CLOSE OF THE FAIR.

The Grand Marshals' Given at the Yarboro.

Rain Hurt the Fair. Farmers Holding Their Cotton. Strange Story of a Wife. Populists Losing Ground. Will Hang at Goldsboro.

JOURNAL BUREAU, RALEIGH, N. C., October 23.

The festivities of the State Fair ended last night or rather at 4 o'clock this morning with the "Marshals' ball," given at the Yarboro house under the auspices of the Capital Club. Gov. and Mrs. Russell and nearly all the State officers were present. It was an exceptionally handsome affair. At 1 o'clock this morning private Secretary J. E. Alexander presented Chief P. H. Lybrook with a gold chain, and gold headed cane, on behalf of the Marshals, of whom there were more present than at any fair ever held here.

There has been great disappointment this week that the weather has been so terrible that the races had to be called off out at the Fair grounds. There was a regular down pour all yesterday morning and the crowd was very small. There was every prospect for a splendid fair both in point of exhibits, and financially, but the weather has hurt both.

The local cotton receipts in this market by wagon are so far this season only 7,444 bales, against 11,923 to the corresponding date last year.

Merchants who supply farmers with provisions, etc., were asked if farmers are holding cotton and say yes, much more than usual. The Secretary of the cotton exchange says that 50 per cent of the farmers are in debt now, that a great many are holding cotton for a rise and this is largely due to the fact that the merchants are not pressing them for what they owe.

There is no end of laughter at Gov. Russell's statement as to having a pocket full of railway passes, and at his reasons for taking them. He is placed in a peculiarly awkward position.

Sam Wright, the negro robber, who cut W. A. Carr's throat in a store in Wayne county, is to be hanged at Goldsboro November 10.

Gov. Russell is said to regard the virtual depositing from power of the penitentiary superintendent as quite a victory.

Revenue Agent J. C. Wheeler is here, making a very careful inspection of the office of Revenue Collector Simons, which always ranks A 1.

The question is being considered whether the Episcopal missionary jurisdiction of Asheville be erected into a diocese.

The excitement over gold mining in the Piedmont section of the State is increasing daily. Valuable discoveries are being made.

Populists are losing ground in two directions—the one part going towards the Democrats and one portion towards the Republicans. Thus both Butler and Harry Skinner are losing ground.

The "free pass" question comes to a head in the arrest of the sheriff of Buncombe and the ticket agent of the Southern railway at Asheville, because the sheriff had a free pass.

It is the comment here that the three bank failures at Asheville are due entirely to Asheville's burst "land boom."

Most of the exhibits were removed from the State fair grounds today. W. P. Batcher, manager of the races at the fair, says the liberality of the management in refunding all entrance money and paying freight on horses to the next racing place has made a great hit with the racing men and that next year, as a result, there will be an unprecedented number of entries.

Raleigh has purchased the machinery from the Graystone, Granite and Construction Co. and will put it in the quarries out near the city and thus get much of the granite for the street improvements.

It is said the penitentiary board once before adopted a resolution that no vouchers should be paid unless approved by the chairman of the board and two of the executive committee, but found it could not take away any of the superintendent's powers. Of course if he acquiesces all these things can be done, but under the law, if he stands on his rights, he is absolute.

W. O. Roberts of Asheville is employed as superintendent of the farmers' alliance shoe factory at Hillsboro. There has been a great deal of trouble about getting the factory started and over 14 months lost.

Col. Leonidas Stephenson, one of the best known and most esteemed citizens of Wake, died at his home near here last night. For a year his health had been feeble. His fine estate had been in the family for 3 generations. He owned one of the largest tracts of oak timber in middle North Carolina, some 8,000 acres.

Dr. D. Reed Parker, who has charge of the farmers' institutes, says more are to be held this year. There is a desire for dairy institutes, but none are as yet ordered.

R. J. Diegle, who had for ten years been tracking his wife Minnie, who eloped with Ed. Campbell, a "fakir," found her and her paramour yesterday afternoon. Campbell at the fair and Mrs. Diegle and 2 little children in the city. Diegle was disguised and "spotted" Campbell, and at first wanted to kill him. But late at night all seemed reconciled. The woman agreed to go back to Marion, Ohio, with her husband provided the latter did not prosecute Campbell with whom she is infatuated. Campbell pays $80 costs. At 4 o'clock this morning Mr. and Mrs. Diegle left for home. Campbell is held in jail long enough to give them a good start. He says the woman is madly in love with him. Diegle is by profession a "fakir" too.

TO ASK VAN WYCK.

Either Horn of the Dilemma Hard to Grasp.

He Will not be Likely to do Much Speaking. Silence May be Golden This Time. Figuring on the Result. Tammany in the Lead.

