WASHINGTON NEWS.

Extensive Changes to Occur in the Civil Service Rules.

Reasons Why the Present Law is Attacked, Difficulty in Making Appointments, Quiet in Washington this Week. The Tariff Bill, Gen. Miles Wishes to Travel.

JOURNAL BUREAU,
WASHINGTON, D. C. April 26.

The war on the civil service rule seems to have begun in dead earnest. President McKinley has had a long conference with the members of the civil service commission, and while it cannot be officially stated that the conference related to a modification of the extension of the rules made by President Cleveland, there are excellent reasons for believing that it did, and that President McKinley has about made up his mind to modify those rules to a considerable extent, on the general ground that some of those extensions are calculated to interfere with the government service, rather than to help it. Two members of the cabinet have taken this stand in connection with an investigation now being conducted by a Senate sub-committee composed of Senators Pritchard, of N. C.; Elkins, of W. Va., and Chilton of Texas. Secretary Wilson appeared before this sub-committee and advocated the exemption of the agents and inspectors of the Agricultural department from the civil service rules, because age and experience were just as necessary as technical knowledge, to properly fill these places. He cited an instance. He applied to the civil service commission for a man to fill a special place, and the commission sent him a boy 23 years old, who had the technical knowledge to pass the examination, but was entirely lacking in the experience needed to perform the work. He added that President Harrison had left the Civil Service Law in good condition, and that he would like to see it restored. Secretary Gage wrote a letter to the sub-committee, expressing the opinion that modification of the civil service rules might be made with advantage to the public service, and especially recommending that deputy collectors of internal revenue should be exempted. Representative Doar, of W. Va., has gone still further, by introducing a bill to repeal the civil service laws. It is too early to predict how the war will end, but the fighting is getting lively all along the line.

There is much gossip as to why President McKinley changed his mind about sending Judge Day to Cuba as a special commissioner, and nominated him to be First Assistant Secretary of State; also concerning the nominations of ex-Congressman Bellamy Storer, of Ohio, to be minister to Belgium. It is said that one of the reasons why Judge Day did not go to Cuba was that his going there had been so widely advertised that President McKinley concluded that he would be unable to learn anything useful or new by going. Officials will not discuss the matter, but rumor says that the announcement of the intention of the Administration to send Judge Day to Cuba was made to throw the Spanish Officials off their guard, and that another man was sent and has about completed a thorough investigation of the situation on the island without making use of any official credentials from this government. Mr. Storer's nomination ends a situation that was equally disagreeable to President McKinley, his Ohio supporters, and to Mr. Storer. Mr. Storer wanted to be Assistant Secretary of State, and the place was promised him, but Senator Foraker made such a hot fight that he became convinced that if he was nominated for that position, the Senate would reject him, and he compromised by accepting the diplomatic place, which Senator Foraker had no objection to his having.

This will be an off week in Washington. The President, his Cabinet, and many other officials have gone to New York to participate in the ceremonies attendant upon the dedication of the Grant monument. Both branches of Congress met today and will meet again Thursday, but in accordance with a previous understanding, nothing was or will be done. Neither branch had a quorum today. The object of this adjournment on the part of the Senate is to allow the members of the Finance committee to devote their entire time to the tariff bill, which it is expected will be ready to report to the Senate next week. In the House it is merely carrying out the usual program, except that the agreement not to attempt to do anything left members free to leave the city, if so disposed.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, who has had some experience in the handling of tariff bills in the Senate, says the Dingley bill will not get through the Senate before June 15th, and that it will take nearly or quite a month after that for the House and the Senate to agree on the amendments.

General Nelson A. Miles, Commander of the Army, has as his own request been ordered to proceed to Europe for the purpose of observing the military movements in the war between Turkey and Greece, and he will start as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made probably next week, unless the war is fought to a close before he can get ready.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

A New Magazine Started. Sutton's Turn-down, Railroad and Cotton Mill News. Cadets to Drill More.

JOURNAL BUREAU,
RALEIGH, N. C. April 26.

As regards the $50.00 drummers tax provided in the revenue act. This, the State Treasurer says, he thinks only applies to citizens of North Carolina, and not to drummers of firms doing business outside of the State.

The Roman Catholics have started the issue of a magazine in this city called "Truth." It is said the object of the magazine is to give true explanations of the Catholic doctrine. Later it proposes to become a family magazine containing current news notes, stories, etc.

It was said that the employers in the Supreme court building would not be changed even though they were Democrats. The Judges of the Supreme court were well satisfied with them, but the call for "pie" demanded more places, so the faithful, reliable janitor, etc. of the building is to make way for the hungry office seeker.

