FULL NEWS SUPPRESSED.

General Miles Leaves for Tampa to Take Personal Charge.

Looking Out for Admiral Dewey. Expected Assault on Santiago Causes England to Take Away Citizens. Spanish Fleet Surely in the Harbor.

Movement Begun.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The government is exercising the strictest censorship of all news sent out from Tampa.

It is believed, however, that fifteen thousand troops have already sailed for Santiago to be used in a land movement upon the place in union with the insurgents.

The War Department orders to General Shafter, who is in command of the corps were to move immediately. The transports will be protected by vessels of Admiral Sampson's fleet.

Gen. Miles Starts.

General Miles is starting for Tampa tonight to take personal charge of the troops there designed for the movement on Havana. His baggage and horses were put on board the cars and the oft announced start is actually begun.

The large number of transports chartered by the government are waiting to sail. They will carry twenty thousand troops and General Miles is expected to carry the orders that will cause them to embark.

The forward movement of troops from other points is also under way. One thousand of the volunteers left Atlanta this evening for Tampa. Rush orders were communicated to the railroads to facilitate the forward movement and four trains from Atlanta will reach Tampa tomorrow.

The government has now chartered all the boats necessary for a Cuba invasion. The process of transporting the army from its present position to Cuba will occupy at least three days.

Senor Quesada, of the Cuban junta, says that the United States has made arrangements with General Gomez for an immediate junction with the insurgents on the arrival of United States troops in Cuba. Members of the junta say the force under General Gomez is 25,000 strong, though greatly lacking in arms and ammunition.

At Santiago.

The belief that Santiago is to be the scene of active hostilities is shown by the action of the English government. The British warship Indefatigable goes from Kingston, Jamaica, to Santiago to take away the British Consul and the British residents of the town.

To The Philippines.

The call for troops to be sent to Manila to aid Admiral Dewey has caused the drawing of forces from Fort McPherson at Atlanta, and one thousand of the recruits have left for San Francisco.

There is talk of the transfer of the Philippine Islands to France which would make that government an ally of Spain, and is what the latter country desires. Russia would prefer that France should get the islands rather than the United States, for the reason that her policy in the far east would differ from that of this government and would throw American and British interests in the same channel, undoubtedly resulting in the alliance of the governments in such interest.

The continued reports of Spanish warships being seen off the Newfoundland coast are shown to be of no consequence, for the French steamer Francois Arago has cruised all over the Newfoundland Banks and saw no signs of war vessels in those waters.

New Territory.

The Senate finance committee unanimously decided today not to accept any amendment to the war revenue bill providing for a form of government to be exercised over the territory likely to be acquired, at least temporarily, during the war, as is already the case in the Philippines.

Not Really Hoody.

It is contended by Gen. Miles and others that nothing will be gained by invading Cuba until we can send at least 100,000 men. Because it will be useless to make an attack upon Havana with a land force much smaller than that. Although nothing official has been or will be given out on this subject, there is excellent authority for saying that it will require at least three or four more weeks to equip enough of the volunteers to make up that number. Although extra efforts were put forth to make a good showing at Camp Alger when the President went to review the volunteers there, the lack of equipment was made painfully apparent by the fact that only two-thirds of the 20,000 men in camp could take part in the parade, and the equipment of many that were in line is utterly worthless for fighting purposes. The same condition exists at all the mobilizing points. The men are ready and anxious to fight, but they are not yet properly prepared to do so. But the work of preparing them is not being allowed to lag.

Hawaii Needed.

That Americans are tolerant is well known. It is also well known that the sentiment of the country was overwhelmingly in favor of the annexation of Hawaii, even before it had been declared by the administration to be a military necessity. Should the pressure of European governments compel Hawaii to declare neutrality and to refuse to allow our ships bound to and from the Philippine Islands to coal at Honolulu, while the question of annexing Hawaii is hung up in Congress by a combination of the power of the sugar trust lobby, personal spite, and political spon, not even the habitual tolerance of Americans will prevent the political punishment of those responsible.

May Seize the Islands.

