WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the course of an elaborate report on the Congo Free State made to the State Department by United States Consul Dornay Mouton, who traveled for two years with the Belgian forces through the interior of that country, he says that at Leopoldville, where, twice a week, three or four thousand natives bring their products to exchange them for gunpowder and checked cloth, the only money in use is brass rods, or "mitaka," which are cut in lengths eight inches long. At Banana Point the articles used for trade with the natives are regular bantian handkerchiefs, gin, cloth, leads, machetes, old silk hats, colored parasols, cheap knives, flat-lock muskets, powder, brass rods, crockery, tinware, old uniform coats, old derby hats, rum, cheap watches and cologne.

All these articles are made for the trade, and the standard of value is a piece of handkerchief 24 feet long and three feet broad and valued at 60 cents. When the trader lays produce he gives out cards to the natives, which are good for one piece of handkerchief, and when the caravan has been brought out the natives come to the store or "fech," and hand in their cards, with which they can select what they want to the value of the card held.

As a rule, they will not touch money, regarding it as useless, and this is a great advantage to the trader, who makes large profits in exchange for handkerchiefs, which probably cost him, landed in the Congo, duty paid, twenty cents apiece. The same is true at Leopold, Yambinga, Itimi and Lusambo.

Food is ridiculously cheap, and a small egg cup full of blue glass beads, a little larger than pin heads, will purchase food for one man for a week. Coffee and cotton grows wild and the natives own a good many cattle. A cow can be bought for one flat-lock gun, valued at $3.50 on the coast. American sheeting, commonly known throughout Central Africa, as "merikani," goes well in trading.

The dash of Arab in these people makes them exceedingly clean, in strong contrast to Congo savages. Mr. Mohon says that while the Congo man is satisfied with a strip of cloth a foot wide covering him, one of these people will sew all his cloth which he receives in pay for their, and drape the whole thing over himself. He saw one was wearing at least 200 yards of cloth and always kept it clean.

At Kasongo, where a great market is held three times a week, the money is "sandiba," a square of woven palm fiber, and with six of these a man can get food enough to last him a week. These "sandibas" are patched into garments and worn until they are money. "Medibas" and iron hoes constitute the money at Nandivo, which is the African salt center. Here salt is also used to purchase everything, and is practically the standard of value.

Gold and silver are unknown and cannot be found upon the savages. The Congo State is said to be bankrupt, its expenditures more than doubling its receipts from the domestic revenues, the advances from the Belgian Treasury and King Leopold II making up the deficit. Barias has gone bicycle crazy, according to Consul Carpentier's report, and as the demand cannot be even partially supplied by European makers, there is an excellent market for American whisks. The prejudice against ladies appearing on wheels has altogether disappeared. The roads are magnificent.

WITHDRAWN FROM RACE.

Martin, Favored by This, But Populists Must Act on Square.

Raleigh, N. C., September 30.—J. M. Smith, of R. O. Kingham, informs me that he and Dr. Norment have both withdrawn from Congressional race in favor of Charles H. Martin, but that if matters don't go right, another man will be nominated.

This means if Populists do not stick to their contract another candidate will be put up.

Can This be So?

Raleigh, N. C., September 30.—Persons who came here today, from Halifax county, say that Russell and Walser made free silver speeches. Walser declared for greenbacks.

SAVE YOUR COTTON.

Blown Out, But Can be Saved by Prompt Action in Gathering.

Raleigh, N. C., September 30.—The State Agricultural Department has issued a Bulletin this afternoon, saying, that last night's storm blew out one-fourth of the cotton in fields, and that this is as yet but slightly damaged as wind followed the rain.

THE STORM.

Ruins in Its Track. Houses Wrecked and Buildings Unroofed.

Raleigh, N. C., September 30.—Last night's storm wrecked a four-story tobacco prize house at Louisa, and three prize houses at Youngsville.

AN ENEMY'S INVENTION.

Chairman Manly on the Reported Coming Down of Cyrus B. Watson.

Raleigh, N. C., September 30.—Chairman Manly says that the report of Cyrus B. Watson's withdrawal from the gubernatorial race was untrue, and that such a thought had never entered the mind of any Democrat.

THE COTTON MARKETS.

September 30th.

The terrible windstorm of the 29th, so interrupted the telegraph wires that there has been almost no telegraphic communication with the outside world today.

Telegraphic Items.

The dock laborers of Hamburg have gone out on a strike.

The Sublime Porte says that Armenians burn their own houses to excite sympathy.

Colonel Francis W. Rhodes, brother of Cecil Rhodes, will retire from the British army.

General Marshall's Daughter.

General Marshall's daughter, who married Count de Naros, has given birth to a daughter.

A Cognition of British Coal.

General Marshall's daughter, who married Count de Naros, has given birth to a daughter.

WARNS THE SULTAN.

Demands Reforms and Italy Ready to Forward Troops.

LONDON.—The Chronicle says that the French Ambassador at Constantinople had an interview with the Sultan and insisted on extending reforms throughout the whole Turkish empire. This is the diplomatic move that France has made and is taken as a warning.

Putting up

A Prescription

is careful work. Deceitful aged drugs won't do. They must be young and fresh—full of life and strength for the sick. They must be pure and they must be carefully put together. Too much of this and not enough of that, you won't do. We make a specialty of putting up prescriptions—we can do it better than the man who doesn't make a specialty of it. If you want careful, thoughtful work, come to BRADHAM'S PHARMACY.

Dress - Making

DEPARTMENT.

Orders for Fall and Winter Costumes will be accepted by our Dress Making Department on and after September 15th.

This date is late enough to enable us to make up with certainty the accepted for sale styles that will be in vogue during the season.

We have just perfected arrangements by which we will be put in touch with Paris and Berlin within two weeks of the date of the appearance of any special style or mode. This is quite enterprising for a North Carolina house, and no Dress Making Department in America will turn out more creditable or stylish work than ours. We bespeak your patronage.

Correspondence Solicited.
