Reports of Fierce Fighting and the City Taken.

MILES IN COMMAND.

Uncertainty of the Exact State of Affairs.

Thought That the Spanish May Have Left the City. General Duffield Wounded. Siboney Ordered Burned. Army Largely Reinforced.

Special to Journal.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary Alger has advised General Shafter to demoralize the Spanish army in Santiago by a fierce bombardment, hoping that they will surrender and avoid further loss of life.

General Miles is at the front with the army before Santiago and President McKinley believes that he will soon change the situation. He has assumed command.

General Duffield of Virginia has been seriously wounded by the Spanish fire.

Reports of a battle are received from several sources. The New York World tonight says that a terrific battle is now in progress at Santiago. All the way from Rome comes a report that Santiago has capitulated. The "Tribune" of Rome publishing a dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica, to that effect.

A cipher despatch was received at the War Department late this afternoon, but the contents are not public.

The Cabinet is perplexed over the meaning of a flag of truce which General Shafter sent into Santiago yesterday afternoon. Shafter sent Major Noble into the city under the protection of the flag.

In regard to the report that the greater portion of General Linares' army had probably escaped from the city to the westward, a cabinet member said that the authorities did not believe that it was likely. The American army has been drawing around to the northward making such a movement of the Spanish army difficult.

The Cubans have occupied Das Caminos which had been evacuated by the Spaniards. General Narro with six thousand Spanish troops is hastening from Holguin on the north side of the island to reinforce Linares at Santiago. General Shafter with the new troops which are arriving can hold him off. Five thousand reinforcements have arrived within a few days, giving great encouragement to the whole army.

The town of Siboney was burned under orders from the American authorities. The reason is given as sanitary.

The fire of the American warships yesterday was more destructive to Santiago, the shells wrecking many houses.

Secretary Day says that no peace overtures have yet been made on the part of Spain.

The Secretary of War has authorized the removal of submarine mines from all the harbors, all fear of an attack from Spanish ships being removed.

The steamship Pollock has arrived from Porto Rico says that the Spanish at San Juan expect the arrival of the American fleet and troops soon.

Sunday's Fight. SUNDAY NIGHT, WITH THE ARMY NEAR SANTIAGO, (cabled from Port Antonio Monday)—Major-General Shafter believes that the main body of the Spanish army has abandoned Santiago, and that it is now fleeing to the westward.

A joint attack by the army and navy was made upon the city late this afternoon and much destruction must have been wrought by the American guns on land and sea. To this attack the Spaniards made only a feeble reply. Our loss was insignificant.

It was not really an earnest attempt to reduce Santiago. The plan was merely to give the Spaniards an idea of what they might expect when the American land and sea forces make their final attack. During today's firing, however, the dynamite gun did great damage in the city.

One of the Spanish batteries was quickly silenced by a shell from Bergant Borrows' dynamite gun. This shell sped with deadly accuracy to the point where one of the enemy's batteries was located.

The range had been obtained from a study of the enemy's firing, which appeared to be heavy at that particular point. Our men only can conjecture as to the damage this shell did, but the battery fired no more afterward.

After the land firing had been under way for an hour the reply of the enemy was so feeble that the order was given to cease. It was dusk by this time. Supper was served, and soon afterward hundreds of campfires flashed along the ridge. The men chatted about the fight and made themselves as comfortable as possible. The loss in the afternoon's fighting has been insignificant, and all of the American troops were in good spirits.

General Shafter was at the front during the firing. As the fighting progressed the American commander, with Generals Wheeler, Kent and Sumner, was puzzled by the feeble reply of the Spaniards. They had expected that the enemy would return a hot fire, and failure to do so seemed to confirm the growing belief of the American officers, that General Toral had withdrawn, with the greater part of his garrison.

England Will Protect. VICTORIA, B. C., July 11.—In response to the request of United States Consul Dudley, of Vancouver, Admiral Palliser, commanding the British Pacific squadron, stationed at Esquimalt, has dispatched the British warship Amphion, a second class cruiser, and the sloop of war Icarus, mounting nine guns, to cruise the waters of the north to search for the alleged Spanish privateer.

According to reports that have reached the ears of the consul the privateer is hidden in the vicinity of Dixon's Sound through which the Alaskan treasure ships pass on their way south.

Although probably only American ships would be stopped, the injury would not be confined to them, as many of the miners on board with gold would be British subjects.

