A slight fire in the kitchen flue of Mr. R. A. Richardson's house on Pollock street, yesterday, was extinguished by Mr. Richardson, and no fire alarm was turned in.

Evangelist Vaughan, of Asheville, N. C. will lecture on Temperance, in the Court House tomorrow night at 8 p. m. Ladies are invited to attend. There will be no admission charged, nor collection taken up. The lecture is free.

Have You Lost a Boat? The city authorities have tied up, awaiting an owner, a log boat, 25 feet, 7 inches long, 5 feet, 3 inches beam, made of three pieces. The boat is sharp at both ends, is painted white, has two masts, with sails for same.

This boat was taken from a colored boy named O. J. Nelson, who claimed he bought the boat at Berkeley, Va., but as he has no receipt, served a term for boat stealing, his possession of this boat was regarded as sufficiently suspicious to warrant the city authorities to take it, and hold it for its possible rightful owner.

All Made Happy. The settlement of the horse, mule and buggy mix up, caused by the colored man Best, which has been published, was cleared up yesterday, by the arrival of the owner of the horse and buggy, from Williamston, the owner of the mule from Washington, and the purchaser of the buggy from near this city.

The horse and buggy were taken while the owner was enjoying the circus at Williamston, by Best, who drove to Washington, traded the horse for a mule and $35, and then came here where he disposed of his outfit.

Upon searching Best before he was locked up, $8.10 was found, and six dollars of this was returned to the man who bought the mule, and two dollars to the purchaser of the buggy, the colored Washington man getting his mule, and the Williamston man his horse and buggy.

Best will probably be taken to Williamston for trial.

PERSONAL. Mr. Robert Burkhead of Raleigh, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Pearsall returned last night from Trenton.

Mr. L. C. Richardson of Durham, arrived last night to spend a few days in the city with relatives and friends.

Mrs. E. K. Bryan, Jr., and children, left on the Wilmington train yesterday morning to visit at Charlotte.

Messrs. Paul and Oscar Danieles, Stephen Tingle, Stonewall; II. II. Perry, Oliver Perry, were in the city, yesterday.

Rev. R. C. Beaman came over from Wilmington yesterday afternoon.

Will Cultivate Tobacco. Mr. Frank Gorham, who lives at Rocky Mount, was in the city, yesterday, on his return home from Croatan, where he has been looking at the land which he expects to occupy, and upon which he will cultivate tobacco.

Mr. Gorham is familiar with tobacco raising and will no doubt prove a valuable acquisition to this section, and there will be several others whom he will bring with him who are tobacco growers.

Error in Report. In the report of the Council Proceedings, published in Saturday's JOURNAL, the matter in regard to Mayor Ellis' report on the pump in front of J. J. Tolson's store on Broad street, was incorrect, as the Mayor was wrongly reported, the error being due to the clerk's misunderstanding the matter.

Shipping Notes. Arrived, the schooner J. C. McNaughton, Capt. Garwood, with 200 tons of coal for E. B. Ellis. After discharging her coal cargo, the McNaughton will take a cargo of lumber at the Pine Lumber Company's mill.

Cleared, the schooners, Grace G. Bennett, Capt. Eggers, with lumber and shingles, for Washington, D. C. and Jas. H. Hargrave, Capt. Conrily, with lumber, for Baltimore.

CASTORIA. The best family medicine. It is an every day remedy.

Many Thanks. Editor Journal: Please allow me space through the columns of your paper to return grateful thanks to the white gentlemen of New Berne who in a small generous way contributed in cash and promises $13.25 toward the Mock marriage entertainment of St. Peter's Sabbath school. About forty dollars gross was raised.

BIG TURTLES.

They Are as Big Today as in 1823. Interesting Points on the Subject. From "Carolina Centinel", New Bern, N. C., May 23rd, 1892: We give below extract of a letter to the Editors of the Centinel, dated Beaufort, N. C., May 22nd, 1892: "A turtle of a very uncommon kind, was caught last week, by the whale and porpoise men, in one of their shark nets. It is 7 feet 4 inches in length, and from the end of one fin to the end of the other, in width is 9 feet, and 2 feet 6 inches through the body. The back is black, which with his sides, are in 8 squares; the under part is black and white, and the bill resembles that of a hawk. He died shortly after he was taken, and the skeleton is preserved."

It will be remembered that some months ago a very large turtle of the Leather Back species was caught by the fishermen in the ocean near Morehead and sent to Raleigh for the State Museum. Mr. H. H. Brimley, the Curator, now informs me it measures as follows: Extreme length 8 feet, (about) unmounted 7 1/2 feet now, breadth from end to end of fore flippers about 8 feet. Not actually exact measurement being taken. Depth 17 inches, mounted and dried, probably more when fresh, weight about 781 pounds.

It is exceedingly fortunate that North Carolina now has a taxidermist in the museum, such as Mr. Herbert H. Brimley, and we learn that the museum is not surpassed by any other State museum, except perhaps, Massachusetts in the United States. He can and will preserve such specimens as these huge Turtles as well as all kinds of fish, from a minnow to a whale, from a mole to a bear, and all kinds of birds, from a humming bird to an eagle, if placed within his reach. The turtle he has recently mounted has a home, at present, in a prettily made oak and glass case, and appears exactly as it would, if it were resting on the surface of the water with its out spread flippers. It must ever attract much attention from the thousands of visitors yearly to the museum. We were once giving a description of the turtle of 1823, to a distinguished citizen, and it seemed so improbable to him, he raised his hat, drew a long breath and said, well, well—now let Governor Jarvis visit the museum and see for himself.

