A Rival to the Klondike.

SEATTLE, Wash., September 2.—There is a diversion of gold hunters from the Klondike region since the arrival of the steamer Portland, and parties are outfitting for the Cooper River and other promising sections of Southeast Alaska. A party composed of young men from New York and Philadelphia, purchased a schooner here yesterday and are outfitting in a substantial manner for prospecting and exploration along the Cooper River. This is the third party of this kind within the last week, and the example will be followed by others.

Good reports are being received from that section of Alaska, and the country affords a wide field for exploration and adventure. They take experienced prospectors from here. These men came here for the purpose of going direct to the Klondike, but seeing the impossibility of getting there this winter they took the wiser course.

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 2.—Advices from LaSalle, near Mount Pleurcur, show that the reports of the accident to a party of Alpine tourists in that vicinity were not exaggerated. The party was headed by Pastor Goring, of Sion, and they made the ascent divided into two parties of four each. The first of these parties reached the summit and the second was only a short distance behind when the four persons composing it were swept by an avalanche into a crevasse a thousand feet deep.

The missing party was composed of Pastor Goring, two school boys from Lausanne and a young Englishman, named Bernard.
