OPEN AIR CONCERT.

By the New Berne Silver Cornet Band—First One Last Night—Fine Playing Well Appreciated—Will be Repeated Weekly.

The New Berne Silver Cornet Band have decided to give open short air concerts once a week at different corners in various parts of the city. They gave their first one last night about nine o'clock at the corner of Pollock and Middle streets, playing several selections with fine skill.

It was but a short time from the time they began playing before they were surrounded by an appreciative audience. Eleven members were present and they played well.

In years past New Berne had the distinction of possessing the best band in the State and with the revival of interest the prospect is fair that this may be the case again. We hope it will. Our people should give the band every encouragement possible on every occasion that an opportunity affords. A good band is very desirable and a great convenience to every town.

NEWS ADRIET In the City of Elms and Vicinity. Gathered in and Briefly Told.

"Thursday fair" is the weather Bureau prediction.

Two good days has just been put in at pile driving for the Government building foundation. Fifteen were put down yesterday and eighteen the previous day.

Capt. W. B. Goodwin, recently of New Berne, former road master of the W. N. & N. R. R., came up from Gloucester stock farm last night accompanied by Mr. R. P. Hinton, who was civil engineer for the same road during the survey for its construction. They are en route to West Virginia where they will be connected with a railroad being built there.

Two negro women were committed to jail by Mayor William Ellis yesterday in default of bail. One for larceny under fifty dollars bond, the other one, Matilda Roberts under three charges, two of them being assaults on another colored woman for each of which a bond was fixed at $50 the other charge being resisting Officer Brinson when he arrested her. Her bond in the latter case was $100.

"Jerk 'er Lively, Boys!" The Atlantic Hose Reel Team was out yesterday evening for their first practice run. Three trials were had at the 150 yard race, making dry connections, and the boys say the time made was very satisfactory for the first trial.

There will be a practice run every evening at 7 o'clock, sharp. Captain McCarthy requests all members to respond promptly at that hour as it is necessary to have day light for this work.

Come out boys, you have the best race reel and as swift-footed firemen as there is in the State, and ten chances to one you will crown yourselves with glory tournament week.

NEARBY PLEASURES.

And the Cheap Summer Rates for Visiting Morehead—Hollowell and Peterson Excursion.

In such weather as we are having now is there anything more pleasant than a trip to the seashore and a plunge in the cooling and invigorating surf or the quieter waters of the sound by those who prefer still water bathing? And there is the ever enjoyable comfort of the refreshing ocean breeze, the delights of fishing, sailing, etc., all of which heighten the pleasure of a stay at the seaside.

The low summer rates over the A. & N. C. R. R. to Morehead city and the still lower Saturday night tickets, good to return until the following Tuesday give cheap travel to this splendid resort, "The Long Branch of North Carolina." These arrangements are in force all through the summer.

But the cheapest opportunity of all for a brief visit to the seaside will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 30th, and 31st. Hollowell and Peterson, the best known excursionists in the State will run their thirty-fifth excursion at that time at the exceptionally low prices which they themselves established when entering the business, of only one dollar from Goldsboro, seventy-five cents from New Bern and twenty-five cents from Newport for a round trip.

They announce low boarding rates and arrangements by which persons visiting the surf on the evening of the arrival can do so at only ten cents for the round trip.

The Weather Record.

The weather record for this month shows as follows:

DRINKING WATER & HEALTH

Especially in Relation to Malaria—This Important Subject Discussed Once More.

This Time by Dr. Whitaker of Trenton—Superintendent of Health of Our Neighbor County, Jones—Convinced That Malaria is Due More to Bad Water than to Bad Air—The Proof.

The Bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health publishes a letter from Dr. R. A. Whitaker of Trenton, Jones county, with brief introductory remarks. We copy both. They are so plain and so strong, that they need nothing added by us.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS. "We have just received from Dr. R. A. Whitaker, Superintendent of Health of Jones county, a letter which he wrote nearly a year ago in reply to our circular letter asking for testimony on the relation between drinking water and malarial disease, but accidentally overlooked and did not send. We regret very much that we did not get it in time to incorporate it in the first edition of our pamphlet on that subject. It will, however, appear in the second edition, which is about to go to press. It is so striking and so convincing that we feel that no apology for its publication in the Bulletin is needed."

DR. WHITAKER'S LETTER. TRENTON, N. C., June 23, 1894. RICHARD H. LEWIS, M. D., Raleigh, N. C. DEAR DOCTOR:—Some weeks ago a letter was received from you asking me for facts, or my ideas or experience in regard to malaria in connection with drinking water.

OUR THEORIES DO NOT HOLD. In the outset I will say: Four years ago my faith in the old theory of breathing malaria into the system was terribly shaken and subsequent experience has taught me that not through the atmosphere alone are germs taken into the human economy, but through other channels do they enter our systems and do their deadly work.

LOCATION OF TRENTON. To fully appreciate what I shall say in this connection it will be necessary for me to give you an idea of the location of our village. Trenton is situated on the south bank of Trent River, which stream, in its general course, runs from west to east. Just south of the village is Crooked Run, which flows into the river a half mile below the town and is parallel with the river for a mile above. On this latter stream is situated a mill far enough down to throw the pond, which is a large one, directly south of us. So you see our village is surrounded on all sides with water except to the west, and at this point the pond and river approach within three hundred yards of each other.

GOOD WATER. This peninsula of narrow neck of land on which our village is located is a ridge, and our water is as good as it can be. Most of the water in this eastern section. When the river and pond are low the drainage of our town is almost perfect and no surface water ever contaminates our wells. All of our wells are from 18 to 30 feet deep, and the water in them is cool and good with one exception. In mid-summer if a thermometer is placed in the water when first drawn it will drop to 60 degrees, and in some of the wells the water is cooler than this temperature.