Taxidermy, until recently, was not classed among the Arts, but within a comparatively short period it has made wonderful strides, and today it is entitled to be ranked with the higher order of skillful handicraft. As has been said, surely if the individual who tries to imitate nature on canvas, or he that carves the outline of some natural object from a block of stone, is accorded the well earned title of a legitimate artist, what of the student who collects the remains of some animal, oftentimes badly mutilated, or in the last stages of decay, and manipulates it into the exact form, and approximates nearly the life like appearance that it possessed before death.

If he does not stand at the head of the class as a naturalistic recreator, certainly he is entitled to divide the honors and respect that is moted to so deserving a class of students as painters and sculptors.

Taxidermy, it is known, unlike other arts, is entirely of modern invention. A distinguished taxidermist states, in this country we have no authentic occurrence before the year 1812, when the distinguished naturalist, Prince Maximilian of Germany, was travelling through the United States collecting and mounting objects of natural history. Many of these specimens being today in the American Museum. Until then the art in this country was very little known and exorbitant sums were paid to those who possessed the secrets of being able to mount a bird, for a course of lessons. Soon followed the Prince such pioneers as Audubon, Wilson, Princes Bonaparte and more recently Prof. Baird, Dr. Cones, Ridgway and others laboring in the cause of natural history.

Such was the beginning of this Art and now we have a taxidermist second to none in this country or any other. We have the exquisite work of the left fingers of Miss Duffy of New Berne to prove it, and we have the admirable specimens of Mr. Brimley at Raleigh to show the public that they are equal to any of similar kind that could be produced elsewhere. Yes, they are artists, they are naturalists and it is surprising to see a gentleman of Mr. Brimley's intelligence, and one so well equipped and so well qualified in every particular for the place he holds in the State Museum, should have been retained in this day of pie hunting and incompetency in office. W.

Full of Appreciation. From the Asheville, N. C. Citizen of Nov. 2nd. "McFee's Matrimonial Bureau" was operated at the Grand opera house last night, and the piece generally was an improvement over its last production here. The leading parts of McFee and Maguire were in the hands of J. E. Gibson and Billy Allen, and they proved one of the funniest sketch teams that has appeared in farce here. They were recalled again and again. Allen gave a pantomimic stump speech, with all the gestures of earnestness, pleading and denunciation, and at the close brought down the house with the only words uttered during the turn, "McKinley's latest speech" Chelo Peruchini was among old friends and they gave the clever little acrobatic comedian a warm welcome. The dances of the two Magnets were concert hallish and yet splendidly done. The farce was full of specialties, and the audience was not slow in showing that it enjoyed the performance."

JAIL IS FULL. Thirty Prisoners at Kinston. At Trenton Court, Journal Gives First News. Rev. Petree Will Remain. Kinston, Nov. 6.

The county jail at Kinston is full of prisoners. There are about thirty in jail; half of them are awaiting trial at the Fall term of court, which convenes here on November 15, Judge Oliver H. Allen will preside.

Tobe Rouse, a Justice of the Peace of Falling creek, is in jail at Kinston. He was tried before the United States court at New Berne for aiding moonshiners and sentenced to three months in the county jail. Rouse was elected Justice of the Peace last fall by the Populist and Republican parties.

The following lawyers are attending court at Trenton: N. J. Rouse, Crisp Wooten, II. E. Shaw and W. D. Pullock.

The people of Kinston were very much surprised when they read of the death of Henry George. The New Berne JOURNAL was the first newspaper to reach Kinston which contained the sad news.

The Christian church decided not to accept the resignation of Rev. D. H. Petree. Mr. Petree has many friends in Kinston who are glad to know that he will continue to preach here.

Mrs. J. M. Newbome who has been visiting her daughter at Apex, returned last Thursday.

SOBE THROAT.

In a letter to Dr. Hartman, dated Dec. 22nd, 1898, George A. Blanchard, Washington, Ga., writes: "My throat has been getting sore every year for the last twenty years, and if any medical skill did me any good it was so little I did not know it. Two years ago my wife was down sick two months, tried two doctors, but the case was a stubborn one of female trouble. I found in Pe-r-u-na not only a good, safe remedy for sore throat, but one for weakness and nervous prostration. I quit the doctors and purchased a bottle of Pe-r-u-na, and in three days after my wife got up and she has been going ever since, and I have not been bothered with that sore throat. It used to last at least 15 or 20 days. Since we have used your medicine my wife has not lost a single day, and she has gained over fifty pounds."

In a later letter, July 23d, 1897, Mr. Blanchard writes: "All of the sickness we have in the family is when we cannot get Pe-r-u-na. We people in the South think Pe-r-u-na is a God sent blessing. I recommend Pe-r-u-na to friends of mine that had asthma and one bottle cured them. Whenever Pe-r-u-na is used it speaks for itself."

Dr. Hartman, the original compounder of Pe-r-u-na, has a recent book on chronic catarrh which will be sent free by the Pe-r-u-na Drug Mfg. Company, Columbus, O. Ask your druggist for a free Pe-r-u-na Almanac for 1898.
