Dingley Takes Flour the For His Pet Measure

otton Manufacturers and the Tariff. Duty on wool. Party Lend. ers Get in Sharp Remarks.

Protection for Levees.

JOURNAL BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 80. After a heated debate in the House of the tariff, Mr. Dingley took the floor to defend his bill. The first words of the ajority leader characterizing the prepeding debate as a remarkable discusion" were applauded by Democrats. He said he felt called upon to make a brief statement. It was the upanimous testinony of the cotton manufacturers, he tated, that they could not maintain their own in the manufacture of the finer Wilson law, they testified, furnished dequate protection to the coarser good which were being manufactured in the South, but the New England manufac urers, including Mr. Lovering, testified to the necessity for these increases.

"I take it," said he, "that the gentlenan has not asked for more than was cessary. He does not mean to say that his duty will 'smother' the cotton manifacturer." As to the woolen schedule ne said it was substantially the schedule of the McKinley law and gavelthe manuacturer no more than the cotton manuacturer obtained. It simply compensated the manufacturer for the duty or vool. The manufacturer had as mucl protection under the act of 1884, but the luties were reduced at the expense of the farmer. The duty on wool had been restored in response to the demand of the farmers that they receive the sam consideration as the manufacturers.

"This bill," he concluded, "is design ed to restore our industries and the of portunities of labor. If the demand for products is increased, prices will be in creased, and we will once more rise to the condition which made us the envy of

Mr. Fitzgerald (democrat, of Massachu setts) then made his contribution to the lebate, calling attention of his republican colleagues from Massachusetts to the fatthat had overtaken the Massachusetts republicans after the enactment of th . Mc-Kinley law when the State went demo cratic three successive years.

Mr. Moody, (republican, of Massachu etts,) in reply, admited that Massachu setts had gone democratic on the issue raised, but he said the people of Massa husetts had been deceived, as the peo de of the whole country had been. Bu hey had learned their lesson and learned well. They realize now that they could not secure prosperity at the expense of other sections, and they were now wilng to accord to others what they de nanded for themtelves.

A diversion was caused by Mr. Mahon Republican, of New York,) who has read at the clerk's desk a clipping from the Petersburg (Va.) Until Monday the levees in the State of disaisaippi have stood the flood. At 1 clock the levee at Deerfield, ten mile selow Greenville, succumbed to the ressure of the waters of the might dississippi. The lever was a large one, and 100 yards of the vast embankment came way in a trice, and torrents of waters rushed upon the country. Soon he section between the river and the mbankment of the river side division of he Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Radway was a sea of water. Hogs and cattle were drowned, while the people, mostly colored, rushed to the levee above and pelow the break and huddled together intil they were rescued.
