THE KILGO VINDICATION.

For nearly a week the thousands of friends of President Kilgo of Trinity College, and the many more thousands of patrons and friends of Trinity College have been distressed by the reports affecting the integrity of President Kilgo, and thereby reflecting upon the Trustees and credit of this most honored North Carolina institution of learning.

The first reports published in a leading Raleigh paper, were that Judge Walter Clark had been asked for his resignation as trustee of Trinity College, because he did not endorse and approve of President Kilgo; that Judge Walter Clark had been tried, sentenced and convicted by the trustees of the Trinity in his absence, which proceedings were Star Chamber in character and lacked of the Dark Ages.

Naturally every friend of Education in North Carolina has eagerly looked for some statement from the Kilgo-Trinity side of the question, for no one could believe that Trinity College Trustees and its President, could have acted so dishonorably as they were reported to have done by the press.

The whole matter, through the publication of letters which passed between President Kilgo and Judge Clark, and others on this entire subject have been published, and every one must rejoice that President Kilgo, and Trinity's Trustees are so fully vindicated, although their vindication places Judge Clark in any but an enviable light, and shows him capable of venting personal feeling even at the hazard of destroying an honorable name, and discrediting a great institution of learning.

There can be no satisfaction in thus exposing Judge Clark to public view, but he has brought it upon himself, and he stands revealed as a most illustrious example of the "biter bitten."

Mr. Southgate, the President of Trinity's board of trustees, shows conclusively in his reply to Judge Clark's charges, that Clark's resignation was not demanded because he, Clark, did not endorse the President of Trinity; that Judge Clark had had official notice to attend the trustees meeting, but absented himself from the meeting, and the sinister part of Judge Clark's whole proceeding in the matter is seen in that he voted for resolutions endorsing President Kilgo, and then privately cast insinuations against the integrity of the man whom he had endorsed publicly.

Judge Clark must be held as in the wrong, unmistakably so, taking into consideration all the written correspondence on the matter. A serious injustice has been done North Carolina's great college, Trinity, and its valued and honored President, and it remains to be seen if Judge Clark has the manhood to declare himself wrong and ask forgiveness of his brethren in church, and all friends of Trinity for his part in this distressing controversy.

One thing is certain that Judge Clark's resignation as trustee of Trinity College should be sent in at once for the good of that honored institution.

Beats The Klondike.

Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex. has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike, for years he suffered untold agony from constipation accompanied by hemorrhages, and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, he declares that gold is of little value in comparison to this marvelous cure, would have it even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at F. S. Duffy's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.

A Tragic Picture of Harvey. "He (William Harvey) was not tall, but of the lowest stature, round faced, olive-tan complexion; little eye, round, very black, full of spirit; his hair was black as a raven, but quite white 20 years before he died. I have heard him say, that after his books of the Circulation of the Blood came out, that he fell mightily in his practice, and that 'twas believed by the vulgar that he was cracked-brained; and all the physicians were against his opinion, and envied him; many wrote against him. With much ado at last, in about 20 or 30 years time, it was received in all the Universities in the world; and, as Mr. Hobbes says in his book 'De Corpore,' he is the only man, perhaps, that ever lived to see his own doctrine established in his lifetime.

"He was much and often troubled with the gowts, and his way of cure was that he would then sit with his legs bare, if it were frost, on the leads of Cockaine house, putt them into a pail of water, till he was almost dead with cold, and betake himself to his stove, and so 'twas gone. He was hot-headed, and his thoughts working would many times keep him from sleeping; he told me that then his way was to rise out of his bed and walk about his chamber in his shirt till he was pretty cool, i. e., till he began to have a horror, and then returne to bed, and sleep very comfortably."

The Original Siamese Twins. The sleepy village of Bidhenden, not far from Rotterdam, celebrates yearly the memory of the two maids of that ancient hamlet who were the original precursors of the Siamese twins. In life they were joined together by a mysterious cord of flesh, and they died on the same day, leaving their property to be distributed among the poor of the parish and among all who care to apply for a dole of bread and cheese on Easter day. This benefaction has been in existence for six or seven centuries, and at present its value is about $200 a year.

Formerly the doles consisted of bread and cheese and ale, but the latter produced so much hilarity in the village that it was abolished, and the charity is now limited to the two first mentioned nutritive articles. The bread is made up in the form of cakes, bearing a rude representation of the twin maids of Bidhenden, and are generally preserved as curiosities by the recipients. They are baked very hard and are admirably adapted to give work to dentists by breaking the molars of those who attempt to penetrate their mysteries. The poor of the parish as distinguished from necessitous strangers are supplied with ordinary quarters loaves and cheese. London Telegraph.

Nothing has done so much to encourage stealing (shoplifting) as the modern department stores and their methods. The problem presented is a difficult one with which to deal, but while merchants have a right to display their goods the public also has rights and duties in the matter. If a banker dumps his cash on tables outside his desk railings and lets people handle it at will, he would not get much sympathy when he complained that it had been stolen, and if he continued the practice because these losses were more than offset by the increased profits of the display resulted in, as in the case with the department stores, there would be much justice in the claim that he had no right to make profits by any method which tended to delude the public. In short, it may fairly be maintained that it is a prime duty of every citizen to exercise reasonable diligence in safeguarding his own property, and that if he neglects this he becomes in a measure a menace to society. International Magazine.

The Dome of St. Paul's. We do not believe there is any truth in the alarming rumor that there is some unbusiness in expert quarters in regard to the stability of the dome of St. Paul's. We imagine that the only substratum of fact is this: It is known that a huge iron chain is imbedded in the stonework of the drum of the dome. An eminent architect some time since amused himself by describing the consequences which might ensue if the water were to reach this chain. There is no reason to suppose that such a thing has occurred or is likely to occur, and the newly appointed surveyors, Messrs. Somers Clarke and J. T. Middlethwait, are fully alive to the desirability of finding and examining the chain. The first difficulty appears to be that its exact locality is somewhat uncertain. The second will be to get at it effectively when it is discovered. London Saturday Review.

Family Economy. Uncle to the children, who have just had a dose of cod liver oil all around—Well, do you like cod liver oil? Children—Oh, no, but mamma gives us 5 cents for every spoonful. Uncle—And then do you buy something nice? Children—No, mamma puts it into the savings bank. Uncle—And then you buy something by and by? Children—No, mamma buys more cod liver oil with it—Flegendo Blatter.

Facts In the Case. "My son has accepted a position in Judge Hobbs' office." "Yes, I met him when he was running his legs off getting endorsements on his application for the job."—Cleveland Leader.

Not True to Nature. A visitor to the British Museum reports that he saw a countryman standing before the bust of a woman in a collection of statuary. The woman was represented in the act of collaring her hair, and, as the visitor came up, the countryman was saying to himself: "No, sir, that ain't true to nature. She ain't got her mouth full of hairpins."

During the hot weather last summer I had a severe attack of cholera morbus, necessitating my leaving my business," says Mr. C. A. Hare, of Hare Bros., Pincastle, Ohio. "After taking two or three doses Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I was completely relieved and in a few hours was able to resume my work in the store. I sincerely recommend it to any one afflicted with stomach or bowel trouble." For Sale by F. S. Duffy.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For Sale by F. S. Duffy.
