The sweet girl graduate is fast becoming the summer girl.

It is just as well to think summer has really come, and not worry over the hot weather.

It will not be Tom Watson's fault if Senator Marion Butler's political path is not a rocky one.

The summer tourist will enjoy his outing all the more if he pays his little store accounts and newspaper subscription before he goes.

EDUCATIONAL ENERGY WANTED

With the end of the school and college year, and the coming of the week when nature seeks to rest, suggestions or propositions looking to anything besides recreation may appear wearisome and out of season.

But it may be asked, when is the time and season for making plans for improvements of any or every kind, if not during that period when men and women are away from their regular duties and occupations? And this time certainly is during the summer months.

The coming sessions of the State Teachers' Assembly, which will be held this month at Morehead City, ought to be the means of infusing new life and energy into the people of North Carolina, and stimulating them with an educational energy that they never before felt, and next year should see North Carolina on an educational boom.

In this connection it is not inappropriate to call attention to the fact, that this city has an institution for the higher education of the youth of this city and section, an institution that ought to command the hearty and thorough support of every citizen of New Berne.

In the building up of a community's interests, in the establishment of manufactures and enterprises of all kinds, no one industry is so important as the Educational Industry, in the shape of first class schools, which shall preserve and guard the footsteps of the coming generations. No stronger bulwark can be erected to defend the various interests of a commonwealth, than its schools and colleges.

New Berne has an Academy, one conducted on broad and liberal ideas of educational advancement. This institution should command the support of every citizen in some way.

The plans for next year show that the Academy will be continued on advancing lines of educational progress, therefore it should receive the greater local encouragement and support.

New educational energy is needed in this community, and no better opportunity is offered than during the summer to secure it, under the inspiration of the Teachers' Assembly, which ought to bring all the friends of education together, uniting them and making them firm in their efforts to work out better results in our local institutions of learning. This can and ought to be done. The present is the time to inaugurate the movement and then to keep it going.

A Glimpse at the Next Century.

We do not need to look very far into the coming century to see many marvelous changes. There will then undoubtedly be appliances at our command for safe traveling through the air. The proper principles on which the apparatus for navigating the air should be constructed are known.

Engines of high power and marvelously little weight have been built, engines weighing in proportion to their power less than one-fifth that of birds. The best mechanical methods for controlling flight, for starting and stopping, are to be decided on, and then we can all travel at a maximum of speed and a minimum of cost.

The problem of illumination is receiving the attention of the greatest inventors of this or any age, and marvelous progress is being made. Vacuum illumination without incandescence is already a practical fact, and it remains now only to complete a process to furnish this form of electric light commercially when our cost of light can be reduced to a fifth of what it now is.

For power we have now just developed the thermo-electric motor, which utilizes the waste heat of a gas burner to give us power to run fans and all light machinery.

Our heating and cooking will doubtless be all done by electricity. Our mills and factories will be operated by electric power taken from water falls hundreds of miles away, or from engines located near our coal mines and driven by the coal dust or cinder, now forming mountains in front of the mouths of our coal mines.

For transportation we shall probably use compressed air, which will also be delivered at our houses and stores daily in steel cylinders, as the carbonic acid gas is now furnished for soda water fountains, and by it we will conveniently and cheaply operate all machinery, and avoid all the cost and dirt of furnace fires, etc.

Our street cars will be run by compressed air, and the neighborhood trolley will be a thing of the past, and the same motive power applied to carriages will take us on hill at any desired speed. Our streets will be easily kept clean, as there being no coal to bring or ashes to take away, and no animals on the streets, there will be little dirt accumulated.

With no furnace or hot fires, the atmosphere will not be laden with smoke and soot, and the air of our cities and towns will be as clear and pure as in the country.—Tradesman.

Der. h From Gr. in.

Mention has already been made of the New Germ in process by which it is proposed to make dough directly from the grain, dispensing entirely with the milling process by which the grain is conveyed into flour. The following additional facts are translated from the German newspaper, Die Neue Heil-Kur:

A factory has been established at Altona, Pa., and it is said that the demand is already so large that additional plants have become necessary.

The machinery, which is the invention of J. F. Gelinek, not only transforms whole grains directly into dough, but also at the same time kneads it, no grinding or milling process being employed at all. After the wheat is first thoroughly cleaned in the dry state, it is placed in running water until the latter is no longer turbid, and it is then allowed to soak for a few hours in a temperature of 50 degrees to 53 degrees centigrade. In the slimy condition in which it is then found it is placed in the dough machine, where it goes through the patented process, whereby the mass is vigorously squeezed and at the same time passed through a sieve.

The doughy mass is then forced through a sieve with finer meshes, finding its way into wooden boxes, and thence into sowing vats. The quantity of dirt which the process removes from the grain is said to be frightening, both in cleansing the dry grain and during the doughing process when the surface of the water is covered with a disgusting layer of stuff made up of dust, weeds and the ejections of mice and birds.

Defenses Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

all of which the machine is said to thoroughly remove. The writer of the article claims that the bread made by this process is not only healthier and more palatable than that of ordinary manufacture, but also more nutritious. All the nutritive portions are preserved, especially those nearest the outer surface, which it is claimed are lost by milling operations. That none of the nutritious substances are removed is proved by the fact that the albuminoid ratio of the bread is 1.5, and even the most fibrous or woody portions are in such a condition that they can be dealt with by persons of weak digestion. Finally the new process is said to be most economical.

Rheumatism Cured.

After eminent physicians had all other known remedies fail, Dr. J. B. B. (B. B. B.) will quickly cure. Thousands of testimonials attest this fact. No case of rheumatism can stand before its magic healing power. Send stamp for book of particulars. It contains evidence that will convince you that B. B. B. is the best cure for all Blood and Skin diseases ever discovered. Beware of substitutes said to be "just as good." $1.00 per large bottle. A NOTED JOURNALIST CURED AND TESTIFIES.

I was afflicted for three years with rheumatism of the ankles and joints to such an extent that locomotion was difficult, and I suffered great pain. I was induced to try a bottle of B. B. B. and before I had completed the second bottle I experienced relief, and four bottles effected an entire cure. Six months have passed since the swelling and pain disappeared, and I will state that B. B. B. has effected a permanent cure, for which I am very grateful.
