WASHINGTON NEWS.

Fifty-Fifth Congress Makes An Early Start.

Bulletining Applicants for Office. Policy Towards Cuba. New Tariff Bill. Interior Department Scandal. Jerry Simpson Talks.

JOURNAL BUREAU,
 WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15.

The Fifty-fifth Congress which met in extra session at noon today makes an early start; what sort of ending it will make only time can tell. The House organized by re-electing Speaker Reed and all other officers of last Congress; the Democrats cast their votes for Representative Bailey, of Texas, for Speaker, and he is now regarded as the regularly constituted leader of the Democrats in the House. The idea of a combination of the silver elements in the Senate to reorganize the committees of that body has been abandoned for the time, and the impression is that the Republicans will be allowed to retain the Chairmanships they have, at least during the extra session, and that the vacancies in committees will be filled by mutual agreement among the several parties in the Senate. No body seems to think that the gentleman appointed to the Senate by the Governors of Kentucky, Florida and Oregon save the remotest chance to be seated; the Republicans do not wish to engage in a fight that will add to their difficulties in getting votes outside of their party that will be needed to pass the tariff bill and the other parties have been unable to agree upon any basis of voting together.

The plan of bulletining the names of applicants for the big positions, which has been adopted by some of the Government departments, is not pleasing to such of the applicants as are in the habit of adopting the "still-hunt" method of office-seeking, but taken altogether it is not a bad idea; it makes it reasonably certain that the men against whom valid objections can be raised will not secure appointments. Making the applicants secure the endorsement of all the Republicans in Congress from their State is another rule that is not popular with applicants, although it is calculated to make the President's task a much easier one.

Few, if any, of the members of the new House received a warmer personal welcome than did Jerry Simpson. He expresses confidence that the populists will elect the next President, and thus outlines his own policy in the present Congress: "For the present we've got to let the Republicans run the affairs of the nation, and I'm for giving them all the rope they want. Let 'em write and pass any sort of tariff act they choose—it isn't wise nor right to obstruct them in the east in their efforts to redeem the lavish promises of coming prosperity made in the last campaign."

Although practically known for some time, it was fully decided at the last meeting of the Cabinet that the Cuban policy of this administration would be one of non-intervention so long as the present status of the combatants in Cuba is maintained. About the only difference between the Cleveland and the McKinley policy towards Cuba, is that President McKinley will be more positive in demands relating to the treaty rights of Americans in Cuba. This difference seems to have already been realized by the Spanish officials in Cuba, who are reported to be treating Americans with more consideration than they were a short time ago.

Since the Fifty-fifth Congress the House has been controlled, by overwhelming majorities, twice in favor of the Republicans and twice in favor of the Democrats. The Republican majority over all in the present House is only 51, a smaller majority than that in the House of any one of the four preceding Congresses. A moderate sized majority is regarded as easier to handle by the party leaders than a very large one.

A few gentlemen, in and out of Congress, are professing to be greatly surprised at the rates of duty imposed by the new tariff bill, just completed by the Republican members of the ways and means committee, but there is in reality no occasion for surprise. The bill is just about what it might have been expected to be and may be fairly described as the McKinley bill changed to meet changed conditions. It is strictly a protective bill, and its framers say that it will prove to be a good revenue bill by furnishing the additional money needed to meet the deficit in Government receipts. It will probably be passed by the House before April 1. What will happen to it before it passes the Senate is as uncertain as how long the Senate will consider it. Those who remember that somewhere in the neighborhood of 500 amendments were added to the McKinley bill in a Republican Senate, and that nearly as many were added to the Wilson bill in a Democratic Senate, are a little dubious about trying to predict what a Senate not controlled by any party will do to the present bill.

There is something very nearly akin to a big scandal in the Interior Department, in which Land Commissioner Lamoreux is involved on account of a decision he made in favor of claimants to valuable land on the lake front of Chicago, which has been set aside by Secretary Bliss, and in which ex-Secretary Carlisle, who is now counsel for those claimants, may be involved. The whole case is to be reheard, and some interesting things are expected to be brought out.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Saloons Must Close at 11 p. m. X-Ray Machine for Trinity College. Talk of Fusion.

JOURNAL BUREAU,
 RALEIGH, N. C., March 15, '87.

An ordinance requiring all saloons to be closed by 11 o'clock every night except Saturday (when they can be kept open until 12) has been passed and today notice was served to that effect on all saloons. Some have been rumping at 'all night' house.

The aldermen have ordered a city election to be held May 3rd. For many years we have had democratic government here. With our present board of progressive aldermen Raleigh has gone forward and many improvements scarcely hoped for are now realized.

The street car company say the electric cars will be running by May 1st. Mr. B. W. Duke, of Durham, has dipped to Trinity College from New York, one of the best X-ray machines on the market.

The legislature cost the State about $72,000. This is about the cost of the legislature two years ago.

Quite a party of Raleigh people went up to spend Sunday at Southern Pines. This was quite a feature of the Saturday ravel last summer.

Mr. Monroe of Davidson College who was appointed as the one to succeed Dr. Murphy as superintendent of the Morgan Insane Asylum, declines the appointment. It seems strange that one democrat should be removed to be succeeded by another, for Dr. Monroe is a democrat.

The majority populists are now looking to fuse with the democrats, but they want the name of "Democrats" dropped. They declare there will be wonderful political changes within the next two years.

THE BIG FIGHT.

What it Means to Contestants and Principals.

Tomorrow afternoon, between noon and 5 o'clock, the world's championship prize-fight will be held at Carson, Nev. The principals will be Robert Fitzsimmons, the present champion, and James John Corbett, who surrendered the championship to Peter Maher, of Ireland, from whom Fitzsimmons won it in Mexico on February 21, 1895.

The gloves used will weigh five ounces. Cases for each man have been made specially for this contest by different firms.

Corbett will wear a belt the United States colors—red, white and blue, with an edging of green. Fitzsimmons' belt will also be composed of the United States colors. A Yale flag sent to Corbett by Yale students will be in his corner.

In addition to the question of the championship of the heavy-weight class of pugilists the men will battle for a purse of $15,000 offered by Dan A. Stuart of Texas, the promoter of the contest, and for a stake of $10,000, consisting of the side bet of $5,000, which each of the principals has deposited in the hands of St. Smith, of New York, as the stakeholder. In addition to this aggregate sum of $25,000 in Mr. Smith's hands is a deposit of $5,000 or $2,500 from each of the principals, to guarantee his appearance in the ring prepared to battle for the profit and glory involved in the struggle.

cial profits and losses, in an interview, as follows:
 "The loser will not receive one cent of purse or stake. I understand that an arrangement has been made by Mr. Stuart whereby each fighter receives an equal amount of each for his interest in the electric pictures. What that sum is I prefer not to say."

Cost of War in Cuba.
 HAVANA via KEY WEST—Captain-General Weyler has forwarded to Spain for approval by the Spanish Cortes the public budget bill, amounting to $35,000,000, in addition to an appropriation bill reaching the high water mark of $100,000,000. The latter bill, it is said, will be carried through to meet the extraordinary expenses of the war and navy departments incurred on account of the Cuban insurrection. The income revenue for the new fiscal year beginning in July will hardly reach $14,000,000, which amount will shrink considerably should the proposed treaty with the United States be carried out. Therefore, there will be an enormous deficit, reaching probably $100,000,000, to meet which the Madrid Cortes must decree new taxes in Spain or call for another public loan to meet the interest on the same. The liquor tax and the real estate tax in Cuba are to be increased 40 per cent. There will also be a special tax placed on manufacturing. The strong opposition of the planters to the proposed taxes will be renewed.
