WANTS TO COME IN.

THE HAWAIIAN GOVERNMENT FAVORS ANNEXATION.

Believed Ex-Secretary Foster Went There in Interest of Republican Party to Ascertain Extent of Annexation Sentiment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Ex-Secretary and Mrs. John W. Foster have arrived by the steamer City of Peking from a visit to the Hawaiian Islands, greatly pleased with the scenery, climate and people.

Mr. Foster reports the islands in a most prosperous and peaceful condition.
He said the sugar planters have declared large dividends on last year's business, and the new crop now nearly ready for grinding is even more promising. Coffee cultivation is being largely extended, and is looked forward to with great expectations.
The increased commerce has justified the Pacific Mail in doubling its service to Honolulu, and a new line of large Japanese steamers is promised soon to be established.

The census recently taken, but not yet published, will show a considerable increase in the total population. But a steady decrease in the native race is seen.
The increase is mainly in the Japanese and Chinese population.

The present administration, although without the sympathy of many of the natives and some of the foreign merchants is conceded to be the best government the islands have ever had, and seems well established and generally acquiesced in.
Although Commission Blount, in 1893, predicted its overthrow within a year, it is approaching the end of the fourth year of its existence under most favorable auspices.

Its program and the constitution under which it is acting declares unequivocally for annexation to the United States and it will doubtless press the subject anew upon the incoming administration at Washington. While there is a diversity of sentiment in the island on the question of annexation there is a general feeling that the government of the United States should give a decisive answer respecting it. The existing uncertainty as to the future is distressing business and creates a state of great uneasiness in the community.

The ex-queen keeps herself in seclusion and few of her old supporters expect ever to see her restoration. If the islands are not annexed to the United States the belief prevails that they will fall under the dominion of some other power.

The mutual distrust engendered by the events of the past few years make it difficult for any party to successfully carry on an independent government and the growing political and commercial importance of the Pacific in the world's affairs would soon bring about complications with one or more of the nations now actively competing in that part of the globe.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster left for Washington tonight. The impression prevails here that Mr. Foster's trip to the island was not alone to urge annexation and enlarge the power of the Pacific Cable Company's possession, but that he went also in the interest of the Republican party to ascertain the extent of annexation sentiment at the present time.

The glowing accounts he gives of the prosperity of the islands and of the delight of the inhabitants at the news of Major McKinley's election, are interpreted by certain prominent people here to mean that earnest efforts to annex the islands to the United States will follow closely upon President McKinley's inauguration.

THE COTTON MARKETS.

November 25.
TUESDAY FROM LIVERPOOL showed that the foreign demand did not take much interest in our rise of yesterday.

New York opened at 7.58 for January and has been very ably sustained around this figure. The close was firm at 7.55.
The last two days has shown a little larger speculation. If this should increase some it will have a stimulating effect.

It is expected that there will be a lighter crop movement this week. If this expectation is realized the market will be at least steady and may improve.
On the other hand, if receipts show no abatement a lower market is very probable.

The statistical position of cotton, even considering the tremendous volume of receipts up to this date, is not by any means weak.

New York market has been firm at 8 1/2 to 8 1/4.
The markets of the United States will be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving day.

Yours Truly,
J. E. LATHAM.

unknown to the jury.

The bodies of Herman Myer and Nora Richardson were found lying on the sidewalk at Indianapolis with every indication of a murder and a suicide. Letters in Myer's pockets indicated a love affair, resulting in a demand for marriage and a final quarrel just before the shooting.

Ernest Warford, aged fifty-four years, of Boston, Pa., a storekeeper for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Phil-to death on the rocks sixty feet below.
