THE WILMINGTON DISTURBANCE

The people of Wilmington after passing a quiet election day and winning a notable victory at the polls, the old bad blood had to find vent, yesterday, and the battle of ballots has changed to a battle of

It is too early to pass judgment mestion that the final settlement government in the metropolis of North Carolina, which has been too long cursed with Russellism, which has developed a spirit among the negroes of Wilmington hostile to civilization, and inimical to law and order.

The disturbance of Thursday, in Wilmington, is really the culmination of a year's petty crimes, committed in that city by the negroes.

These crimes may not really be placed in the column of misdemeanors, but they have not proven more serious in character because they did not reach their full extent.

Robbery and incendiarism have prevailed without serious check in Wilmington. The negro has had his way. He has talked, paraded and given public voice through his newspaper. He has established himself upon what he regarded as a safe foundation, upon the false premise that there was a common equality of the white man and the black man.

This assumption has been fostered and encouraged by Russell and his henchmen.

It has been so constantly and persistently upheld as a truism, this common equality, that the Wilming ton negro has grown to believe it. Thursday's action by the white citizens has dispelled this idea.

It would seem as if the public notification to Russell and his followers, in regard to the election. ought to have demonstrated to these negro leaders that white supremsoy as to be established all along the line, that Russellism in Wilmington and New Hanover must end,

But the negro seems to have had too deeply rooted in him the idea of his importance, that the white man was only threatening, in jest.

What has followed shows how very different was the jest. Blood has been shed. More may follow, and it will continue until it is fixed upon the negro of Wilmington that he is not the equal of the white man, nor shall be sit in judgment or rule the white man.

The Wilmington disturbance teaches a lesson which the white leaders of the negro should take note of, and profit by so doing.

It shows the danger of keeping in unity the negro vote to further the personal ends of a few white leaders, regardless of civic and social condi-

And seeing the danger of thus forming a single race to vote solidly and blindly at the diotation of a few men, the lesson to be taught, and to be deeply impressed upon all white leaders of the ignorant negro vote, is that their leadership feat an and, that the solid negro vote shall not be thrown against Anglo-Saxon rnis, nor the cause of good gov-ernmet, which can only be main-tained and upbeld by the white

The Wilmington disturbance is a ous matter, considered from a at of law and order, but with the octions conditions existing and constant menace which threat-d the white people and the com-roial interests of a great city, the torbance and the final actilement cool evils is welcome, and vastly a preferred to a continuation of previous uncertainty which has in uncertainty the commerce

CHESS CLOCKS.

There Are Specially Construct Ones Used In the Game.

Hourglasses or sand glasses were for-merly used for the purpose of measuring time at chess matches, but now special-ly constructed clocks are in general use for this purpose. These clocks consist of two clocks, mounted on a common base, which moves on a pivot, the two clocks therefore being on the arms of a sort of seesaw. The beam or base is so con-structed that when one clock is elevated it stands perfectly perpendicular, while the depressed clock lies over at an an-gle, but as the mechanism of each clock is so constructed that it only moves when the clock is perfectly perpendicu-lar it follows that when the upright clock is going the depressed clock is at rest the two clocks fixed on the same level, but with a small brass arm reaching other. This arm acts on a pivot and can be brought down into actual contact with one clock at a time by a touch of with one clock at a time by a touch of the finger. When it is thus in contact, by an ingenious device the clock is stop-ped and the desired result is attained. The working of the clock during a match is simplicity itself. At the com-mencement of the match the hands of each clock point to 12. Then at the call of "time to commence play," the clock of the first player is started; then, as soon as he makes his first move, he stops his own clock, either by depressing it or by touching the arm referred to, the same motion starting his opponent's clock. So it goes on during the entire course of the game, each move being marked by the stopping of one clock and the starting of the other.—Leisure

The Pony Express.

W. F. Bailey contributes to The Century an article on "The Pony Express," between St. Joseph, Mo., and San Francisco. Mr. Bailey says:

At first the schedule was fixed at 10

At first the schedule was fixed at 10 days, an average of 8 miles an hour from start to finish. This was cut down to 8 days, requiring an average speed of 10 miles. The quickest trip made was in carrying President Lincoln's inaugural address, which was done in 7 days and 17 hours, an average speed of 10.7 miles per hour, the fastest time of any one rider being 130 miles, from Smith's Greek to Fort Charchill, by Pony Rob. one rider being 120 miles, from Smith's Creek to Fort Churchill, by Pony Bob, in 8 hours and 10 minutes, or 14.7 miles per hour. Considering the distance and difficulties encountered, such as heatile Indians, road agents, floods and snowstorms, and accidents to horses and riders, the schedule was maintained to an astonishing degree. The service created the greatest enthusiasm not only among the employees, but also in the ranks of stage employees, but also in the ranks of stage employees, freighters and residents along the route. To aid a "pony" in difficulty was a privilege, and woe be to the man who would so much as throw a stone in the way.

The Neapolitan and His Horse The Italians are not remarkable for kindness to animals, but rather the re-verse. They have, however, a story of a Neapolitan driver notorious for his ill treatment of his horse. After death the man presented himself at the gate of paradise, but was refused admittance. He was recommended, however, to apply at the neighboring paradise of animals, if heply he might find favor there. The driver did so, and, lo, the dear was opened to him by the very door was opened to him by the very same poor, staived, wornout old hack on which he had been wont to shower his blows and curses, now transformed into a celestial steed of wondrons beauty. But, alsa, the horse had not yet learned forgiveness, and here, too, the driver met with rejection.—Westminster Review.

Deadly Cancer Cured at Last!

Do Not Give Up in Despair—There is Hope!

We were greatly alarmed and gave her every remedy recommended, but they did not seem to reach the disease, and it continued to spread and grow. Upon the advice of a friend she began to take S. S. Sparta, Ga."

It is now easy to see why the doctors have failed to cure Cancer. Their theories have been all wrong, and hence their treatment misdirected. They have made the mistake of thinking that by cutting out the sore or ulcer, known as Cancer, the disease would be as Cancer, the disease would be gotten rid of, and the patient restored to health. But the cruel knife accomplishes nothing, for the Cancer promptly returns, and is always more virulent than before.

It has been demonstrated, beyond doubt, that Cancer is a blood disease, and can not be cured by the surgeon's knife because the blood can not be cut away.
