WASHINGTON NEWS.

Why Murray Raised No Objection

Upon Electoral Count. Tariff Legislation Difficult. Monetary Conference Bill. Amended Immigration Bill.

JOURNAL BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.

Sensations billed in advance seldom materialize. Consequently there was little surprise when Representative Murray, of South Carolina, announced a few hours in advance of the meeting in joint convention of the House and Senate to count the electoral vote that he had changed his mind about objecting to the counting of the vote of his State, on the ground that it had no constitutional Republican form of government. Mr. Murray, who is a colored man, didn't change his mind. He was simply squelched by the Republican leaders, who realized, if Murray did not, the danger of monkeying with such a proceeding as the counting of the electoral vote. They knew that Senator Tillman was not making an idle threat when he said that if the vote of South Carolina was not counted, McKinley would not be inaugurated on March 4, but Secretary Onley would under the law of succession become President. All that he would have needed to make the threat really would have been a majority of the Senate. Although the galleries were crowded to their full seating capacity, nothing occurred during the forty or fifty minutes needed to count and announce the result of the voting in the electoral college to pay the visitors for the trouble they had gone to get tickets admitting them. It was, like the proceedings in the Supreme court, highly important but extremely dull and tiresome to outsiders. Well, anyway, it is all done now, except the swearing in of McKinley and Hobart, which will inaugurate the hurray programme of March 4.

Nothing could give a better idea of the difficulty of attempting to say what any particular duty will be in the new tariff bill than the action of the Ways and Means committee on steel rails. Last week the committee decided, informally of course, that the rate on steel rail should be cut to $1 a ton. As soon as that action was published the rail-makers, especially those in the west, began to bring pressure on the committee against the change. This week the committee voted to let the duty on rails remain as it is, $7.84 a ton. Somebody, it is fact many somebodies, is interested in every article touched by the tariff, and you can never know just what sort of tariff law you will get by studying the committee's work on the original bill. This was proven by the present tariff law and by the McKinley law, both of which were radically changed after they had been reported from the House committee.

It may become necessary for Maj. McKinley to speak if he wishes the monetary conference bill to pass the House, as several Republicans in the House are engaged in working up opposition, on the ground that the bill is a snare set for the incoming President by Senator Chandler and others who opposed his nomination and who do not wish to see his administration to be a success. The plainest talker among the opponents of the bill is Representative Hill, of Conn., a Republican and a believer in the gold standard, and Representative Brewster of N. Y., who shares his views in a close second.

The amended immigration bill, having passed both branches of Congress, has now gone to the President. Before the bill was amended so as to allow the illiterate wives and minor children of immigrants who complied with the law to come in, it was semi-officially stated it was the intention of the President to veto the bill, but it is now said that the amendments have removed his objections and that he will sign it. Still his opponents have not given up hope of a veto.

A record was made by Congress this week in passing bills over the President's veto. The House passed two, both pension bills in favor of widows of soldiers who had married again and lost their second husbands by death, and the Senate passed the bill, which is now a law, relating to the holding of court in the Eastern Texas district.

Senatorial dignity has had another throw down, and it was a hard one. After voting down by an overwhelming majority the motion to discuss the arbitration treaty in open session, and taking extra precautions to keep the proceedings secret, those Senators who consider themselves the especial custodians of the dignity of that body were disgusted to read each day just as full reports in the newspapers of the secret sessions as were printed of the open sessions. They fretted and seethed the employees, only to be bluntly told by Senator Hill, who made the motion to consider the treaty in open session, and other Senators that as all the world knew they ought to know their own duty, and that it was the members of the Senate, and not the employees, who gave out the proceedings of the executive sessions. Although several extended executive sessions have been given to discuss the treaty, no perceptible progress has been made towards its disposal. Some have suggested, in addition to those made in committee, have been offered and some of the Senators have flatly stated their opposition to the treaty amended or unamended.

Senator Allen's resolution prohibiting any army or navy officer accepting a gift of value, which he makes no secret of being intended to prevent a Washington residence being given to Gen. Nelson A. Miles as a reward for his service during the Chicago strike, is being much talked about.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

No Change of Employees Under Supreme Court. Heavy Cigarette Tax. Bills of Interest. Assembly Realizing Shortness of Time Left.

JOURNAL BUREAU, RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 12, 1897.

The Supreme court bench has decided to make no change in its officers and employees except for good causes. Politics will not be allowed to rule in this instance. The present officers have discharged their duty faithfully.

It is said that the railroads keep the lives of the men employed insured just as they do the property of the road.

A bill will be introduced to impose a tax of 15 cents on every package of cigarettes sold in this State.