An amendment to the war revenue bill providing for annexation has been offered by Senator Lodge. It will be pushed or not according to what Speaker Reed says. If he allows the House to vote on the annexation resolution—he has partly promised to do so—the amendment will be withdrawn; if not, it will be pushed to a vote, regardless of the delay it may cause in disposing of the war revenue bill. President McKinley has intimated very plainly that unless Congress acts at once he intends to seize Hawaii as a war measure. There are precedents for such action.

SURELY THERE.

Spanish Fleet at Santiago Says Captain Sigbee. Sigbee Wants Them to Come Out.

Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti, May 29.—Commander Sigbee has part, if not all, of the Spanish fleet bottled up in Santiago harbor.

This has been suspected for several days, but it was not definitely known until this morning, when Captain Sigbee of the cruiser St. Paul, who has been off the harbor for the last week, steamed close enough to see distinctly two cruisers of the Vizcaya class and two torpedo boats lying just inside the mouth of the harbor. It is believed that the remainder of Cervera's squadron is also there.

Captain Sigbee thinks that two Spanish torpedo boats ventured out of the harbor Saturday night to attack the St. Paul, but, anticipating such a move, he changed his position every night in order that they could not find him.

Today Commander Sigbee took a position with the entire squadron to prevent the escape of Cervera. He hopes the Spanish will come out and fight. The opposing fleets are of about equal strength. It is probable that Admiral Cervera will remain inside and postpone an engagement indefinitely, but the blockade will be effectively maintained.

DEWEY AT WORK.

Strengthening His Hold on Manila. Insurgents Retiring.

HONG KONG, May 29.—The Americans are fortifying Corregidor Island, at the entrance of Manila bay, and are mining the channel. Dewey will give a warm reception to any possible antagonists.

The Admiral received a message from the insurgents notifying him that the Spaniards intended to attack Cavite at once. The gunboat Petrel and this dispatch boat Hugh McCulloch were on the alert, and the Calico, one of the gunboats captured from Spain, moved to an anchorage whence she could sweep the narrow neck of land between Cavite and the mainland with machine guns. The enemy did nothing.

Provisions are very scarce in Manila. Foreign residents of the city are anxious to get away, but they do not know where to go.

The insurgents have been unable to do much yet owing to the lack of arms, but they expect a shipment of rifles in a few days. When these arrive they promise to drive the Spaniards into the sea.

The prize money which will go to the bluejackets of Admiral Dewey's squadron as a result of the destruction of the Spanish fleet in the bay of Manila is estimated at $500 in gold for each man.

RUSSELL WILL NOT

Furnish Recruits to Fill up Present Regiments. Republicans to Have Populist Aid. Seeking Equipment for Soldiers.

JOURNAL BUREAU, RALEIGH, N. C., May 30.

The negro companies from Raleigh, which are in the 1st battalion of negro troops (later to be the 4th regiment) left here today and the people of their race gave them a grand send off. An immense crowd gathered, and there were speeches and singing of patriotic airs. The battalion will be mustered in tomorrow, 252 strong. Later it will be increased to 1,350.

The Governor's plan to form the 3rd regiment of volunteers, are frustrated by an order from the Secretary of War that 783 white troops are needed to recruit the 1st and 2nd, regiments each to 1,350. The Governor says he will not furnish a single recruit for this purpose, but that he has many men to join new regiments. Now the question is whether the government will go ahead and fill the regiments itself, either directly or through their officers.

Col. W. H. S. Burgwyn of the Second Regiment left yesterday for Washington to see the Secretary of War in order to obtain a complete equipment of arms and clothing for his regiment. He will also apply for instruments for the band. While he is absent, Major B. F. Dixon is in command of the Regiment.

Marshall Mott says the Republicans will certainly deal with Senator Butler and that they are bound to have Populist aid.

Postmaster C. T. Bailey takes charge of the Raleigh office tomorrow.

The grave of Esigun Bagley, United States Navy, in Oakwood cemetery here was exquisitely decorated this afternoon by Grand Army men and the Loyal Legion and others.
