FINE GAME REPORT.

Never Saw It So Abundant in His Life as it is Here—Seeking a Game Preserve for a Millionaire. Capt. L. F. McNett, of Yonkers, N. Y., arrived on his commodious and well furnished schooner yacht Eleanor Saturday afternoon. He has been on a pleasure trip in the North Carolina sounds. They came outside until they reached Norfolk and from there they came through the Albemarle canal.

They did no hunting until they reached North Carolina but the captain says he never saw game so abundant anywhere in his life as he found it here. Core sound, he says, was literally alive with ducks, and they, as well as geese and other water fowls were abundant in all the sounds.

He says that sometimes no sound could be heard but the cries of the water fowl on the water and of the foxes ashore, but these could be heard the whole night through.

Capt. McNett informs us that he is here in the interest of a retired millionaire physician who intends to purchase a large tract of land as a game preserve and as a health resort. The captain has heard of good places in this region and we doubt not that a suitable body of land, just what is desired can be found and obtained at moderate cost which would be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the fortunate investors.

N. E. C. Re-opening. New Berne Collegiate Institute reopens Monday, Dec. 30th. Prof. Mendenhall has secured Mr. J. M. Holding as instructor of the Greek and Latin languages.

In New Berne they have also been put on sale at Capt. S. B. Waters, and at Hotels Chatham and Albion. The young ladies have worked industriously in preparing this edition and have gotten up one that does themselves and the city credit. They deserve large patronage and abundant financial success from the effort.

MR. W. H. HOOTEN. Brought Home But in a Dangerous Condition Still.

As his condition permitted removal, Mr. W. H. Hooten, who sustained serious injuries by a fall in Washington has been brought home, the journey being effected by placing him in a covered wagon upon a good mattress and springs.

Dr. J. C. Rodman, attended Mr. Hooten in Washington, and Dr. J. W. Duguid is attending him here. Dr. Duguid removed a small piece of bone, fractured from his skull, Saturday morning and also cut away some of the dead tissue.

Though Mr. Hooten has improved somewhat, he is not out of danger yet. His mind wanders a portion of the time and there is danger of a clot of blood forming at the base of the brain with serious results.

This was the only topic discussed in the morning session.

There was no afternoon session held. The programme arranged for that time was moved forward, to this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Saturday night the devotional exercises were opened by Mr. E. B. Simpson.

The report of the committee on time and place recommended Vandemere as the place for the next meeting of the Union and Friday before the 5th Sunday in March as the time. The report was adopted.

The subject for discussion at this hour was "Education." It was discussed by Rev. W. F. Fry, followed by Rev. J. L. Stringfield, agent for the Baptist Female University at Raleigh, and by Dr. R. H. Lewis of Kingston.

FINE PRESS NOTICES. Of Miss Houston Who Appears Here With Miss Marion Radcliff Thursday, January 2d.

The Birmingham Age Herald says: "Miss Houston took the audience by storm Friday night. At her every appearance the public is more and more impressed with the miraculous quality of her voice. Deep, rich, resonant, it partakes of the majesty of the organ with the sonority of the violinello. In metropolitan cities Miss Houston will not appear as a village favorite in a field too large, but will there find greater applause and more enthusiastic admirers."

Montgomery, Nov. 19.—Miss Houston's delightful contralto voice was heard with greatest pleasure at Saint Paul's church Sunday last.

Columbia, Ga.—The going of Miss Houston to New York means much to her. She has a glorious voice of remarkable power and depth. With proper study it will become one of the famous voices of the South. Her extraordinary gifts and ambition make the greatest success assure.

The Atlanta Constitution says: "The central attraction of the opera was 'Katiska' the part taken by Miss Houston. Miss Houston is possessed of great histrionic talent and splendid vocal gifts. She is a wonderfully gifted young woman. Prizes that hang high are within her reach."

"The Elms"—A Widow Boarding House. Mrs. L. S. Washburn, of Wildwood, was up to the city Saturday, trading.

We mentioned the passing through this city of Mrs. Washburn and her uncle, Mr. H. E. Gould, from Brooklyn, their former home, about two weeks ago en route to live at the place Mrs. Washburn had purchased and improved and which is their present home.

Having been solicited by Northern friends to establish it as a boarding house she has decided to do so, either for pleasure seekers or others and has now opened it. Mr. Gould is the manager of the house. It will be known as "The Elms," and we believe it will be made a pleasant country resort either for those who are seeking rest or for those who are in quest of hunting in the "wildwood" or the forest lakes near by which abound in game of almost every kind.

A Quiet Marriage. A quiet, but pretty marriage took place at St. Luke's church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the contracting parties being Mr. Benjamin E. Hated and Miss Mary D. Gooding, Rev. A. S. Lloyd officiating. The bride was charmingly attired in a brown travelling dress and carried an exquisite bouquet of bride roses. The groom wore the conventional black. After the ceremony the happy pair left for Richmond, where they will reside. They were the recipients of many handsome presents. A handsome dinner was tendered them at the residence of Mrs. George T. Parker, No. 126 Freeman street.

The bride is one of New Berne, N. C.'s most charming daughters, and the groom is a promising young machinist of Richmond. The good wishes of their many friends go with them through life.—Evening News, Dec. 23d.

OUR SPECIAL FAIR EDITION

Will be Issued January 22nd—The Interest That is Being Taken in It. The usual five thousand special Fair edition of THE WEEKLY JOURNAL will make its annual appearance January 22d. It will be a fine issue for advertisers to use, especially those engaged in such lines as real estate, &c., as it will go into the hands of good and widely separated parties.

Names have already begun to come in for the papers to be sent to, even before any announcement of the publication was made. This shows at once the appreciation of the special edition is taking in the minds of the people and also the interest they are taking in helping out the Fair's success by furnishing the names of desirable people to reach by the Fair edition.

There will be a similar special Fair issue of the Kingston Free Press.

The managers of the Fair wisely believe not only in making a good Fair, but in giving the widest publicity possible in advance to what they are doing. In this lies one of the secrets of the great success which has attended every exhibition the Fair has ever held, and each one of which has been made better than the preceding. Long may such praiseworthy efforts continue and long may the Fair flourish. It has done incalculable good to this section and is calculated to do still greater.

Awful Theatre Panic in Baltimore. An awful calamity occurred in Front Street theatre, Baltimore Friday night.

A panic occurred and in the stampede twenty-four people were killed and two others fatally injured. It was all caused by a false alarm of fire by reason of a blazing gas jet.

The house was packed with three thousand people at the time. At one time the landing at the foot of a flight of stairs was packed twenty or thirty deep with the panic stricken multitude while hundreds behind were struggling over them to reach the street.
