THE CHILI QUEENS.

THEIR THRONES WERE IN SAN AN-TONIO'S HISTORIC ALAMO.

Their Reign Is Ended, but They Ruled sand Strong," is an old and somewhat Royally For a Long Time-They Were decrepit piano tuner, who carries on his Especially Gracious to the Tourist From the North and Made It Pay.

When the northern tourist used to strike the town, the first things the patriotic citizen who was doing the hon- from Fort Wayne for the purpose of ors would proudly steer him up against would be the Alamo plaza chili stand, with its attendant divinity, the far famed chili queen.

sions and got a whiff of our ozone," the it and got the rhythm, and that evencitizen would remark with righteous ing at the Defiance meeting he sang pride, "and tonight you must come and the song for the first time. When he eat a Mexican supper and see the chili queens. The chili queens are one of our most noted attractions-the beantiful, hats and broke loose in cheers that rang dark eyed senoritas, you know." The tourist generally knew. This was in the late eighties, the palmy days rest. of the chili queens, when their fame had spread to the larger northern cities. Some very musical verse about them had appeared in the magazines, and in the newspaper sketches they were idealized as stunning creatures, with the rich, brown skins of the tropics and the languorous grace and bewitching black eyes of Spanish donnas. When the citizen and the tourist stroll up to the gay looking chili stand with its big red, green and yellow lan-terns and its scintillating pyramids of cheap but gorgeous glassware, she promptly shuts up the sporty young man who is bandying slang with her or quits haggling with the chili gorged bootblack over change. She hastily rearranges the flowers in her hair and the big bouquet at her bosom and beams on the new arrivals with sparkling eyes. The citizen addresses her with an casy familiarity. "Hello, Chiquita! How's tricks?"

"Hello, senor. Tricks are bueno. How is my amigo, the senor?" They all used the Spanish dialect when they had special customers, de-spite the fact that other tongues came easier to some of them by nature. There were six reigning queens on the plaza in 1888, and one of them was of German descent and another was born in the island where the sod is highly green and there are no snakes. The other four, however, were senoritas of the genuine Mexican variety. Chiquita's eyes sparkle with their most brilliant luster, and, with a quick succession of flashing smiles, she uses her red lips and white teeth to good advantage on the tourist while she engages in badinage with the citizen. 'You're looking prettier than ever tonight, Chiquita. I'm glad of it, because we want to make a good impression on my friend here. He's from away up north, you know, and he's heard of you before." Then Chiquita uses her tinkling laugh and slaps the citizen gently on the cheek. 'So sorry, but I have not a single nickel to give you, But take this flower instead. She transfers a big rose from her cor sage to the citizen's buttonhole. The tourist is beginning to want his share of the fun. "Yes, I heard of you up there, and that's one reason I came down here-to see you, you know."

"Oh, my! You must have a flower too. Her hands linger lightly on his coat as she carefully pins a spray of honey-suckle on, and the tourist begins to believe that he must have come down here for this. He is enjoying himself very
