INSPECTOR OF GOLD.

Commissioner Leaves for Alaska to Report on Gold Fields.

Office Seekers Collectively Have Weight. Secretary Long Starts on a Summer Cruise Along the Seaboard. No War and no Arbitration.

JOURNAL BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 2. There are lots of men who would give much to be in the place of Mr. Samuel C. Dunham, who has started for the new gold fields of Alaska, armed with a special commission to make a thorough investigation and report just what he learns to the U. S. Government. Mr. Dunham is a mining expert and is attached to the Labor Bureau. It is known that the government intended sending a man on this errand, but it was purposely kept secret who the man was until after Mr. Dunham got started. It is not expected that he will be able to make a report before about the middle of next year.

"Do you know why the administration changed its plans as to sending troops to the Alaskan gold fields?" asked one prominent army officer of another who had just arrived in Washington. "No," replied the other, "I don't, and the explanations I have seen of the sudden change of program have not been at all satisfactory." "Well," said the first speaker, "I can tell you the real reason, but you will not find it in any official record. It was in short the fear that the troops would get the gold fever and desert as soon as they got within reach of the gold; it was concluded that the average enlisted man was not of the sort to successfully pass through such a temptation as would necessarily be placed before them by their proximity to the Klondyke gold hunters and their suddenly acquired fortunes."

Individually the office seekers who have crowded the lobby just outside of the President's office, on the second floor of the White House, may have lacked the weight needed to get what they wanted, but collectively they were heavy enough to have made the floor sag in the center to a depth of four inches. Had the crowds which frequented the East Room, which is directly underneath, on President McKinley's handshaking days known the condition of this floor as they waited for the President, Maj. McKinley would have shaken many thousand fewer hands, and there might even have been few office-seekers had they been informed of the danger they were in every time they tried to see the President. Workmen are now engaged in strengthening this floor.

Administrations may come and administrations may go, but the Secretary of the Navy who doesn't find it necessary to "inspect" something along the Atlantic coast during the vacation season is yet to assume office. Secretary Long, aboard of the Dolphin, has gone to cast his official optics upon the naval station at New London, Conn., and the War College, at Newport, R. I.

The last prop was knocked from under the industrious newspaper men who have been engaged in manufacturing news showing the certainty of a war between the U. S. and Japan by the official announcement that Japan had accepted the proposition of Hawaii to arbitrate their dispute concerning the immigration and other laws of Hawaii. Members of the administration say that this government will have nothing whatever to do with the arbitration, unless it should fail to be concluded before the formal annexation of Hawaii to the United States. In that case Japan would deal directly with this government after annexation.

Death in the Desert.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Aug. 1.—M. E. Anderson, a broker, with office at 80 Wall street, New York, died of thirst and exposure in the desert north of Phoenix, last night. His wife lies at a farm house near this city in a critical condition.

The couple had started to visit their son on Cave creek, thirty miles north of Phoenix. Missing the road they drove aimlessly about the desert.

A passing teamster saw the crooked tracks of the vehicle and followed them several miles, finding the couple just in time to save Mrs. Anderson's life. Mr. Anderson was too far gone to drink water, while the teamster offered, and he soon died.

Protection For Treasure Ships.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—The Treasury officials evidently believe that there is good ground for apprehension felt by owners of steamships plying between Seattle and the Yukon region of possible attack on their vessels by Chinese pirates or other freebooters, who are said to be watching for the rich prizes. They have directed the military forces of the revenue cutter service to give safe escort to these ships and to stand by to defend the gold cargoes against all comers.

HANDSOME FEES PAID.

By the Directors of the North Carolina Railroad.

Tax Law Imperfect. Cattle Quarantine Regulations. Water Spouts in Cherokee. Fine Health Report.

JOURNAL BUREAU, RALEIGH, N. C., August 2. The new directors of the North Carolina railroad have ordered handsome fees paid to their attorneys. Judge Avery, W. H. Day and C. A. Cook, get $500 and C. W. Averette gets $300.

The R. R. commission today hears the Southern R. R. and Pullman car officials on the recent order increasing the assessment of property for taxes.

Governor Russell is on Wrightsville beach and will not return before Wednesday.

The health report for the month of July shows a better state of health for the city than for 10 or 12 years past. There were only 14 deaths, whites 4, colored 10. For July 1896 there were 40 deaths.

The decision in the telephone reduction rate has been postponed until in September by the R. R. Commission.

Governor Russell has authorized a special term of court to be held by Judge McIver in Guilford county.

The smallest still ever seen has been captured in Person county. It holds only three quarts and was made like a tea kettle to be used on a stove.

Chairman Wilson of the State Board of Equalization says that the new law for the equalizing of taxes is so very imperfect that nothing can be done until the law is changed.

The S. J. A. L. will on Tuesday be given a hearing before the R. R. Commissioners as to its exceptions to the increased tax valuation of its different lines.

Arrangements have been made so that cattle are allowed to be shipped from Wilkesboro and Marion. This is what J. C. L. Harris and Commissioner McIver went to Washington to see after.

Up in Wilkes county revenue officers have made good raids and captured 5 illicit distilleries.

From Cherokee county news comes of so much destruction from water spouts. No less than 18 have occurred in that county.

The weather here is simply stifling. Not a breath of air is stirring and the humidity is great. Two closeness extends to the coast as parties coming back say that the heat there is terrible.

BIG CROP PROSPECTS.

Cause an Advance in Railway Stocks.

Market for Securities Very Strong. Cotton Goes Up Still Higher. Sugar Stocks Up Four Points. Wheat Position is Strong.

Special to Journal. New York, August 2.—The sentiment favoring low prices in stocks was the influence at the opening London holiday and the serious aspect in the mining district, being the influence for lower prices.

Although a narrow market for Railways, the favorable reports from the corn district out weighed the bearish sentiment and the closing prices were one per cent higher.

The strong features were the industrials, under the leadership of Sugar advancing from two to four points.

The cotton trade was more active and the feeling favoring higher prices.

The shutting down of the New England mills to decrease surplus stocks and advance prices, was considered a bullish feature, and prices closed about the top of advance with the feeling favorable.

Wheat. Private cables showed foreign markets higher.

Prices after advancing over one cent a bushel reacted on an increase of two million bushels in the visible supply, and large receipts.

The market may have a reaction of a couple of cents, when purchases will keep a profit. The position of wheat was never stronger.

We believe ultimately that farmers will get one dollar a bushel for their wheat.