ONE EXCEPTION AND THE RESULT. I said with one exception all of our water was good. This exception is a well which is on the public street at the foot of a hill leading to a bridge across the river. The water in this well is cool, but surface water enters it, especially during rainy spells. In this neighborhood persons using water from this well have chills more or less every year and at all seasons of the year. With this exception the rest of the citizens of this village are exempt from malarial troubles, unless during a prolonged rainy season when the other wells take to a certain extent contaminated with surface water, or they contract malaria while hunting or fishing by drinking spring, brook or river water. So much for the situation of our village and our water.

FACTS AGAINST BAD AIR THEORY. Now for the theory of breathing in malarial poison and why my faith in said theory has been almost destroyed. Four years ago last March this mill which has been mentioned was washed out, the water ran out of the pond, leaving stagnant pools all over it, and the stench from the exposed mud and decaying vegetation was awful. To make matters worse the south winds (for the pond is directly south of us and some of the people live right on the edge of the pond) brought this foul odor into our village, and some nights when the winds were from the south the stench was hardly bearable. The pond remained in this condition all summer till fall, when the mill was replaced and the water again covered this foul mud and decaying vegetable matter—a hot-bed for malaria, so to speak.

Realizing the situation, I predicted that everybody would be sick, and I thought I could prophesy with absolute certainty in this instance, but strange to say we had no more chills than usual; in fact, we were almost exempt from malarial troubles. This set me to thinking and gave the theories laid down in our text-books as to how the malarial poison is contracted a terrible shaking.

Last August all the water was allowed to run out of this pond in order that some repairs might be made to the dam. Again through the latter part of August and the month of September we had the same conditions as described above, only intensified, for in the former instance the pond was emptied early in the spring and to a great extent had dried before the hot weather had set in, but in this case it happened in the midst of the hot season and during the months we have the greatest amount of malarial troubles. Our people were indignant at the owner of this property for doing as he did, but if it increased sickness at all I was never able to detect it. The truth of this matter is we had fewer cases of malaria than usual.

This spring we have suffered from a prolonged and severe drought, and this same pond is now almost dry with the exception of the pools of stagnant water and the main channel of the stream that supplies water to the pond, yet we have been entirely free from sickness of a ma-

FINANCIAL COMBAT OPENS.

The Horr-Harvey Contest on the Money Question.

Ex-Congressman Horr and W. H. Harvey Begin Their Eight Days' Debate on the Free Coinage Issue—Coin's Financial School Attacked—The Debate Very Spirited.

The announced debate between W. H. Harvey, of Chicago, author of "Coin's Financial School," and W. H. Horr, began on the 16th in Chicago. Mr. Horr, the single standard gold champion is an additional writer for the New York Tribune. He was once a member of Congress from Michigan.

Only a few are given the privilege of being present. There were seats for only about two hundred in the Assembly hall where the debate is being held and only about half of them were occupied, the first day.

Mr. Harvey fortified himself for the encounter by a great pile of authorities for statements made in his book. He refers to them frequently.

The debate is on the afternoon of eight consecutive days except that Sunday will be skipped. Three hours each day will be devoted to it.

Each speaker has ten minutes, and no more at a time. The tapping of a bell gives warning when the speaker has come to within two minutes of the end of his time.

The whole debate will be copy righted and published in book form.

The argument was spirited and both speakers had hard work at times to preserve their tempers.

Mr. Horr said of Coin's Financial school that he had never read a book containing so many misstatements and referred to the author with some severity.

Mr. Harvey, in his opening remarks, simply presented his plan of campaign and told what he would prove.

Mr. Horr wanted to know why the names of prominent citizens had been used in Mr. Harvey's book, and words put into their mouths that they had never used, to which Mr. Harvey replied that his book was simply an allegory, and the fact that a little boy was put in as teacher ought to be enough to prove to any sensible person that this was so.

Then the speakers plunged at once into the thick of the fight.

lateral nature except in the locality of the well referred to above and these cases were early in the spring before drought set in.

Since receiving your letter I have made it a point to fish in this pond during all hours of the day (and the stench from the mud and decaying vegetation was very offensive) to see if breathing in these malarial vapors would produce malaria in my system. No trouble at all was experienced from thus exposing myself. Others who exposed themselves as much if not more than I did, and refrained from drinking the brackish and spring water along the streams also escaped malaria; but in nearly every instance where they drank from the creek and springs along this creek that supplied the pond they had malaria in some form.

PRIME CAUSE OF TROUBLE I will give you one more striking instance where the water was the prime cause of malarial troubles. Two miles below this place on the river is a large saw-mill. One of the hands who act as watchmen was required to be on the grounds all the time, and a house was built for his family near the mill. This family and the hands of the mill used water from a spring that came from the earth in a low, marshy place. A curb was sunk in the mud around this spring, which held about two barrels of water all the time, and an overflow of the curb was the only way for the water to escape. As long as this water was used by this man's family and the rest of the hands at the mill some of them were down with malarial fever all the time. I pointed out the trouble to them and had them to use water from another spring which had no basin to it, but the water was taken 'into the vessels as it flowed out of the hill. The result was the malarial troubles were greatly diminished and my visits to these people were cut down over half.

In conclusion, I will say there is no doubt in my mind that drinking water plays an important part in causing malarial troubles, and that if we can get in this eastern section good, pure water, free from surface water, we will have little to fear from malaria.

I am, very truly yours, R. A. WHITAKER, M. D.

The above is a very convincing letter of the need to use none but pure water. This can be obtained anywhere in the country by properly bored wells at moderate cost and here in New Berne we are fortunate in procuring such from deep bore wells furnished by the water works company.
