NEWS ABRIPT.

In the City of Elms and Vicinity, Gathered in and Briefly Told. Hot! Hotter!! Hottest!!! It's up to 99 degrees.

Generally fair weather is predicted for today.

Mrs. R. H. Berry will soon enter into the millinery business.

There is a good deal of fun going on at the Club House every afternoon now, for quite a number are practicing for the boat race next Wednesday.

The thermometer is still climbing. It went up to 90 yesterday, which is five degrees higher than it reached at all last year, but which has been reached twice before this year, June 21 and 31.

Key west advices says that the party of supposed filibusters arrested by the cutter Winona Tuesday were carried before U. S. Commissioner Otto and released, nothing being proven against them.

The last copy of the Volunteer Fireman contains excellent portraits of our townsmen, T. A. Green, Treasurer of the N. C. State Firemen's Association, and of Ben T. Emerson, of Wilson, its statistician.

Mr. Edward Ballard, about 47 years of age who has been down ill with consumption for quite a while, died yesterday. He leaves three daughters. The remains will be taken to his old home at Croun Point for interment.

Some of the oysters on the market Friday spoiled owing to the intense heat and had to be hauled off and thrown away. The boatmen were warned by the city authorities not to bring any more here until cool weather comes again.

Mr. F. D. Cudlipp, electrician, arrived from Richmond and spent Friday in the city looking to the movement of the telegraph office from its present location to the new one at Hotel Chattawka: Mr. G. L. Johnson accompanied Mr. Cudlipp. He intends to equip the new office well. The work will be in progress next week.

We are glad to see that Rev. L. L. Nash, D. D., who has been ill a few days from fever was able to set up all day yesterday. Mr. T. R. Hyman, who has had a spell of sickness is also able to be up and around the house now. We hope speedily to see them both enjoying their usual health and vigor.

A colored laborer on the tram way of Messrs. Congdon & Co., up Newriver was run over which he had been Friday afternoon. Medical attention was summoned from New Berne but the injuries were such that there were fears that the man would be dead even before the physicians could reach him.

Mr. Wm. T. Hough, who came to New Berne from Bayboro a few weeks ago is now located in the Baxter building alongside the Middle street Baptist church, using the store part for his business and living in the rest. While it was being fitted up he was temporarily near the market wharf. Mr. Hough brought up a stock of general merchandise which he had been handling but he is closing that out to devote the store's space to millinery and notions, in which business his wife will engage.

All the A. & N. C. R. R. buildings in this city, the offices, the depot, the shops and the warehouse are being connected with the water works.

A drinking fountain of improved pattern, has also been erected in the yard in the place of the one formerly there, and an ornamental fountain throws aloft its beautiful spray from the center of the fish reservoir.

We are glad to see such wholesale use made of the water works' conveniences. They should be appreciated by every one.

Coming and Going. Misses Annie and Maud Morton, who have been visiting at Mr. Hugh Cummings', returned to their home in Kinston.

Adjutant General F. H. Cameron of Raleigh, and Judge J. C. McRae of Fayetteville, came in on the steamer Neuse and left on the morning train for their homes. They have been over to Elizabeth City court. Judge McRae was a citizen of New Berne prior to the war.

Dr. H. B. Battle, who has been spending a short time in the city at Hotel Chattawka, left for his home in Raleigh.

Mr. Frank L. Castex, of Goldsboro, formerly of New Berne is registered at the Chattawka. He is now traveling for a Virginia dry goods house.

Kinston Naval Reserves. The Naval Reserves received a lot of ammunition Monday and are now in condition to give powerful aid in preserving the peace should occasion arise. The fact of the existence of such an organization acts as a preventative of riots or disorders.

Lieut. Winslow came Monday and gave the boys their first skirmish drill. He says they did splendidly for the first time. Lieut. Winslow complimented our division highly. The personnel of the division is as good as anywhere, consisting of some of the best citizens of the place. The Reserves deserve and should have the encouragement and support of the community.—Free Press.

Quantities of Tobacco. The Goldsboro Argus says that the amount of tobacco on the market on the opening of the warehouse in that place was 350,000 pounds, and that "no such break was ever before known in the State for any one day."

We are privately informed that the break was so large that the harness warehouse floor, one of the largest in the State, was filled and yet there were about a hundred carts in waiting. The sales had to be continued next day.

Mr. W. T. Ocho is back from Beaufort and Martin counties, informs us that he found the farmers flush with money from sales of tobacco, and that they were looking toward the "free silver." The most they were thinking about now was big prices for tobacco.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows will hold its next session on Dulles Texas.

Misfortunes have fallen rapidly upon Mr. Alfred Rawls of Arrapahoe. His wife, Mrs. Alotha Rawls, died Wednesday the 18th after a brief illness, which occurred we noted in the Daily Journal.

After the funeral Mr. Rawls sent his son on an errand, and on the way the horse which the young man was riding stumbled and fell, throwing him off and the horse fell on top of him.

The fall was so severe that young Mr. Rawls' collar bone was broken, a portion of it protruding. There are strong fears that the accident will prove fatal.

At N. Hahn's Stables. Two splendid iron grays, beautiful matches, which were in the last lot of horses that arrived for Messrs. M. Hahn & Co., were out with the 'bus yesterday. They attracted considerable attention. They are fine animals weighing 1420 pounds each.

Mr. Ferd. Hahn was also out sporting with one of the choice, medium, iron gray drivers in the afternoon.

An elegant little vehicle, a fine little T car, adjustable for two or four people came at the same time. It is one of the prettiest little cars around here.

THE WOMAN'S EDITION

Of the Fayetteville Observer—A Highly Creditable Work—Its Features and Object—A Native of New Berne the Editor in Chief.

The Fayetteville Observer's Woman's Edition is a fine one. It consists of twelve large pages. Much of the space is, of course, devoted to Fayetteville—historically and descriptively, and considerable is also devoted to the State along the same lines, the articles being carefully prepared by ladies selected for the purpose.

There are several illustrations. Among them is a map of Fayetteville, a picture of the old and new court-house, the Confederate monument at Raleigh, and portraits of Hon. Jefferson Davis and Z. B. Vance.

One of the column articles is on "North Carolina Women; their Contributions to Literature." Mrs. Mary B. Clarke and Miss Alice L. Duffy, New Berne poetesses, receive very clever mention in it.

The paper is sold at ten cents each and is well worth it. The object of it is to raise funds for the Confederate monument which is to be erected on the court house square of Fayetteville, by the ladies of Cumberland county. The work is directly in charge of the Ladies' Confederate Memorial Association of that city. The president of the Association is Mrs. Jno. B. Broadfoot, nee Miss Fannie Bryan, daughter of Judge H. R. Bryan of New Berne. The edition is a great credit to her and to the other ladies connected with the work.

Disciple Meetings. Rev. James Winfield went down to North river Friday to conduct a meeting of about a week's duration.

A week previous he closed a meeting at a mission station at Reelsboro which he started last year. There were ten additions, swelling the total number of Disciples there now to 49; a house of worship is being erected and they will be organized into a church at an early day.

Rutherford College offers free tuition to our girls unable to pay for it. This is one way of reaching the mind thirsty for knowledge, but it is a question in our minds as to whether it is the right way. Competitive examinations, one half free tuition, personal non-interest bearing notes, labor assistance and other plans are much preferable and do not shake or muzzle, or lessen the self respect of the recipient. Educational institutions, however much endowed, should not be made charity hospitals in which the bright mind and lazy body can get treatment.—N. C. Baptist.
