday stated that Cleveland would be in North Carolina sounds on board the light house tender Violet Wednesday or Thursday and that he will remain for ten days shooting.

The President seems to have highly enjoyed his former hunting and fishing trip in Currituck sound, North Carolina, and his more recent one near Georgetown, S. C.

He found the sport very fine indeed, and we have no doubt but he will find it so this time.
