MUST PROVE ITSELF CLEAN.

In looking over the field for future political contests, the Democratic party of North Carolina ought not to be blinded by any sentiment, but facing the situation squarely, note carefully its own position and that of its political enemies.

To note these political enemies without taking into consideration their elements of strength, what they have done in the past, and what it is possible for them to do in the future, would prove unwise, yet these things are not all that is necessary for the Democratic party to do in order to regain its control of the State.

The people of North Carolina want a State government that is sound, honest, stable.

Under Democratic rule in the past the people of the Old North State have enjoyed such a government, have had an administration that was wise and one that sought the welfare of the greatest number.

Can the Democratic party give such assurances to the people as to convince them that if it is given control of the State again, North Carolinians can feel sure of an administration which shall correct present existing abuses, and in its dealings with State affairs shall manage them with wisdom and in the interest of the people?

Democratic pledges can, and undoubtedly will be given to this effect.

But giving pledges for future conduct is not all that is necessary for the Democratic party.

It must show itself clean, with wholesome principles, and without the pie counter mark upon the foreheads of its leaders.

It must show the voters and the people, generally, that it knows its enemies and intends to fight them, not treat with them, not barter for "considerations" or seek by fusion or co-operation with its enemies to get into power, by hook or by crook.

If the Democratic party cannot win on its principles as set forth, it must show that the people are indifferent to their own welfare and the State's reputation, and wish to continue in power the present fusion administration whose actions and deeds have made the State ridiculous, and whose officials are the laughing stock of the whole country.

This is hardly probable, and the opportunity of the Democratic party is at hand to both pledge itself, and show itself the party that shall give North Carolina a government that will command respect both at home and abroad.

His Liberty Abridged.
The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "A fist encounter was threatened Friday afternoon in the new Preston, Main and Eighteenth street electric cars between a conductor and a countryman from Indiana. The countryman boarded the car at Seventh and Main streets. The conductor collected his fare and took a position on the rear platform. 'The man from the country soon discovered a small button at the side of the seat, which he proceeded to press. The car stopped, but the farmer signified no intention of getting off. He laughed heartily when the car started, and again began to ring the electric bell.

"Don't you know you are not allowed to ring that bell unless you want the car stopped?" asked the conductor, in a gruff voice.
"I paid my fare," answered the other, "and I guess if I git any particular enjoyment out of ringing yer old bell you haven't got any right to stop me."
"With this the troublesome passenger pressed two buttons to show that he was not to be outdone. The conductor then seized him by the nape of the neck and ejected him from the car.
"This beats any town I ever did see," said the farmer. "They talk about havin' new cars for comfort, I never did see one of them bells, and I just wanted to practice on them a little. That's what a feller gits, though, when he does try to improve himself and act like city folks."

The Van Wyck Family.
The father of this family was from New York. The mother was a daughter of Mr. Samuel Maverick who lived and died in Pendleton. Mr. Maverick was the owner of more real estate than any other man in the State. His possessions lay in South Carolina, New York and Texas.

One of Mr. Maverick's sons, Augustus, went to Texas and was engaged in the war between the Texas Republic and Mexico. His home was at San Antonio, where his descendants still live. He was associated with Crockett, and barely escaped the massacre at the Alamo. At his death he owned more land in Texas than there is in the State of South Carolina, and his cattle were so numerous that it was impracticable to brand them. The "no brand" was the mark of his ownership, so that to this day unbranded cattle in Texas are called Mavericks.

At one time the Van Wyck family brought to Pendleton Walter Gibson as carriage driver. Gibson married a Miss Lewis and gave up driving. Then he wandered away to the Sandwich Islands eventually became practically the dictator of the islands. He was prime minister under the monarchy there.—Ex.

