THE STATE FAIR.

Business Houses in Raleigh Will Decorate For Occasion.

Students After Licenses to Practice Law. Asheville to Honor Vance. Yellow Fever Refugees. Sample of Russell's Republicanism.

JOURNAL BUREAU, Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 27. Today the fall term of the Supreme court met and examined thirty-six students for licenses. Twenty of them are from the summer law school at Chapel Hill. Nine of these applicants from Chapel Hill have certificates from Dr. Manning of the University law school.

There is to be a general decorating of the business houses here during the State Fair. While the Fair grounds are so situated that many persons never come up into the city, but go immediately to the grounds; still many strangers will come and it always speaks well for the city to have it look as though the people took a pride in it. One of the features at the Fair will be a miniature hospital with all the modern improvements. Figures will represent the nurses in their uniforms; there will be cot, an operating room etc. This will be in the charge of a regular trained nurse who will explain the workings of the entire exhibit. This exhibit will be made by a Philadelphia house.

After the effort of suspending the two Rail road commissioners from office, Governor Russell has gone to Wilmington to recuperate.

Mr. W. G. Randal the artist goes to Greensboro this week to begin a portrait of the late Major Finger, for the State Normal and Industrial school. Major Finger made, at one time, a splendid State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Asheville is to raise $2,758 monument to the late Zebulon B. Vance, and the contract has been awarded to James G. Colvin of Asheville.

Miss staude Merriman has gone to Athens, Ga., to become a teacher in the Lucy Cobb Institute. She has charge of the vocal department. Miss Lily Gray goes with her to enter as a pupil. Miss Mary Turner and Miss Eliza Busbee have gone to Baltimore to enter the Peabody Institute for music.

The Hebrew New Year 5,658 began at sundown yesterday and all the Jewish stores are closed today.

The State Auditor says that there are more corporations listed in the county of Forsyth than in any other in the State. Guilford county follows second.

The State will at last pave the streets around the capital grounds. Stone is being hauled for the purpose. Convicts will do the work.

The pretty little stone chapel out at Oakwood Cemetery is finished except painting the interior wood work. It has long been contemplated the erection of this little chapel out there.

Refugees from yellow fever are arriving in Blowing Rock. Tickets from here to Atlanta via Southern cannot be bought now.

Rather a novel thing occurred here last week. At one of the churches where a revival is going on, a party of ladies and gentlemen went to the doors, rather late, and were told that no one else could enter unless upon a case of emergency for the congregation could not be disturbed.

The question was asked of the Secretary of State whether land grants in this State carry with them mineral rights and he said that they did.

The Marion Mining Company of Deming has sent in a report to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It mines, gold, mica, gems, manazite and other minerals. The market value of its products ranges from 1 cent to $500 per pound.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction is strongly in favor of requiring that every voter shall be able to at least read and write.

A Republican here declares the revolution politically here in the county that it will go 1,000 Democratic next year. Ohio Wilson wants to know what sort of a Republican Governor Russell is, who appoints a Populist for a two year term and a Democrat for a four year term.

MONETARY COMMISSION

Its Chairman Makes a Statement Regarding its Authority.

Government Assistance to Gold Hunters on the Yukon. Louisville's Postmaster Wants Aid from the President. Sailors for Honolulu. Gunners Training.

JOURNAL BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.

There has been so much talk about the monetary conference now in session in Washington, as a result of authority conferred by the convention which met in Indianapolis, last January, and because Congress did not see fit to adopt the President's recommendation that he be authorized to appoint an official commission to report to Congress needed changes in our monetary system, and its objects and intentions, that ex-Senator Edmonds, the chairman of the Commission, has made a statement on the subject. He says the Commission has no authority and purposes to exercise none; that it is composed of private citizens, who of their own will and at their own expense have come together for the purpose of discussing our currency system and the laws bearing thereon, with a view to suggesting to Congress, through their right of petition, any changes which they may, after careful consideration, think would be beneficial. Notwithstanding this explanation, the Commission is still criticized, especially by the silver men, who declare that it exists for no other purpose than to keep silver down. So far the meetings of the Commission have been held behind closed doors.

Having sent a company of U. S. soldiers to St. Michaels, Alaska, to help guard the property of gold hunters there and to assist in maintaining law and order, the administration is now considering a request to establish a permanent Naval patrol on the Yukon river. These things together with ordering reindeer owned by the government to be taken to St. Michaels to be used, if necessary, during the winter to transport food to Dawson City, reminds one that upon occasion ours is a very paternal sort of government.

Mr. John G. Woods, the Kentucky man who was denied an injunction to prevent his removal from the Louisville Post Office, by Judge Cox, has abandoned the idea of carrying the case to the U. S. Supreme Court, but will make a personal appeal to President McKinley. Just what he can expect from such an appeal is not altogether clear. The President might think just as Mr. Woods does, but that won't help his case any, as the President, as well as the humblest citizen, must obey the decision of a court.
