HAVANA IN DISTRESS

Thousands Reported Dying in the Streets of the City.

CONGRESS NIGHT SESSION.

Previous to the Vote on Hawaii Annexation Today.

Likely to Be Favorable. Efforts of Spain to Raise Money are Unsuccessful. No Chance of Peace Yet. Fighting is Going on at Manila.

Annexation.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Congress is holding a night session to debate the question of the annexation of Hawaii. This is preparatory to the vote tomorrow.

It was settled by agreement of the House, after a large majority, including members of all parties, had shown its power, that the Hawaiian annexation resolution should be voted upon Wednesday afternoon. Its adoption is certain. Speaker Reed's friends are trying to square him with the friends of annexation by declaring that he has been misrepresented; that he never had any idea of allowing his personal opposition to annexation to cause him to try to stand in the way of a majority of the House getting to a vote on the resolution. Some of the leading annexationists assert that the Speaker has killed his political future, but wise politicians are not yet investing any money in mourning for the alleged corpse.

For Santiago.
The Secretary of war says that no stop will be made by the expedition to Santiago until that place is reached Thursday or Friday.

The Secretary says also that the expedition to Porto Rico will be ready to start by the time Santiago has fallen, and by that time also the expedition to the Philippines would have reached Manila.

Admiral Sampson telegraphs to Washington that he is ready to receive the troops intended for the movement against Santiago.

Distress at Havana.
The British cruiser, "Talbot" arrived at Kingston, Jamaica with refugees from Havana, for which purpose the cruiser was sent there by the English authorities.

The officers of the Talbot report that the hospital at Havana is crowded with the sick, and that thousands of persons are dying in the streets. The condition of the inhabitants of the city is daily growing more pitiful.

Spain in Need.
Advices from Paris say that Spain has attempted to make large loans from Belgian bankers but was refused.

The Rothschilds decline to loan another dollar to Spain unless given a monopoly on all of Spain's quick silver interests. According to prominent European diplomats, no peace overtures will be made on behalf of Spain until this government intimates to the diplomatic corps that such will be acceptable and that it would be willing to discuss the terms upon which it would agree to peace. If that is really the view of the European nations, Spain would better deal direct with this government. Having won nothing but victories, it would be absurd to expect us to ask for peace and the longer Spain defers the asking, the worst it will be for her. The fighting power of the United States grows stronger each day, while that of Spain grows weaker.

Austria Not Settling.
There have been numerous reports recently, originating in Europe, that Spain had or was about to ask Austria, or some other nation to ask the United States to state its terms for peace. These rumors are believed to have been started for the purpose of feeling public opinion in this country. Not only has the Austrian Minister not made any peace overtures to this government but he evidently does not expect to have any important business in Washington before fall as he is going to the New England coast with his entire staff this week, to remain away all summer.

Coast Fighting.
American vessels made an attack on Cuban harbor. Two new Spanish signal towers were erected on either side of the entrance to the harbor and these were shelled by the warships and destroyed. The garrison and some companies of cavalry were driven inland.

Fighting at Manila.
News from Shanghai is that the insurgents are attacking the Spaniards at Manila day and night. The desire of the insurgent leaders is to establish an independent government before the American forces can land and take possession.

Moving Troops.
The British steamship Ailwald arrived at New York tonight and has been ordered to Tampa at once. It is believed that the government has bought the vessels to be added to the transport fleet.

Ten thousand of the troops at Chickamauga are ordered for the Cuban service at once. They are under the command of General Brooks.

Governor Atkinson of Georgia is petitioned by business men at Lytle to compel order at Chickamauga.

AT NEW BERNE.

Reported North Carolina Naval Reserves Will be Mobilized.

Recruiting Progressing Favorably. Good Rain Central Portions. Expert Telegraphers Wanted. Bagley Monument Fund Over $1,500.

JOURNAL BUREAU.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 14. (Special to Journal.)

The recruiting party of the 1st Battalion of the 1st Regiment North Carolina Volunteers has gotten at work here and expects to make a good record. Quite a number of recruits presented themselves today. They are expected to come in from 8 or 10 counties. Raleigh will furnish quite a number.

There was an exceptionally severe thunder storm last evening, which held up the street cars for over two hours. Many people who were at camp Russell had to remain there until a late hour. The rainfall was heavy. The soldiers and the farmers are alike pleased at the ending of the drought, which was really beginning to do damage.

Gen. Merritt, telegraphed to Adjutant General Cowles that he desires all the expert telegraphers which can be sent him from this State, for service in the Philippines. Already there are five applicants for these good positions.

More recruits for the 2nd Regiment arrived at Camp Russell today. Major Dixon of the regiment says no one has any idea when the regiment will leave, but that there is no reason for belief that it will depart before it is fully equipped and recovered from the soreness incident to vaccination. In some companies only half the men are able to go on duty, because of sore arms. Measles is the chief disease. It is in a mild form. There are 15 cases of it in the hospital, half of them convalescing.

Oliver H. Dockery, Jr., is to be the Republican nominee for solicitor in this district. The odds are that E. W. Pea, Democrat will defeat him by quite a handsome majority.

Almost 100 companies of white men have tendered the Governor their services on the second call. This has led to a statement that the Governor may after all not fill out the negro battalion and make it a regiment. But it is said officially today that the negro battalion will be so filled.

The board of agriculture met today, after its finance committee had completed its work. Assurances were given that John R. Smith, who as commissioner of agriculture is a complete figure, but will not be ousted at this meeting.

The Bagley monument fund is now over $1,500. Contributions are coming in from the North. It is reasonably certain that the fund will exceed $2,500. Fifty dollars was received from Baltimore yesterday. The rector of St. Paul's church Boston, makes a contribution.

It is now settled that the North Carolina Naval Reserves will be mobilized at New Berne, probably in the next few days. A letter from Lt. Arnold, U. S. A., says Wilmington will be the place.

The weekly crop bulletin today says: The week ending Monday, June 13th, was dry and warm. Almost no rain fell, and a severe drought prevails in the southern and western counties of the State. In the north portion, however, where there had been too much rain, the conditions have caused improvement in crops. Farm work is now well advanced. The drought has not yet seriously injured cotton, corn or tobacco, but their growth has not been rapid; gardens are nearly ruined. The conditions were very favorable for harvesting wheat and oats and for haying. Wheat is turning out better than expected, but spring oats have been cut short by drought.

Eastern District.—Tuesday was below the normal in temperature, but the remainder of the week was characterized by very dry, warm weather, with maximum temperatures ranging above 90 degrees every day. Almost no rain fell over the entire district. These conditions have been very favorable in the north portion, but in the south the drought has been intensified, with considerable damage to crops. Farmers have made good headway in cleaning and cultivating crops, which generally are doing well. Haying corn has commenced, but, though still looking fresh, needs rain nearly everywhere. Cotton has improved with warmer weather but is beginning to feel the lack of sufficient moisture. There are increased complaints of damage by lice. Tobacco is especially fine at some points, reaching already a height of over three feet. The Irish potato crop is fine and large. Harvesting continues, with exceptionally favorable weather conditions for that work.