Calms in Emergency.
Dr. Weir Mitchell, lecturing to a school of nurses lately upon the necessity of self control in emergencies, told the following incident: "One of his patients, while in a low, nervous condition, swallowed by mistake a dose from the wrong bottle. She shrieked out that she was poisoned. One of the nurses screamed 'Acute!' and began to cry hysterically. The other nurse, seeing that the patient was going into convulsions from terror, when relief would be impossible, said coolly: 'Don't be frightened. Look here,' taking a mouthful of the dose herself. She then went outside to rid her mouth of it, procured an emetic and sent for a doctor and a stomach pump. Her calmness saved the life of the patient."

Singing and Milking.
In Switzerland a milkmaid or milkman gets better wages if gifted with a good voice, because it has been discovered that a cow will yield one-fifth more milk if scolded during the milking by a pleasing melody.

Pullman Cars.
As a railroad train was swinging around a sharp curve a passenger in the sleeping car was thrown against the inside window of the stateroom so violently that his elbow went through the glass. The Pullman conductor came promptly to the rescue, asking if he was hurt.
"No, I'm not," answered the passenger good naturedly, "but the Pullman company's dividends will be cut down this year by the price of one pane. I suppose the stockholders can stand it, though."
"The Pullman stockholders won't have to," said the conductor. "It comes out of the X, Y, and Z Railroad company, to whose train we are attached. I shall make out a damage slip, the repairs will be made at the end of the route, and the railroad company will foot the bill. There's mighty little, I tell you, except ordinary wear and tear, that the railroad company doesn't pay for. If there is a scratch on the side of this car at the end of a run, the X, Y, and Z pays for it, not the Pullman company.—New York Tribune.

No other remedy can take its place in our home, as it is a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc. It is a life to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. Three Valuable Books Given Away.
"ART AND FANCY WORK," "NURSERY RHYMES," "HOME DYING."
Mrs. Nellis Daggett, editor of the THE HOME, has published a new edition of her popular book, "Fancy Work and Art Decorations," that gives practical instructions for making doilies, table covers, scarfs, tray cloths, pin cushions, etc. with fifty illustrations. This book, together with "Nursery Rhymes" (a 16 page pamphlet with a handsome colored cover design of the Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe), and "Successful Home Dyeing," will be sent free to any reader of the JOURNAL who forwards the following coupon to Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.

COUPON.
This entitles any reader of the New Berne JOURNAL to one copy of "Fancy Work and Art Decorations," "Nursery Rhymes" and "Successful Home Dyeing."
The above liberal offer is made to advertise the old reliable Diamond Dyes, and to get their books upon home dyeing into the hands of women who want to dress well by making their old clothing look like new.
Diamond Dyes have special dyes for cotton, different from those that are used for wool, and are the only package dyes on the market that can be relied upon to give colors that will not fade or crack. The fact that Diamond Dyes have been the standard home dye for nearly twenty years and their sale increases from year to year, is proof positive that they have never had an equal.

DOCTORS AGREE.
Recent investigations by the authorities of several States have attracted attention to proprietary medicines, and there is a marked disposition to draw a sharp line of distinction between mysterious nostrums and worthy articles of scientific compound and known character.
"Many proprietary medicines," says a leading physician, "are the best possible prescriptions for the diseases which they are made to cure. It is certainly only reasonable to expect that chemists of world-wide reputation and unlimited resources ought to make compounds with exceptional skill, and it is manifestly to their interest to have their ingredients fresh and pure. Take, for example, Lippman's Great Remedy, popularly known as P. P. P. The formula is on every bottle. Every physician knows that the ingredients are the best possible remedies for purifying the blood, and the compound is a scientific one, which increases the efficiency of the whole. I sometimes prescribe special mixtures for Blood Poisoning, Scrofulous Affections, Catarrh, Eczema and other complaints arising from impure and weak blood, but I always feel safest in prescribing P. P. P., especially where I am not personally acquainted with the druggist. In prescribing P. P. P. (Lippman's Great Remedy), I know I am taking no chances."
When doctors feel such confidence in a standard remedy, it is no wonder that the general public insist upon having it.
P. P. P. is sold by all druggists. $1 a bottle; six bottles, $5.