In the House on the 11th, a bill was introduced to provide for the redemption of land after sale, under execution, mortgage, making it lawful to redeem and within two years after sale upon payment of sum paid for purchase together with interest, provided both shall not exceed principal and interest on original debt, and at sale a certificate of sum paid be given. The "fellow servants" bill passed without a dissenting vote. This bill gives any employee of a railroad right to sue for damages, and prevents any transfer of such rights.

Three bills on Monday reconsidered the railway rate bill; to elect railroad commissioners by popular vote, and to prohibit free passes and franchises in the Senate, to so amend the laws as to add Cumberland county to the Eastern judicial circuit. This creates a new judicial circuit and gives the Governor the power to appoint until the next election. This bill passed.

The members realize how much of the 30 days for which they can demand protection has been wasted, and now they sold two sessions each day.

In the Senate last night the beholding of enrolling clerk Swinson was on deck. He was beheld, but as the evidence clearly showed it was not because of extravagance only, for those clerks have been forced upon him, and if he had accepted the negroes, there would have been no row raised. It makes a strong point in the Democratic side for this wise use as campaign ammunition next election.

In the House a bill to investigate the charges of fraud in lease of the N. C. R. R. came up. This was referred to the special committee on the lease.

Also a resolution to look after the committee that was to investigate the charges of fraud in the Senatorial fight. There was quite a lively debate. It was declared that the committee had been derelict in its duty not to have attended to this sooner. The resolution fixing the 15th as the date for the committee to report was passed.

The House also passed a resolution sanctioning enrolling clerk Swinson.

A bill for an appropriation for the Centennial was tabled.

A special train went out to Wake Forest this evening to carry those who wished to attend the 32nd anniversary of the two literary societies at the college.

There is scarcely any doubt but what the negroes will be given charge of the Colored Insane Asylum at Goldsboro.

Senator Butler is rather red hot on Governor Russell. He declares that the Republicans get charge of the R. R. commission that the Southern R. R. will get the choosing of one of the commissioners. He declares that Russell should look to the interest of the people better than to allow such a thing as this to happen.

One hundred convicts were sent yesterday from the penitentiary here to work on the Roanoke farms.

The legislature committee on education yesterday afternoon went to Chapel Hill and from there they go to the Normal and Industrial school at Greensboro on an inspecting tour.

IMPORTANT BILLS.

Passed And Introduced by Assembly Yesterday.

G. & M. R. R. Charter Repealed. County Superintendents of Health. Monument For Vance.

SPECIAL.
RALEIGH, N. C., February 12.—The House passed the bill repealing the charter of the Goldsboro and Morehead Railway.

It was stated the thirty days notice necessary was not given.

The bill passed, (passed by Representative Hancock) to require the election of county superintendents of Health by the county commissioners instead of by the Doctors.

A bill was introduced creating Governor Russell, Jule A. Carr and Judge W. A. Hoke, a commission to select the design for a monument to the memory of Zebulon B. Vance.

The bill passed the Senate placing the Republicans and Populists in charge of the Agricultural college.

Enrolling clerk Swinson, locked up his office and all his desks and left.

Lt. Governor Reynolds and Speaker Hittman had the doors forced.

Swinson then presented a protest that he cannot be removed from office during his term.

The Lt. Governor says he will lay Swinson's case before the Supreme Court tomorrow, and threatens his impeachment.

THE COTTON MARKETS.

February 12.
The markets in New York and Chicago have been closed today in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

LIVERPOOL market has declined 2-64.

A LETTER written yesterday from my New York correspondents, Mess. Rold Moore & Co., sums up the situation so cleverly, I hand it to you for publication.

Yours truly,
J. E. LATHAM.

NEW YORK, February 11, 1897.

DEAR SIR—The market reached during this past week another one of those periods of liquidation of the first or long interest. There is probably nearly one million bales held and sold again in the New Orleans, New York and Liverpool Exchanges. These contract sales remain until the cotton is purchased by spinners or exporters. When those who have purchased these contracts grow weary of holding and desist to sell, it can readily be seen that the price must be made attractive before the places of those selling out. Hobbs began the show unbusiness last week and the liquidation of this unsettled interest, is apparently the only cause of present decline. Since the large sale of print cloths took place early in the week the cotton goods trade has had a much more cheerful aspect. Receipts are above expectations and no special weakness is shown in Southern markets.

It is true, Liverpool advices have been disappointing, due chiefly to the unfavorable conditions prevailing in India. But the main trouble lies in the inaction of speculation which seeks rather to contract than expand its interest.

The changes for the week show quite a divergence from differences prevailing a week ago. The Fall months have lost only 21 to 22 points while this crop has declined 27 to 29 points.

Yours truly,
Ronn. Moore & Co.