THE STATE CAPITAL. Too Many Penitentiary Escapes. Re-organization of State Guard. Railroad Commission Meets. Weekly Crop Bulletin.

JOURNAL BUREAU. RALEIGH, N. C., July 12.

Governor Russell is surely mad about the escapes from the penitentiary. Nothing has been heard from the escaped convicts, but the officials out there are likely to hear something from the Governor.

News from Washington says the Secretary of War gives to Governor Russell the privilege of filling all vacancies that may occur in regimental or company offices, either by death or resignation. Surely this ought to put the Governor in a good humor. There is only one vacancy to be filled so far and that is a lieutenant in Captain Edward Jones' Company of the Second Regiment here in camp. Unless the Governor happens to be in a reasonable humor none need look for promotions—so it may be that deserving officers will have to have out-siders put over them. Governor Russell's record is such that there is no telling what he will do.

Adjutant General Cowles is busy now re-organizing the State Guard. He has appointed Col. A. L. Smith of Charlotte, provisional colonel of the 4th North Carolina regiment, and order him to form provisional companies in Statesville, Waynesville and Shelby. Felix F. Axley of Statesville has been commissioned quartermaster for the regiment with the rank of Major. The government owes the State $9,188 to be paid in kind, so full equipments for this regiment will be made at once.

The ball given by the non-commissioned officers of the Second Regiment was a splendid one. They served nice refreshments, but had no drinking whatever. This was totally different from the ball given by the commissioned officers, for there the drinking was disgusting.

The expense account for organizing the companies of the 2nd Regiment was $1,645. It has been approved and sent to Washington.

The Railroad commission met this morning and there were many important matters ready to be brought before it. It will probably take the rest of the week to finish up the work.

The murder case against Browning has been set for Thursday the 14th.

The recruiting office for the First Regiment here has sent 67 men to Jacksonville. Two of them when they reached there said they had not enlisted, but as they had been examined and passed and signed the enlistment papers before leaving. All this was telegraphed to Col. Armfield today.

One of the Guards at the penitentiary who allowed the escape of the two prisoners in broad day light has been discharged as it was pretty well ascertained he was in the confidence of the prisoners.

The cool spell that is being felt here now is something very unusual. The one in June was a wet cold spell.

The Weekly Crop Bulletin for the week ending Monday, July 11th, 1898, says, during the week ending Monday July 11, 1898, the weather conditions have been very favorable for agricultural interests throughout the State, and the outlook at present seems more promising than at any previous time this season.

The drought was thoroughly broken everywhere by showers which occurred nearly every day and averaged about 2.73 inches for the State, or nearly an inch above the normal. The rains were heavy but washed lands badly only in two or three southern and northern counties; generally it fell in gentle showers upon clean, well cultivated fields in condition to receive the greatest benefit and crops have been wonderfully revived. The temperature was much lower than last week, but not below the normal except slightly so on the 7th, 10th and 11th. Although the sky has been generally cloudy there were occasional periods of sunshine. The reports of nearly all correspondents this week are favorable and crops seem to be in a flourishing condition. Farm work was impeded to some extent and some fields have become grassy.

Corn is now fresh, green and thirsty. Though still reported as tasseling low, the stalk is good and it is caring well. The rains this week have practically made early corn and wonderfully benefited the young crop. Laying by is now proceeding in extreme western and northern counties and will soon be completed everywhere, though delayed somewhat by wet weather. Cotton has made excellent growth and is looking well. Blooms have appeared as far north as Pasquotank and Hertford in the east and Davidson county in the west. The crop is best on sandy loam where it was well worked, but still small as is compared with last year on clayey soil. It seems to be fruiting well in the south, where some fields have already been plowed the last time. The crop is green and growing rapidly; rice has almost disappeared. Tobacco has improved materially and is looking fine; topping has become general. Cutting has commenced in six eastern counties and a few barns of fine tobacco have been cured. It is late and irregular in a few central and western counties. Threshing continues actively and reports of excellent yields of small grains are more numerous each week. The cutting of the last oat crop will be completed shortly. Rice is one of the best crops in northeast coast counties. Peanuts and sweet potatoes are doing well now. Melons have improved, but none are ripe; the water-melon crop will probably be inferior. Gardens have recovered to some extent and promise a fair yield of fall vegetables. The fruit crop is generally poor.
