THE "SUSPENSE ACCOUNT."

The investigation into the State Penitentlary's accounts, is revealing a fine meas for the tax payers to make good,

The Lord Overseer, D. L. Russell while he may not be implicated in the very questionable measures and conduct of the Penitentiary affairs, ret it must not be forgotten that the appointments at the Penitentiary were his, and these latter day appointments cannot be regarded to the same light, as were those appointments which were made in the early days of his administration. whon His Official Bigners assumed to be the State and everything else

The showing made of the Penitentiary's affairs, no regular account books being kept and all the accounts being without system, a "suspense account" being carried along as an "asset," all this can surprise no intelligent observer of the present State administration.

A shortage of over one hundred thousand dollars, is a pretty fair start to reward Democrats for the beginning of their investigations

It will be a fortunate thing if the guilt can be attached to the proper person or persons, and the penalty

By the time State affairs get all straightened out, it may be that other Institutions and Departments shall be like the Penitentary, with their "suspense accounts," counted as "assets" on the books, and to the people only so much loss, the result of Russellism and Negroism.

"However bad the mess, let it all be exposed and the worst known, and then let the guilty be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

but it may have been money well invested, if it shall lead to the sure and speedy extermination of the political system of "freedom" which makes possible such abuses upon a white people.

Deafness is the result, and inless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an in-

That juries are affected by handsome and languishing ayes is proved by a remarkable experience of the greatest advecate at the New York bur, the fate James T. Brady. He was connect for a young woman in a case involving an attempt to break a will.

His client sat by his side. She was a very beautiful young woman whom eyer seamed always to rivet the affection of those upon whom her glance fell. THE SCHOOL PLAYGROUND. Its Abolition is a Grievous Wrong to

This is an evil which has crept in with the tendency to centralize the schools. When in any place the schools begin to overflow, a movement to put up n arger building takes place, accom-panied by an effort to create a high school department, not so much the need of the community as the ambitious dream of some principal who would be superintendent or some sort of central sun to a group of satellites.

This dream is too easily realized, because it flatters the people. Then there rises a preposterous structure, of stone and brick. A house of many gables, out of keeping with everything, either pub lie or private, in the place; a temple of vanity. Now is rung the knell of the school playground, for the new "high although it will house all the children from 5 to 15, must needs be surrounded by a fine lawn, studded with shrubbery and threaded by bluestone roads. Music and Eating.

I dined the other day at a restaurant where the dinner is served to the accompaniment of an orchestra. We had 'King Cotton' with the oysters and rag time with the soup. Then the or-chestra slid into that always beautiful intermezzo of "Cavalleria Rusticana." They played it much more slowly than I remember ever to have heard it before. The head waiter fidgeted and gnawed his lip. There was misery in his eye. At last he disappeared in the direction of the musicians, and a moment later the intermezzo began to gallop along, presto, prestissimo, and at THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga. the end of it the orchestra struck two step. The head waiter came back

"We can't have slow music bere madam," he said to me when I asked him about it. "We'd never get through, and I wants to get off early. People ears too slow when they plays slow music." And when I looked around I saw that knives, forks and spoons were moving to the tempo of the twostep. Everybody was hurrying. The head waiter knew what he was about.—Washington Post.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of la grippe. "Several years ago I was afflicted with what the doctors called Sciatic Rheumatism or Lumbago, suffering the most intense agony at times, and being confined to my bed about a year, although four of the best physicians (one of whom was my father) attended me during my filness.