Bishop Cheever yesterday administered the rite of confirmation at Christ Church yesterday morning, and at the Church of the Good Shepherd at night.

The failure to appoint a U. S. Judge for this district has caused the missing of two terms of court—at Elizabeth City and New Berne. This is severely criticised for there are prisoners who will have to lie in jail for another term.

Sutton, of New Hanover, who was one of Gov. Russell's main supporters, is now bitter against him politically, though devoted to him personally. It was remarked today that one of the wisest things that Gov. Russell had ever done was his knocking out Sutton when the latter felt sure he was to be the Mayor of Wilmington.

W. G. Randall, the North Carolina artist, goes to Washington in a day or two to paint some portraits of Vance, Lee and Burgin, the commander of the famous 26th North Carolina Regiment. He finds that he can do this work there better than at Blowing Rock.

Politics is lively in this city. The negroes of one faction manifest a good deal of dislike for the Populists.

The Carolina and North Western R. R., formerly the Chester & Lenoir Narrow-gauge, will build the 70 miles of its line between Hickory and Lenoir. For 2 years it has used a third rail on the track of the Southern Railway.

The Edna Cotton Mills at Reidsville, now claiming to be second in size in the State, has put in 210 new looms and run day and night. The Henrietta Mills, by far the largest in the State are also running day and night. Mill men say they are not making money.

The Supreme court does not propose to allow its prerogatives to be taken away. It repulsed the "pie hunters" who sought to oust Marshal R. H. Bradley. Now it is making a fight to retain S. W. Walker as janitor of its building. The keeper of the Capital had appointed ex-Senator Westmoreland Janitor. It was said last week there was a hitch in this business.

The first suit under the "yellow servants act," is brought in the court here to recover $25,000 damages from a railway for the killing of a fireman.

Some of the grape growers estimate the damage by the frosts this week at 50 per cent.

The people here who say they "saw the ship yield the palm to those at Kinley, who saw the sails and the men in the machine."

At the Agricultural and Mechanical College the cadets get only three hours drill each week. It is the fixed opinion of the U. S. Inspector and the President that this amount should be doubled. The government very properly requires military instruction at these colleges which it maintains.

Ex-Judge Spier Whitaker had slight attack of paralysis but is much better to day, it is said.

POWERS TO INTERVENE.

They will Probably Suggest an Armistice Acceptable to Both Combatants. Greeks Defeated at Larissa.

LONDON.—What seems likely to be the last week of war is entered upon. Following the Greek defeat at Larissa, London opinion today is almost unanimous that the end is in sight, and this view is probably shared by the powers, as they are already moving to intervene. It is believed that intervention will first take the form of a suggestion of armistice, to which the combatants would no doubt agree.

The British foreign office has been in close communication with the other members of the European concert, Great Britain suggesting that the time has now arrived for them to act.

The French, German and Italian governments have already responded offering to agree, though the German government adds as a condition that it will be necessary first to exact a pledge from Greece to obey the mandate of Europe when this mandate is again given.

Special dispatches from Athens say that after a desperate battle at Mali, the Greeks were outnumbered, and retreated with a heavy loss, abandoned Tyrnovo and Larissa and removed their headquarters to Pharsalus, a small town on the right bank of Pharsalus, and at the north foot of a spur of the Chalcidiki mountains. Pharsalus is about twenty miles due south of Larissa.

REFUSES TO MODIFY.

Judge Adams Will Not Change His Order on Stockholders.

New Board of Public School Examiners. Tax Blanks Prepared. Purnell's Name Sent in to the Senate Yesterday. He is Being Congratulated in Raleigh.

SPECIAL TO JOURNAL.
RALEIGH, N. C. April 26.—Today, before Judge Adams, private stockholders of the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad made a motion for a modification of the Judges order restraining them from meeting.

Judge Adams declined to modify the order, saying, that the matter was now in Judge Timberlake's hands, and that it would be argued before him in a few days.

The State Board of Education elects as the State board of public school examiners, L. L. Hobbs, president Guilford college; W. L. Potate, Professor Wake Forest college, and Superintendent Noble of Wilmington Public schools.

The tax blanks were prepared by the Treasurer and Auditor today. The State tax is 21¢, pension 31¢, schools 18¢. The railway commission meets tomorrow. C. C. Fagan, who is clerk to it as tax equalization board, says that the preparation of the equalization blanks begins on May 1st.

Purnell's name was sent to the Senate today for the Judgeship of the Eastern district. He is here and receives many congratulations.