NEW YORK, October 22.—There is a man of nerve on Staten Island, now the borough of Richmond, soon to be part of the larger New York—who says that in the event that Judge Van Wyck takes the stump during this municipal campaign he will attend every meeting and, at the risk of being ordered from the halls by the police, he will ask the Democratic candidate for mayor: "Do you stand squarely on the Chicago platform?" In the event that this question is answered in the affirmative, the question will be asked: "Do you believe in the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or interference of any other nation on earth?" If Judge Van Wyck answers his question either in the affirmative or the negative, it is a good bet at the ratio of 16 to 1 that Mr. Van Wyck will never become mayor of Greater New York.

The trouble with this "smoking out" process is that Judge Van Wyck will in all probability never take the stump. He may make a few speeches in the "houses of his friends" at Tammany Hall before a select circle or at his own personal headquarters in the Bartholdi Hotel. Though he is advertised to speak in every borough of the new city before the close of the campaign, it is said to be diamonds to dollars that he will do nothing of the sort.

However much one may dislike the policy of evasion adopted by Van Wyck and his advisers, one is forced to admit that up to the present time the tactics of silence have proved a winning card. A calm, fair, dispassionate analysis of his letter of acceptance shows it to contain many points which appeal to the residents of New York city. At least one organ which has been on the fence to a considerable extent, dodging between Van Wyck and George, practically makes the Van Wyck letter the occasion for clamoring down on the Tammany Hall side.

The candidacy of Henry George is worrying the Democratic managers. In the last few days ex-Postmaster Dayton has practically taken charge of George's canvass, ex-Congressman Tom L. Johnson has taken a back seat, and the campaign is now being conducted on plans mapped out by Mr. Dayton. That he is meeting with some success is conceded. Political mathematicians are figuring upon what is going to happen at the polls, taking the registration and nominal party votes as a basis, and making an estimate of how many votes Low and George will draw from each of the regular candidates. The registration of 568,000 first had a nominal discount of 7 per cent, taken off, which leaves 525,000 votes of which 500,000 are said by one calculator to belong to the Democracy and 25,000 to the Republican party, without any side issues. George is credited with diverting 75,000 from Van Wyck, and Low and Gleson 40,000, leaving 185,000. Low is given 112,500 Republican votes and 80,000 Democratic, which would leave Tracy with but 112,000 and give Van Wyck 185,500.

WHAT WILL HE DO?

Speculation as to Senator Wolcott's Probable Course.

The President will ask Financial Legislation in His Message. Will Wolcott Support Him. Failure of the Bimetallic Commission.

JOURNAL BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., October 23.

While the guesses being made concerning the nature of the financial recommendations that will be made in the annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury to Congress and endorsed by the President's message may all be wrong, it is a certainty that financial recommendations will be made and that financial legislation will be asked of Congress. The administration financial bill, whatever it may be, can easily be put through the House, unless it should happen to be opposed by Speaker Reed, which, while possible, is not probable. In the Senate is where the interest centers, and the key to the control of that body is probably held by those Republican Senators who are silver men, but who declined to join the bolt led from their party by Senator Teller. By a sort of tacit consent Senator Wolcott, who is at the head of the silver commission which has just been turned down by England, is recognized as leader of these Senators. Their attitude towards financial legislation is not likely to be known until they know just what sort of legislation will be attempted. Without their support no administration bill can pass the Senate.

Some speculation is being indulged in here as to the attitude that will be assumed by Senator Wolcott on his return from Europe, after having failed to accomplish anything in the way of an international agreement for the benefit of silver.

Mr. Wolcott is the leader of those senators from the silver States who refused to bolt from the Republican party when the St. Louis platform was adopted, and who remained in the party with the hope of bringing it back to their way of thinking or of accomplishing "something for silver" through the medium of the new Administration.

Having had his way, and having failed, the question is whether he will be content to remain with the party and confide in its wisdom, or whether he will conclude to be a belated convert to the theory of Teller, Dubois et al., that the Republican party cannot be brought to free coinage of silver by any sort of means, and will go over to the other side.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, October 22.

The sentiment continues to be very much mixed and the crop guessers are widely apart; the estimates being all the way from 8 million bales to 10 1/2 million bales. Probably the best opinion centers around the guess of 9,300,000 to 9,600,000 or about 9,500,000 bales as an average guess. The receipts are increasing as the natural result of the yellow fever scare subsiding and the lifting of the quarantine at Southern ports. It looks now as though the total coming into sight for the month might carry the total for the season to November 1st up to around 2,800,000 bales which approaches average of deliveries in seasons where the crop actually counted out over 9,000,000 bales. The condition of the cotton market is attracting general attention and the prospect of planters receiving so much less than last year, excites some little apprehension as to the effect on the prosperity of the South and the reflex influence such adverse condition as is likely to follow in other circles. On the other hand, the reports of prospects of the top crop are not encouraging.

On the whole, the position of cotton is no more favorable, though the same reason for buying it, exist now that have been so prominent during the season. The stocks are so low and the price so reasonable that there can be but little risk in investing. The turn will probably come when least expected and is now long overdue.

Exports from September 1st to date have been 858,570 bales against 922,572 last year. Port stocks are about 646,251 bales against 1,014,789 bales last year.—Macy and Pendleton, 451 Broadway, New York.
