Suddenly the whole take to flight and flep their furry, winglike sides and wheel around like heavy hirds. Many fly with their young holding on to them. The creature is not a true fax, and there is a fold of skin which reaches from the fore to the hind legs. This is called the wing, and it enables the pteropus, as the animal is called, to float and turn in the air.—Philadelphia Press.

Three Minerals. The Chicago Chronicle mys that a acher in one of the local schools was structing a class of small children in mineralogy the other day, endeavoring to make clear to their young minds what a mineral really is. Standing bewhat a mineral really is. Standing before them, she began in her clear voice:
"A mineral is an inotganic, homogeneons substance of definite, or approximately definite, chemical composition, found in nature. Do you understand me? Come, now, you all have seen minerals, and your mothers and fathers have told you the names of them. ave told you the names of them, aven't they? Of course they have. Now, can any one tell me the names of

There was no response, and she con-tinued, "Have not some of you been out and seen minerals on exhibition?" One little girl raised her hand. thought so. Mary will name three min-erals." Mary aross and, putting her hands behind her, lisped: "Apollinaria, vichy and selera."
